Failure To Ban N-Shots Will Trigger New Tests

PRESIDENT IS NOT AT ALL HOPEFUL

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy said somberly Wednesday that failure to ban nuclear shots —and he is not at all hopeful of an agreement to ban them — would lead to more tests and "a great disaster for the interests of all concerned."

Kennedy was more optimistic about solving another grave problem — what he called "an ugly situation" that has brought clashes between police and Negroes in Birmingham, Ala., over segregation.

And there were signs at a news conference that the President was succeeding in soothing unrest in the Pentagon over his decision to drop Adm. George W. Anderson as chief of naval operations. He was gratified, he said, that Anderson has agreed to accept another unspecified "position of high responsibility" in federal service.

The session with newsmen was pretty serious business most of the way. But it had its light moments and a laugh here and there.

For example: A reporter who wanted to avoid getting phone calls from his editor wanted to know why Kennedy had a small bandage on a finger. Kennedy grinned and told him:

"I cut my finger when I was cutting bread, unbelievable as it may sound."

Serious

In the realm of international affairs, Kennedy made one serious point after another.

1. No, I am not hopeful," he said, for working out an agreement with Moscow to ban nuclear weapons tests. As to whether a lack of agreement would lead to another round of testing by both sides, Kennedy said he thinks that would happen, and

"I would think that would be a great disaster for the interests of all concerned if we don't get it now. I would think generally perhaps the genie is out of the bottle and we will not never (sic) get him back in."

2. Kennedy declined to say whether the Organization of American States (OAS) should apply diplomatic or economic sanctions against the Francois Duvalier regime in powder keg Haiti. He suggested waiting to see what an OAS peacekeeping mission accomplishes in the next few days.

U.S. Supports

3. Switching from the Caribbean to the Mediterranean area, the President said the United States supports the security of both Israel and her neighbors." In the event of direct or indirect aggression he said the policy of the United States has been and will be to back appropriate measures in the United Nations and to "adopt other courses of action on our own to prevent or to put a stop to such aggression."

Kennedy was shuffling a sheaf of papers when he walked into the State Department auditorium to preside at his 55th news conference. The papers rattled in the microphones before him.

He had a statement on the situation in Birmingham. Some 30 minutes before, Negro leaders there had announced a 24 hour suspension of further massive demonstrations and had spoken of honest efforts to negotiate in good faith.

Recurring

On a subject which kept recurring throughout the news conference, Kennedy said he was gratified at progress of white and Negro efforts "to end an ugly situation."

Since there have been no violations of federal law in Birmingham, Kennedy said, "our efforts have been focused on getting both sides together to settle in a peaceful fashion the very real abuses too long inflicted on the Negro citizens."

Conditions in the Middle East came up early in the news conference. Kennedy said he does not believe recent developments have changed the balance of military power there.

5 Point Plan

He laid down a 5 point U.S. policy for the often turbulent region, covering:

1. Support for social and economic progress.

2. Security for Israel and her neighbors.

3. Opposition to an arms race in the area.

4. Strong opposition to "use of force or the threat of force."

5. Opposition to the spread of communism which would "destroy the freedom of the people."

Among the subjects coming up in the foreign field:

Canada — Kennedy was asked what are the objectives of the meeting he is to have at Hyannis Port, Mass., with Prime Minister Lester Pearson of Canada this weekend. The President said the two countries have many problems in common and that he and Pearson plan to cover the waterfront and deal with them all.

Laos — asked why we have committed ourselves militarily in Viet Nam but not Laos, Kennedy said it was because the two situations are different. He said we have had a commitment for years on the integrity of Viet Nam. He said he hoped Laos could be kept neutral and that may be it could not. He said the effort was to adopt the best strategy in each particular case and we will have to wait to see what happens in Southeast Asia.

Otherwise in the news conference:

Farm — Kennedy said he does not think there could be a majority in Congress for new wheat legislation if the farm vote goes against the referendum.

"I don't think you will get new legislation this year," he said because there is no general agreement.

Military morale — asked about military morale, Kennedy said pay is a factor and also housing — which he termed shocking in some cases.

Taxes — Kennedy said the cut he recommends would have a decided effect on the economy including a substantial cut in the nation's unemployment.

CPPD Faces Assault On Retail Operations

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Already reeling from the destruction of its wholesale reorganization wishes, Consumers Public Power District Thursday faces a frontal assault upon its future retail operations.

At issue in the Legislature will be LB410, a bill which would eliminate voter approval as a requirement prior to municipal acquisition of a city's electric distribution system.

A bombshell amendment will be offered to dissolve CPPD as a retail agency in 1972. The Star learned.

That is the year when bonds on Consumers' distribution systems in 255 Nebraska communities will be paid in full.

Follows On Heels

All this follows on the heels of a successful move Wednesday to reconsider and kill LB600 the "strong merger" public power reorganization proposal.

The action overturned Tuesday's 21-17 revival of the bill from its committee graveyard, and struck proponents of the consolidation proposal like a thunderbolt.

It took Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney's "aye" vote to break a 21-21 deadlock on Sen. Terry Carpenter's motion to reconsider.

Then the second effort to override that action by the Public Works Committee failed on an 18-22 count as 7 lawmakers switched positions from the day before.

Solons Declined

Earlier, the Legislature had declined to revive another power reorganization measure, LB189. (See story on Page 26)

Carpenter told The Star he will propose to amend LB410 to specifically state what property will go to municipalities when acquisition is undertaken in 1972.

Further, he said he will oppose a committee amendment which would require a vote when 15% of the voters of any community petition for an election on the question.

Voter approval provisions have been a part of the law since 1945.

Passage of LB410 in its amended form would "neutralize the necessity" of LB637, Carpenter said. That is the Lincoln-sponsored measure which would provide for municipal operation of CPPD's Lincoln distribution system prior to 1972.

Opposed Bill

LB410 was opposed at its public hearing by CPPD, the Omaha Public Power District and the Nebraska Rural Electric Association.

OPPD serves 38 municipalities in addition to Omaha, and 20 rural districts serve 58 towns at retail.

The bill is supported by the League of Nebraska Municipalities.

Carpenters motion to reconsider LB600 was made at the request of other senators, he said, in order to test the bill's strength.

Three co-introducers fought the effort.

Sen. Harold Stryker of Ravenna City, chief sponsor, declared that the bill offers a logical and orderly transition of electric facilities."

Stryker charged representatives of Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District with undue pressure and maneuvering to kill the measure.

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth said a vote to reconsider would be "condoning the problems we now have in the field of generation and transmission."

Has Responsibility

Sen. Don Thompson of McCook suggested, "Each senator has a responsibility to consider the public power problem to its fullest extent and LB600 would allow them to do so."

But Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte argued that the bill never could attract sufficient support to enact. "We would just be spinning our wheels."

The bill would have merged the properties of CPPD's eastern system, the Nebraska Public Power System and the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative, Inc.

House Passes Big Military Pay Boost

Washington (AP) — The House passed Wednesday a $1.2 billion military pay raise bill. It would grant the nation's servicemen their first salary increases in 5 years.

The bill was approved by standing vote of 293 to 10 and sent to the Senate.

A scrap over pension provisions ended with adoption of a $30.5 million amendment liberalizing retirement pay for servicemen who retired prior to June 1, 1958.

Another amendment sets up a system of combat pay for servicemen subjected to hostile fire in areas where the cold war turns hot.

Rep. Charles E. Bennett, D-Fla., sponsored that amendment, saying it would cost between $1 million and $2 million a year. It was adopted on a voice vote after approval of an amendment proposed by Rep. James C. Cleveland, R-N.H., made it retroactive to Jan. 1, 1961.

The pension switch won approval 152 to 126. Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., who handled the pay raise bill for the Armed Services Committee, proposed it despite committee opposition.

It will let servicemen who retired before the date of the last military pay raise, June 1, 1958, recompute their retirement pensions on the basis of active duty pay scales in effect now. The 1958 bill specifically ruled out recomputation.

The pension provision was the focus of controversy on the House bill.

The bill would provide a 5% general increase in the allowances paid retired servicemen, and a cost of living plan for future increases.

The Armed Services Committee opposed both the recomputation amendment and the hostile fire plan proposed by Bennett. Bennett's proposal calls for an extra $55 a month combat pay.

The bill provides $847.5 million a year in basic pay increases, averaging 12.6%.

It would mean an average $93 monthly pay boost for majors, $85 for captains, $56 for first lieutenants and $13 for second lieutenants.

In the enlisted grades, master sergeants would get $60 monthly increases, staff sergeants $37, privates first class $12 and privates $2.

The bill would take effect next Oct. 1.

Lincoln Woman Drowns At Murray In Unusual Accident

Mrs. Ruth Glover of 4225 No. 72nd drowned Wednesday afternoon near Murray while dumping rock from her truck onto a barge on the Missouri River.

Mrs. Glover was backing the truck loaded with rock up to the barge to dump the rock. A witness, Cecil Wooton of Nebraska City, said she apparently forgot to open the endgate and the weight of the rock pulled the truck into the river.

Mrs. Glover was last seen about 400 feet downstream in swift current. She was free of the truck at the time. Her body had not been recovered Wednesday night.

The accident happened at the Granville Huebner quarry about 6 miles southeast of Murray about 3 p.m. Mrs. Glover was working for Missouri River Constructors, Inc., of Dallas, Tex.

Otoe County Sheriff Ralph Hall said that Mrs. Glover had two sons in the service and had been married twice. She was the sister of Russell, Leonard, Spencer and Kenneth Glover of Nebraska City and Joseph Glover of Pine Bluff, Ark.

SHAKY 'TRUCE' ON AGAIN

. . . Negro Leaders In Birmingham Out On Bond

Birmingham, Ala. (UPI) — A shaky off again, on again "truce" in Birmingham's explosive racial battle apparently was salvaged Wednesday night when integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was freed from jail.

The truce was announced early Wednesday afternoon and was applauded by President Kennedy.

But within a few hours after the chief executive spoke, King was convicted and jailed on month-old charges of leading a segregation protest march.

His arrest caused confusion among other Negro leaders, some of whom said the turn of events negated the earlier agreement with white leaders.

But hardly had the jail doors slammed on King before it was announced that he and an aide, Rev. Ralph Abernethy, had been released on bonds of $2,500 each.

One of those who reacted angrily to the jailing of King was his brother, Rev. A. D. King.

"This (the jailing) makes it obvious," A. D. King said. "City officials are not willing to cooperate. The negotiators are off and plans are being made for the biggest mass demonstration this city has ever seen."

But another leader, Rev. Andrew Young, when asked about the confusion, said:

"The first statements were made in a time of emotion, and the later announcement that the truce was still on gives a better idea of the picture."

Still another leader, Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth, said the King episode "does not destroy our faith in the people we are dealing with."

But the squabble went on far into the night at churches in the Negro section.

The Rev. James Bevel, a Mississippi Negro clergyman whose wife is in jail in Gadsden, Ala., for integration efforts, delivered the most fiery speech of the evening.

"Too many Negroes have the notion that if they could just get a chicken dinner everything would be all right. I'm not interested in their chicken dinner or their Cadillac cars. I'm saying that Negroes are being excluded and I want that to stop.

"I don't want praise from President Kennedy or Martin Luther King Jr. I want freedom for the Negro people.

"Too many Negroes do things for a few days and then slip back to slavery. But too many now have paid too much for us to take freedom lightly," Bevel declared.

Meals, Lodging Tax Cut

. . . STROMER WITHDRAWS MEASURE

The Legislature Wednesday scuttled the meals and lodging sales tax bill, a revenue measure designed to yield $3.4 million annually.

Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, who persuaded the Revenue Committee to introduce the bill, asked Revenue Chairman Jules Burbach of Crofton to withdraw the proposal.

Burbach complied and the Legislature approved on a 33-0 vote.

The bill, LB787, would have levied a 5% tax on lodging costing more than $2, and a 3% levy on meals whose cost exceeds $1.50.

Opposition Cited

Stromer said a "storm" of opposition had developed among restaurant, hotel and motel interests.

"If they are to turn a dagger in everyone's back, so be it," Stromer declared. "I wash my hands of it."

The bill would have earmarked $200,000 for tourist promotion, $250,000 for industrial development and promotion and $500,000 for access roads to recreation areas. Remainder of the revenue would have gone into the general fund.

"There is a double standard on the part of the people who would be affected by this bill," Stromer said.

On the one hand they want money to promote tourism, but on the other hand they say 'don't come near us because we can't help finance the promotion of Nebraska'."

GOP SAYS JFK CAUSED GREAT LEAP BACKWARD

Washington (AP) — Republican after Republican rose in the Senate Wednesday to flay President Kennedy with accusations that his policies have caused "a great leap backward" in U.S. prestige around the world.

This day was chosen for the concerted attack because it is the 18th anniversary of VE day, when victory was won in Europe in World War II.

With Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois holding the floor and giving the go-ahead to his colleagues, they used such phrases as these to decry Kennedy's policies:

— "Our international standing has slipped low," indeed," Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

— "Our foreign relations all over the world are in disarray," Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan.

— "Things have gone from bad to worse," Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

When the Republicans finished, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana made an emotional reply. He said not one constructive alternative to this nation's policies of the last 18 years "was offered on the floor of the Senate today."

"The easiest thing a politician can do is to find fault without offering any constructive alternatives," Mansfield said.

He added that the Republicans' speeches added up to a charge of continual failure of U.S. policy since World War II, even though Republicans were in power in the White House during 8 years of that period.

Mansfield said "Russia has added nothing to its territory since 1945." The Soviets were stopped, he said, in Iran, Turkey, Greece, Berlin and West Germany and in Korea, and Europe was revitalized with the Marshall Plan.

Truman Proud His Baptists Rule 'From The Church Up'

Kansas City (AP)—Harry S. Truman exchanged birthday greetings Wednesday with the annual assembly of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Wednesday was Truman's 79th birthday anniversary. The Southern Baptist Convention was organized 118 years ago Wednesday.

The former president drew a big round of applause and some scattered amens when he said he was proud to be affiliated with the organization because it practices rule "from the church up and not from the top down."

An overflow crowd of more than 12,000 messengers (delegates) and visitors at the assembly gave Truman a standing welcome and sang "happy birthday" to him.

The former president made fleeting references to some differences he has had with Southern Baptists over appointment of a U.S. representative to the Vatican and his reputation as an occasional bourbon drinker.

"We like Baptists," Truman said. "Our family have been Baptists back 4 and 5 generations. I guess I was 16 years old when the Baptists first 'showed me'. And they have been trying to do a better job of it ever since."

Truman is a member of the suburban Grandview Baptist Church.

He told the assembly that when he was down in Texas in the 1960 political campaign, he found a lot of Baptists against John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee.

"And I told them what I thought of them," he added.

This brought a laugh from the crowd.

Truman was quoted at the time as saying: "Baptists who are against Kennedy ought to go to hell."

He later said he didn't put it that way. There was a suggestion at the time that Truman should be excluded from the Baptist Church because of his language.

Wednesday he told the assembly:

"Some big Baptist down there said I ought to be kicked out of the church: I invited him to come up to my church and if they didn't kick him out, I would escort him out."

WYNNE 'TRICKED' BY BRITISH

. . . Caused Him To Spy Against Soviet Union

Moscow (UPI) — British businessman Greville Wynne in a court session marked by angry outbursts from his Soviet co-defendant said Wednesday the British secret service tricked him into becoming a spy and kept him at it by threats.

Wynne and Soviet scientist Oleg Penkovsky, a former colonel, are charged with working for an Anglo-American spy ring that involved members of the U.S. and British embassies and embassy wives and children. Each faces a maximum death penalty.

At one point Wednesday Penkovsky, 42, turned on Wynne and angrily accused the Briton of lying about his role in the alleged spy ring. That came after Wynne, also 42, had testified before a Soviet military court that he had merely acted as a chauffeur for the Russian and not as an accomplice.

Wynne said he traveled to the Soviet Union only on business but was "drawn into" espionage work by British intelligence.

"Then you are asserting that your compatriots deceived you?" asked the Soviet state prosecutor.

"Precisely," Wynne replied. "And that is precisely why I am here."

The two men avoided glances most of the time but occasionally shot angry looks at one another. The government newspaper Izvestia commented Wednesday night in a half-page report on the trial that the two appeared "ready to scuttle each other."

The prosecution tried to prove Wynne knew he was delivering spy information between Penkovsky and Anglo-American intelligence units operating in the Soviet Union.

The Briton said he knew only that when he made a delivery to Penkovsky that it was a container and he "saw photographs."

"But wasn't this alone enough to make you realize what this was all about?" the prosecutor asked.

"Of course," Wynne replied. "The more I did the more I became involved. By this time I knew what I was doing, but I had no choice. I was under threat of British intelligence by now. The more it became involved, the more threatened I felt. I had no choice."

New Political Crisis Boils In Damascus, North Syria

Damascus, Syria (AP) — The week-old political crisis boiled up with pro-Nasser demonstrations in Damascus and northern Syria Wednesday but police quickly clamped a lid on them.

Shooting broke out for an hour and a half in the northern city of Aleppo and usually reliable sources said several persons were killed. Police imposed a curfew.

Demonstrators gathered in Port Said Square in Damascus but riot police scattered them without firing a shot.

Apparently because of the political crisis in Syria, Nasser cut short his official visit to Algeria by a day and altered his plans for a trip to Yugoslavia and talks with President Tito. He sailed directly for home instead of going to Yugoslavia.

Duke Wins Divorce From 'Highly Sexed' Wife

. . . JUDGE TERMS HER A 'COMPLETELY PROMISCUOUS WOMAN'

Edinburgh, Scotland (AP) — The Duke of Argyll won a divorce Wednesday from his beautiful third wife, described by the judge as a highly sexed and completely promiscuous woman.

Judge Lord Wheatley said the 49-year-old duchess' sexual appetite could be satisfied only by a number of men and he found that she misbehaved with 4.

They included an unidentified man who posed in a nude embrace with the duchess in two photographs produced in the court of sessions.

Disgusting

These, the judge said, revealed the duchess as "a highly sexed woman who had ceased to be satisfied with normal relations and had started to indulge in what I can only describe as disgusting sexual activities to gratify a basic sexual appetite."

The other men were:

Baron Sigismund von Braun, West Germany's permanent observer at the United Nations, who is the brother of American rocket expert Dr. Wernher von Braun.

Harvey Peter Combe, 37, a former press officer at London's Savoy Hotel.

John Cohane, a 51-year-old American businessman.

'The Tops'

The English-born duchess, whose maiden name was Margaret Whigham, is the former wife of Charles Sweeny, wealthy American broker and one-time top-ranking amateur golfer. As Mrs. Sweeny she won note in the lyrics of Cole Porter's song "You're The Tops."

She and the duke, chieftain of the Clan Campebll, were married March 22, 1951. Now 50, he is 10 years her senior.

Lord Wheatley held the duchess' adultery with Von Braun and the unidentified man in the photographs was condoned by the Duke when he subsequently resumed marital relations with her.

But he ruled the two other adulterious associations were not condoned and entitled the duke to his freedom.

Promiscuous

"She was a completely promiscuous woman whose sexual appetite could only be satisfied by a number of men," the judge declared. "Her attitude to the sanctity of marriage was what moderns would call enlightened, but in plain language could only be described as wholly immoral."

The legal battle between the duke and duchess, which began nearly 3½ years ago, is reckoned to be the most costly divorce action in Scottish history. Court officials estimated the bill at 50,000 pounds ($140,000).

Lord Wheatley's judgment, reserved from the 11-day court hearing which ended March 4, ran about 64,000 words. It took him nearly 5 hours to wade through it, reading at a fast clip.

The duke emerged from the court smiling.

Relieved

"I'm feeling very relieved — you know, that old H.T. (high tension) feeling," he told newsmen. "It cost a hell of a lot of money and I'm not going to get any of it back."

The duchess was in Paris and was not talking. She refused to comment when approached by a reporter at her hotel and she complained to the management about the presence of newsmen. She was accompanied by a debonair but unidentified English-speaking escort.

Under Scottish law the divorce decree becomes effective at once, subject only to the fact the duchess is entitled to lodge an appeal within 21 days.

Denied It

Only one of the 3 men named in the duke's divorce petition appeared in the court. He was Harvey Combe. He and the duchess denied they had committed adultery.

The judge noted that the duchess and Combe, 12 years her junior, were often seen together socially and made a trip to Spain together.

"Their primary purpose was to spend some days together under the cover of a nebulous business deal," the judge said, adding:

"Of a woman of her propensities, I am entitled to infer that she committed adultery with Combe during her stay in Spain."

Jimmied Open

The photographs produced as exhibits by the duke were discovered by him along with letters and other papers in a locked cupboard which he jimmied open.

The man's head was obscured in the photographs and the duchess claimed the man was the duke — an assertion he denied.

Lord Wheatley ruled that the man was not the duke.

He also found that "the evidence, facts and circumstances and qualifications to infer that the duchess had committed adultery with Cohane."

Before Marriage

The duchess denied adultery with Cohane and claimed the relationship with Von Braun took place before she married the duke in 1951.

The duke's evidence included a number of letters from Cohane to the duchess. Lord Wheatley ruled one of these letters was "conclusive of a previous adulterous association."

A passage from another Cohane letter quoted by the court said: "I miss you enormously and I never knew that such a short acquaintance could keep a hot flame burning so high for so long. Much love, Jack."

Speaking of letters introduced as evidence that the duchess slept with Von Braun, the judge said "I will spare the duchess the further embarrassment of quoting from these."

Omaha Mom Of 7:

U.S. Mother Of Year 'Nicest Girl In Town'

. . . Mrs. Engdahl 3rd Nebraskan To Receive Title

New York (AP)—Pop beamed proudly Wednesday as mom—Mrs. Olga Pearson Engdahl of Omaha, mother of 7 and grandmother of 14, — was named Mother of the Year.

"I always knew I was married to the Mother of the Year," said her husband, 73-year-old John Engdahl. "She was the nicest girl in town and still is."

"And she's the best cook in the world," he said, "especially when she is in charge of big doings, like church suppers."

Mrs. Engdahl, 67, was selected from winners of 50 state contests by the American Mothers Committee on the basis of character, achievement and community service.

Moms who won contests in the other 49 states were honored with Mrs. Engdahl at a luncheon. They heard pretty, 17-year-old Diane Sawyer of Louisville, Ky., Junior Miss America, speak on a topic close to the hearts of moms everywhere—"What My Mother Means to Me."

Reception Planned

Contest officials said the Nebraska Mothers Committee is planning a big reception for Mrs. Engdahl when she arrives home. She has served as organist, Sunday school teacher and president of the women's auxiliary of her church, Trinity Lutheran Church of Omaha of which she is also a charter member

Mrs. Engdahl, a handsome, grey-haired woman with blue eyes, appeared somewhat flustered when she was announced the winner. But she quickly composed herself and walked calmly to the dais to receive a large bouquet of red roses.

"To be chosen Mother of the Year of Nebraska was a thrill," she said, "but this is still more so. I have been blessed by God with 7 wonderful children and a loving husband. I will try to live up to the title of Mother of the Year."

She was also given an American Mothers Committee pin specially adorned with a diamond, a statue and a Bible. The committee said that unlike some beauty and talent contests the mother of the year seldom makes public appearances except in her own community.

Mrs. Engdahl is the 3rd Nebraskan to be American mother of the year. Others were Mrs. Carl R. Gray of Omaha, in 1937, and Mrs. George P. Abel of Lincoln, in 1957.

Each of Mrs Engdahl's children attended the University of Nebraska

They are J. Falton Engdahl Jr., now president of Engdahl Top and Body Co.; Stewart and Rodney, also vice presidents in the firm, Donald, an Omaha bank trust officer; Dr Wallace, an Omaha physician; Herbert, district manager for Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. at Sioux Falls, S.D., and Mrs. Donald Waite of Scottsbluff.

Mr. Engdahl is the founder and president of the Engdahl Top and Body Co., which he said is the oldest automobile body firm in Nebraska

The Engdahls live in the Florence area of North Omaha. They met while members of a Lutheran Church at Florence, where Mrs. Engdahl was reared. Her husband came to the U.S. from Sweden

Freshmen Coeds Served As Ladies-In-Waiting

Honors Due 14 Doctors With 50-Year Service

. . . At State Medical Meet Tuesday

Omaha—A total of 14 physicians who have practiced medicine for a period of 50 years will be honored by the Nebraska State Medical Association at the annual session in Omaha May 12-15

The physicians to be honored Tuesday night are: Drs. J S. McAvin, Omaha; Herbert Wiggins, Omaha; M. F. Arnholt, Lincoln; C. H. Arnold, Lincoln; W. J. Arrasmith, Grand Island, Earle G Johnson, Grand Island; J. S. Belt, York; Andrew Harvey, Fremont; R. C Hawkins, Butte; W. L. Howell, Hyannis; R. F. Jester Sr., Kearney. C. C. Lull, Grand Island, R. F. Magirl, Jackson, and D B. Steenburg, Aurora

Those 50-year practitioners attending the annual banquet will be honored guests of the association on that evening. They will receive individual recognition, and be presented 50-year pins by Dr. R. F. Sievers of Blair, who will succeed Dr. O. A. Kostal of Hastings as president of the Nebraska State Medical Association

The guest speaker for the banquet will be Dr. Walter Judd, former congressman from Minnesota

Other highlights of the meeting include Dr George M Fister of Ogden, Utah, president of the American Medical Association. Dr. Fister will be the keynote speaker at the opening session of the association Monday morning

The 38th annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Nebraska State Medical Association will be held in conjunction with the medical convention. The honored guest for the auxiliary meet will be Mrs. E. R. W. Fox, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, national chairman, committee on health careers, Woman's Auxiliary to the American Medical Association.

Meat Plant Will Locate At Beatrice

Beatrice (AP)—A consulting engineer has told the Chamber of Commerce that automation will be the key to operations of a proposed packing plant here.

The plant will incorporate the most modern slaughtering methods, said Clyde White, Omaha consultant.

Homestead Packers Inc. is in the process of incorporation and plans sale of stock here. The Beatrice Development Corp. is boosting the project.

White predicted the plant would have an annual pay roll of $400,000. All employes, except the manager and "5 key people," would be hired locally.

The plant would slaughter some 312,000 hogs and 36,000 cattle a year. White said most of the livestock would come from 10 Nebraska and 4 northern Kansas counties.

Harkendorff Chosen

Falls City (AP)—Erwin Harkendorff has been appointed to the City Council to succeed Carl Wittrock, who resigned. Wittrock is moving to Nebraska City.

Agate Fossil Beds Monument Measure Offered By Hruska

Washington (AP)—The Agate Fossil Beds National Monument would be established in Nebraska under a bill introduced Wednesday by Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb.

He said the proposal would "preserve an important link with the Old West, and at the same time present to all America one of the most amazing prehistoric fossil beds ever discovered."

The bill, co-sponsored by Sens. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., and Milward L. Simpson, R-Wyo., would establish a 3,150-acre monument area in Sioux County, about 45 miles north of Scottsbluff.

"This is a classic paleontological site well known for its wealth of miocene fossil mammal bones," Hruska said in a Senate speech supporting his proposal.

"The great paleontologist, the late Henry Fairfield Osborn, has called it the most remarkable deposit of mammalian remains of tertiary age ever found in any part of the world.

"The fossils are not only abundant and comprise a wide variety of species, but they are remarkably well preserved The area has been the scene of scientific research since 1871."

The bill would authorize an appropriation to establish the monument but does not set a specific amount. The area would be administered by the National Park Service.

Hruska said the Agate Springs fossil quarries are located on a ranch which was owned by the late Dr. Harold J. Cook. His great-great grandfather was the famous English explorer, James Cook.

The senator noted that Dr. Cook's widow has agreed to donate to the government Indian artifacts and wearing apparel, a paleontological library and western gun collection for exhibit at the monument if its establishment is assured before Jan. 1, 1967. Hruska said Mrs. Cook also has expressed a desire to donate land for a Park Service headquarters near the monument site

Clerk Ordered To Give Bahenskys Liquor License

St Paul (AP)—District Judge William Manasil at Burwell signed a writ of mandamus Wednesday ordering the St Paul city clerk to deliver a liquor license to Ray J. and Eva Bahensky not later than May 15, or to appear in court May 16 to show cause why the license was not delivered.

St. Paul has had one liquor license since 1946, when residents voted this legislation. In 1950 the city adopted an ordinance limiting licenses to one for each 2,000 residents

Bahensky presented a petition to the city containing 750 signatures and asking that he be granted a license. The City Council denied the application, but the State Liquor Control Commission approved the application.

The commission sent the license to City Clerk Stanley Edwards, who refused to turn it over to Bahensky

Old Frontier Neighborliness Brings Ak-Sar-Ben Awards

Omaha (AP) — Some old-fashioned frontier neighborliness was singled out Wednesday by the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben in their annual good neighbor awards.

The Rim of the Prairie Extension Club of Ainsworth, and club members' husbands held a "sawing bee" for a neighbor unable to gather fuel They cleared a grove on the farm of one member, sawed up the timber and delivered the wood to the family

The group was one of 6 singled out by judges as symbolic of those who have made special efforts in the interest of humanitarian service to others.

The other 5:

The Frontier County Health Council, organized in 1962 to plan, organize and conduct health programs for county residents. The first project was a testing and vaccination program for school children. Ninety-seven per cent of the school enrollment took part in the voluntary program.

The Willing Workers Extension Club of Rose which contributes clothing, food, money and work to help needy families and organizations in the community The club helped prepare a county historical pageant and prepared a second prize float. The prize money went to the county library and to a home for retarded children.

The 5-man board of directors of the David City Hospital, an institution operated without financial assistance from city, county, state or federal funds. During the last two years they have made a successful drive for $70,000 to finance a now-completed hospital wing.

The Butler County Agricultural Society which sponsored a barbecue for more than 3,000 persons, doing all the work except the serving, which is done by businessmen who donate the funds They also sponsored a 4-H and FFA calf sale The top quality cattle were purchased at the American Royal When sold, the profit was rebated to the youngsters who bought the animals.

The Fairbury Future Farmers of America who, among other projects, helped build pens and stalls in the new Jefferson County Fair building.

Early Attack By Cankerworms On Trees Reported

Cankerworms are attacking trees and hedges in large numbers at the present time and probably will continue to do so for another week or so, says Robert E. Roselle, University of Nebraska Extension entomologist.

"In most cases, the small, dark cankerworms are more of a nuisance than a harm, but under certain conditions they are capable of completely defoliating trees," Roselle reports. "They are showing up earlier this year because of the warm weather and generally early spring.

"We have received reports of cankerworms attacking elm, and hackberry trees as well as Chinese elm hedges. They have also been reported on apple, locust and many other trees . . ."

Omaha Mom Of 7:

U.S. Mother Of Year 'Nicest Girl In Town'

. . . Mrs. Engdahl 3rd Nebraskan To Receive Title

New York (AP)—Pop beamed proudly Wednesday as mom—Mrs. Olga Pearson Engdahl of Omaha, mother of 7 and grandmother of 14, — was named Mother of the Year.

"I always knew I was married to the Mother of the Year," said her husband, 73-year-old John Engdahl. "She was the nicest girl in town and still is."

"And she's the best cook in the world," he said, "especially when she is in charge of big doings, like church suppers."

Mrs. Engdahl, 67, was selected from winners of 50 state contests by the American Mothers Committee on the basis of character, achievement and community service.

Moms who won contests in the other 49 states were honored with Mrs. Engdahl at a luncheon. They heard pretty, 17-year-old Diane Sawyer of Louisville, Ky., Junior Miss America. speak on a topic close to the hearts of moms everywhere—"What My Mother Means to Me."

Reception Planned

Contest officials said the Nebraska Mothers Committee is planning a big reception for Mrs. Engdahl when she arrives home. She has served as organist, Sunday school teacher and president of the women's auxiliary of her church, Trinity Lutheran Church of Omaha of which she is also a charter member.

Mrs. Engdahl, a handsome, grey-haired woman with blue eyes, appeared somewhat flustered when she was announced the winner. But she quickly composed herself and walked calmly to the dais to receive a large bouquet of red roses.

"To be chosen Mother of the Year of Nebraska was a thrill," she said, "but this is still more so. I have been blessed by God with 7 wonderful children and a loving husband. I will try to live up to the title of Mother of the Year."

She was also given an American Mothers Committee pin specially adorned with a diamond, a statue and a Bible. The committee said that unlike some beauty and talent contests the mother of the year seldom makes public appearances except in her own community.

Mrs. Engdahl is the 3rd Nebraskan to be American mother of the year. Others were Mrs. Carl R. Gray of Omaha, in 1937, and Mrs. George P. Abel of Lincoln, in 1957.

Each of Mrs. Engdahl's children attended the University of Nebraska.

They are J. Falton Engdahl Jr., now president of Engdahl Top and Body Co.; Stewart and Rodney, also vice presidents in the firm; Donald, an Omaha bank trust officer; Dr. Wallace, an Omaha physician; Herbert, district manager for Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. at Sioux Falls, S.D., and Mrs. Donald Waite of Scottsbluff.

Mr. Engdahl is the founder and president of the Engdahl Top and Body Co., which he said is the oldest automobile body firm in Nebraska.

Meat Plant Will Locate At Beatrice

Beatrice (AP)—A consulting engineer has told the Chamber of Commerce that automation will be the key to operations of a proposed packing plant here.

The plant will incorporate the most modern slaughtering methods, said Clyde White, Omaha consultant.

Homestead Packers Inc. is in the process of incorporation and plans sale of stock here. The Beatrice Development Corp. is boosting the project.

White predicted the plant would have an annual pay roll of $400,000. All employes, except the manager and "5 key people," would be hired locally.

The plant would slaughter some 312,000 hogs and 36,000 cattle a year. White said most of the livestock would come from 10 Nebraska and 4 northern Kansas counties.

Harkendorff Chosen

Falls City (AP)—Erwin Harkendorff has been appointed to the City Council to succeed Carl Wittrock, who resigned. Wittrock is moving to Nebraska City.

Men's Hats Magee's First Floor

Tuesday's Turn Of Events

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Forty-eight hours ago it was all Fred Herrington as the next mayor of Lincoln but that was speculation. Twenty-four hours later the hard facts were there on the record and it was Dean H. Petersen in the winner's circle. The election was remarkably similar to one of four years ago when a fellow named Bartlett E. Boyles, known as "Pat" and now a District Court judge, upset the popular theory and walked off with a majority of votes.

Petersen campaigned as the candidate of the people and cast his opponent in the role of a hand-picked, special interest nominee. The characterization has a note of truth to it but its real meaning is probably little understood. Actually, there is never a candidate for office who does not have a certain backing and seldom is a candidate deserving of defeat on the basis of who is or isn't in his corner. Petersen, however, was effective in winning over those voters who feel no affinity with any particular group in Lincoln, political, social or economic. And as Lincoln grows into a metropolitan city, the ability to attract these voters will become more and more important in future elections.

Independents Attracted

At the same time, Herrington's campaign was not marked by any kind of personal touch. Herrington is a very friendly, cooperative and understanding person but it did not get through to a lot of voters. Many of the voters undoubtedly thought they would have no voice at all in government if he were elected.

There is no question that Petersen left a lot of voters with the comforting feeling that they could walk up to him or into his office at any time and get whatever was bothering them off their chest. Actually, relatively few people ever really do this but they like to feel assured that they can if they want to and Petersen so assured them.

On a more factual basis, Herrington had been favored in some quarters because of greater experience in government. Petersen, on the other hand, had the best of things in business experience and had served in two public offices in the past. He is a native of Nebraska and devotes much more than the average or usual amount of time to Boy Scout work. His philosophy of government and his understanding of the new form of city government seem to be moderate. He is considered aggressive by some but this probably worked against rather than for him in the mayor's race. There were those who believed that Herrington was the more aggressive and would take a more direct role in municipal affairs.

This concept was helped along by Petersen who publicly viewed the new mayor's job as strictly an administrative one and who failed to take any stand on definite or specific issues such as street improvements, consolidation, power, etc. His idea has been that it is the job of the City Council to make decisions on these matters and the job of the mayor to see that these decisions are effectively carried out. A great many people would subscribe to this way of doing things. Basically, it is that kind of approach to state government that we have had in the office of governor a majority of the time. But there is a question as to whether it is enough, as to whether it might not leave a vacuum of leadership in which no progress is made.

With that kind of approach, the responsibility for providing initiative falls into the hands of the City Council. At that point, it becomes the job of seven people and all sorts of things begin to happen. It is sometimes very difficult for seven people to provide unified leadership.

If the mayor does not propose to the council programs of improvement and areas of action and take his case to the people for support, then the city may become static. In almost any area of city government you care to look at, Lincoln cannot afford to remain static. There can be no such thing as the status quo if Lincoln is to continue to be the kind of city all of us want it to be.

Fortunately, the general election ballot provided such a choice on mayor as to assure everyone that Lincoln would not get a bad mayor. Petersen has a great many things to recommend him and he has demonstrated a political acumen that does not stem from a dull mind. No candidate can ever offer anything more than a hope to people and there is every reason to be hopeful that Petersen will provide a good start to the new form of city government. The new mayor will not long be in office before he clearly sees a demand for action and upon his answers will rest his future and the course of Lincoln for the next few years.

Off To Hopeful Start

The rest of the election went pretty close to the form chart, leaving little by way of post-mortems to be concerned with. If there was a real disappointment anywhere along the line, it was in the mere 21,871 voters who turned out, more than in the primary but still a pitifully small part of the total number of eligible voters in the city.

Great Debate

University's Budget

On the theory that he doesn't believe in wasting money, Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City has affirmed that the budget request of the University of Nebraska is "way too high." The university is asking for a biennial increase of $10 million in funds but few expect that it will receive this much. But to say that the proposed increase represents a waste of funds is simply an irresponsible statement.

It would be most enlightening if Senator Bridenbaugh would point out the waste he thinks he sees in the university's budget. There may well be things in the budget with which he does not agree. Perhaps he disagrees with the salary proposals, with the work load of the faculty, with physical plant requests or with any number of other things but his disagreement doesn't automatically spell waste.

It is a public disservice to give people the idea that in considering every dollar spent, the choice is between waste and efficiency. That is not the choice the people face in supporting the budgets of various state agencies. The choice they face is between spending or not spending for a specific program, facility or service.

Ask any citizen if he would rather waste a million or save a million dollars and there isn't any doubt as to the answer you will get. But ask the same person if he wants to spend a million dollars for a highway, a school building, faculty salaries, parks, state patrolmen or some other specific project and thoughtful consideration must be given to the answer.

The idea that every cut in the budget is a savings represents a grandstand play at the voters' emotions. It isn't much of a savings if the cut eliminates plans that would have strengthened the economy of the state. If the cut further narrows the opportunity of the state and its people, it is quite a costly one.

Man To Be Watched

There is something about the general behaviour of President Sukarno of Indonesia that warns the western nations to watch out.

Sukarno rose to power when Holland pulled out of Southeast Asia after World War II. The Dutch had built a progressing economy over the long period they presided over their colonial empire, but faced with the heavy war damage to their homeland and the prospect of long and costly hostilities with their liberty hungry possessions they took a heavy dollar loss and pulled out. In that they were more realistic than the French who expended in the neighborhood of $5 billion, mostly U.S. aid, and nearly 100,000 lives trying unsuccessfully to recover old French Indo-China.

But Sukarno has not run a good shop in Indonesia. While he has lived largely on the windfall gains of the Dutch pullout he has not been slow in putting more bites on the West. A year ago he went after Holland's remaining occupancy, demanding West New Guinea. Despite the fact that Holland was operating at a loss but making a constructive effort to help the natives get on their own feet, the Dutch acquiesced in a U.N. arrangement for an Indonesian takeover this year. Meantime, Sukarno started forays into Borneo to the discomfiture of both the British and the Philippines. More recently Sukarno played footsie with Red Chinese emissaries.

So where, one may ask, does he stand? Playing both ends against the middle, or fronting for the Reds? The circumstances advise great care in future dealings with him, a better show of unidirectional purpose and a much better showing at the job of reconstructing Indonesia in the direction of a solid, progressing, free society. In dealing with him it should be kept in mind that one Castro is enough.

Significant News

The news this week carried a modest little item from Los Angeles.

It said that the group of scientists had succeeded in transmitting a vocal message 118 miles by means of a high intensity light beam known as a laser. In short, they fired an unexpanding beam of light at a pin point target 118 miles away and used the beam as a vehicle to carry a human voice that far.

A laser is hard to define in a layman's words. It is a relatively new scientific discovery by which a synthetic ruby crystal, encased in a proper container, does, by ionic oscillation, produce an intense beam of coherent radiation which can project to considerable distances. The principle was conceived in the mind of an eminent scientist, T. H. Mainman, by use of a sort of a sixth sense which predicted such a thing would work if tried. It did.

At any rate the item was worth more space. Applied science is now refining a laboratory device into an instrument which has not much further to go before it becomes an important economic influence. It already foretells the day when telephone poles, wire and transmission systems will be museum pieces. Exhaustible resources such as metals and trees can be banked for the distant future. An infinite number of man hours now devoted to the extraction and processing of such things can be released for more sophisticated application. It foretells the end of some employment but the creation of new employment. And it amounts to another step forward toward the day when humankind can make out by its wits and cease exhausting the earth of its resources.

Pope Didn't Lose Votes For Fanfani

WASHINGTON — Some people, even including a few Catholics, have been blaming Pope John for the increase of the communist vote in Italy. They claim that the Pope, because of his Easter encyclical urging that the world live in peace, has gone soft on communism.

This writer is a non-Catholic who initiated the Democracy-Letters-To-Italy campaign in 1948 which helped turn the tide of that year's election. From that background, I can report that there were four reasons for the communist vote increase, and none of them had anything to do with the Pope. They were:

1. The migration from the poverty-stricken South to the prosperous industrial north, where the Communist party is well organized.

2. The population increase, by which five per cent more Italians went to the polls. Since the Communist party in Italy has always been the biggest in the world outside Russia, it was bound to get a slice of these new voters.

3. The death of Enrico Mattei, head of the Italian oil combine, ENI, who in the past has always subsidized through advertising some of the moderate, liberal newspapers. Following his death, ENI made a deal with the Rockefeller family's Standard C of New Jersey, and its political activity stopped.

This left the communists with their own well subsidized press, while 90 per cent of the other newspapers are dependent on the anti-Fanfani advertising, especially the Association of Lombardy Industrialists. About 90 per cent of the press vigorously opposed Fanfani's center-left coalition.

4. Italian communists when in power in municipalities have done a good job.

Take the case of Guiseppe Dozza, the mayor of Bologna, who has been re-elected regularly ever since the war. I have no reason to praise Mayor Dozza, because when I went through Italy with the Friendship Train, he was the only Italian mayor who refused to come to the train to greet us. He said I had been critical of him for having stored a secret cache of arms to upset the government.

However, the Eisenhower administration, recognizing Mayor Dozza's standing in Italy, invited him to Washington, where in the Cosmos Club he made such a beguiling speech that Commissioner Robert McLaughlin, a Republican, paid tribute in reply to the No. 1 communist mayor of Italy and offered to arrange with Baltimore to "twin up" with communist-governed Bologna.

Bob McLaughlin was a conscientious, conservative commissioner of the District of Columbia, but with a passion for good city government. Communist Dozza had given Bologna good government.

Keen Insight Into Life Through Child's Eyes

NEW YORK—An amazing new drug has been concocted by science . . . a new chemical which has the power, it is said, to "liberate" man's mind. Sharpen it. Possibly even enlarge it.

This drug, lysergic acid diethylamide (LSD), is so powerful, according to philosopher Gerald Heard, that if a man takes one/10,000ths of a gram of it, he can see flowers and trees "as Van Gogh must have seen them," and hear a musical work as intensely as the composer heard it during its creation.

LSD is said to intensify the perceptions, throw off the mind's critical guards and censors, and cause him to exist with sharp awareness. Apparently it has remarkable potential as a source of higher wisdom and creativity for humans. Yet it is not a narcotic. It is difficult to imagine (without using the drug) that science has developed a chemical that can actually give a man the opportunity which man eternally has sought: to be keener, more perceptive, more creative than he ever was before.

To be able to pop a pellet into the mouth and suddenly enter another, wiser world—it must be Alice in Wonderland all over again.

The problem would be, of course, that when the effects of the wondrous, jabberwocky pill wore off and one returned to the narrow, somewhat jaded, by comparison drab world of unmedicated reality, the disillusion would be marked.

LSD could become a greater habit than narcotics or alcoholism. Our future geniuses might be addicts!

Until — and it may never happen — this wonder chemical becomes available, there is a much easier (though equally habit-forming) way to see life more keenly and appreciatively:

Latch on to a small child. See the world through his eyes.

I remember reading of an artist in Japan named Susuma Fuyuyama, who some years ago enrolled as a kindergarten student — at the age of 45. He wanted, he said, "to take up the child's sense in myself."

He may have been laughed out of every geisha house in Tokyo, but he was on the right track.

Remember when you were a child, the things you could do? You could tell the make of every car on the road in a flash, and be proud of yourself. You knew every wild flower by its real name or your special name for it, and you loved it. You were fascinated by all peoples, all colors, all ages, and appreciated them for what they were. You could make wild monsters out of cloud formations, and pets out of rodents.

Best of all, you could be completely enchanted by almost every moment of every day. You LIVED, when you were a child.

Sharing all this again with a child you know brings much of it, if not all of it, back. You care about little things again. And big problems are only little irritations. It's great.

When you get so tall that you can't see little wonderful happenings under your nose — relate to the happy people.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I have children, aged one and two. My daughter had impetigo when she was five months old, and now my son has it. I keep them as clean as I can. What can I do to get rid of this condition?
—Mrs. C. M.

Dr. Molner

Impetigo is an infection of the skin, not only infectious (caused by germs) but contagious (passed from person to person).

The germ can be either a form of the streptococcus or staphylococcus. Either, once it starts, soon sets up infected pustules. It can, of course, be a dangerous infection as well as a messy, unpleasant one.

True, cleanliness is extremely important but that isn't the whole story. Despite all reasonable care, it is still possible for the infection to spread because you can't see the germs. They may be transmitted by a child touching another, or by use of another's handkerchief, toys, pencils or whatnot.

Today's case gives at least a hint that in this instance the disease may have been passed, not from child to child, but from adult to child.

Someone in or close to the household may be a carrier of the germs, more particularly the staphylococcus variety. This has been known to happen many times and is one of the threats against which well-run nurseries are constantly on guard.

These germs can be carried in the nose, cause no trouble to the carrier, yet become devilishly mean if they reach a person who possesses poor protection against them.

It sometimes is necessary to have laboratory cultures grown and examined from nose and throat swabbings of others in the family, especially the parents, and I think that is the logical starting point in this case.

Dear Dr. Molner: With anemia, can the person merely add iron to the daily diet or is liver also required?
—Mrs. S. S.

It depends on the type of anemia. There are several. In some cases iron in tablet form is sufficient. In pernicious anemia, Vitamin B (or liver extract) is necessary.

Dear Dr. Molner: A book I read recommends apple cider vinegar in water to reduce high blood pressure. Is this really effective?
—S. J.

No. Vinegar, whether from apples or other sources, never lowered anybody's blood pressure. The A.M.A. and other groups have done their best to point out the fallacies of this particular (and amazingly popular) book of nostrums and folk fables.

It isn't that the old "snake-oil" type remedies it lists are necessarily harmful, but when people start putting faith in certain nonsensical folk medicines, they stop looking for some of the really effective ones which DO now exist.

The outstanding examples, of course, are people who go to quacks who claim they can "cure" cancer, or become wedded to the idea that some charm or other will "cure" diabetes. The remedies may not harm them directly, but many die because they didn't seek scientific help until too late.

There are various treatments and medications which will reduce or control high blood pressure but none is as simple as cider or any other household remedy, and it is scientifically childish to pretend that all cases of high blood pressure are alike, because they aren't.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about the hazards of sprays to hold the hair in place? I have heard that they involve a certain amount of danger to the lungs, particularly those that advise on the label, "Do not inhale."
—M. C.

This danger applies, as you suggest, to some sprays and not to others. If you but pay attention to the "do not inhale" labels, you will be taking adequate precautions.

The problem involved is that certain materials contained in some sprays can reach the lung tissues and adjacent lymph glands, and can produce a shadow on an X-ray.

In all candor, we must admit that much remains to be learned about this condition, but it appears to be reversible: that is, if use of the spray is stopped, the lungs clear up. Indeed, there may be no symptoms anyway, but I certainly am a believer in the philosophy of Dr. Frances Kelsey, who refused to approve distribution of thalidomide: if there's anything suspicious or even not explained, keep digging at it.

I have no evidence to impel me to scare anybody as to the use of hair sprays, but since an unusual condition does develop, it is no more than good sense for people to take reasonable precautions, and further study is warranted (and being carried on).

From the practical point of view, I merely suggest that you note the label on whatever spray you use. If there is a warning against inhaling, then be careful to aim the spray at the hair, not at the face, and inhale as little as possible.

Holding a handkerchief over mouth and nose could be an easy precaution, or you could use a simple gauze mask. Should there be further developments of significance on this, I'll write about them, although, because I have to follow a rather rigorous schedule with this column, if anything of urgent importance appears, you'll see it sooner in regular news columns.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

TV Commercials

Lake Worth, Fla.

The very next day after our enjoyment of your editorial, "Ultimate Achievement," on April 22, an early-morning television program showed excerpts from old movie films of Buster Keaton, with Keaton in person sitting by and commenting reminiscently. It was a refreshing departure from near "ultimate achievement" in sophisticated and all shades of television and screen ultra-modern entertainment, and a delightful return to "plain old average" of yesterday.

The television commercials could use with advantage some "plain old average," as well, for they have gone all-out and about reached the point of total satiety in ultimate achievement of blatant bombast, slick blarney, suave persuasion, eloquent eulogy, phony professional dictum, profuse demonstration or what-not.

To imitate some old-time down-to-earth advertising would sell the products just as well or better.

LB 737

Lincoln, Neb.

LB737 would allow the director of motor vehicles to appoint examiners to hold hearings under the implied consent law when drivers refuse to submit to a test to determine if they are under the influence of alcohol. This bill should never be passed as it would place judicial and prosecutive powers within the Motor Vehicle Department. This in effect would be a duplication of other court and prosecutive powers. It is not now nor was it ever intended that the Motor Vehicle Department should enter into such judgment of anyone.

Under the implied consent law, a person may be tested and considered legally drunk, but show no visible or reactionary evidence that he is. Because of this, there are some who refuse to submit to a body fluid test and are within their rights.

I certainly do not condone a drunken driver but cannot condone a test that can convict a man by the amount of alcohol in his body fluids when many can have twice the percentage allowed by law and show no effects from it.

LB737 would only add to the now confusing laws. Jurisdiction over drivers should be left with our present judiciary system which has the knowledge and legal means to handle it.

Wasted Energy

Lincoln, Neb.

What they do in a rocket blast-off is wasteful. They release the energy of billions and billions of electrons in exotic fuels chemically to get power, when one electron, properly controlled and accelerated electronically, would do the job. Or if not one, certainly billions of electrons fewer. In a controlled accelerated circular orbit they would ionize enough gas outside the device to create a lift.

Fifth Amendment

Beatrice, Neb.

In my opinion, our Fifth Amendment has been violated and this should be corrected. Our Constitution says that no person shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself. Every man must be held innocent until proved otherwise. The practice once was to torture accused persons for the purpose of extorting from them a confession of guilt, and we still have our modern-day counterpart for this custom. This should be corrected now.

It behooves every one of us to study our Constitution.

Tax Incentives

Lincoln, Neb.

Nebraskans will only be hijacking themselves if they decide to buy new and different types of taxation in lieu of existing systems that have proven their value through the years. These systems are being improved as rapidly as the desires for special preferential tax treatment will permit.

Our unique system of no taxes on wages or spending for necessities will continue to attract and induce tourists and industry to come to Nebraska. If we eliminate these tax incentives, then we step down to the same level of the adjoining states that are really suffering from "tax-itis," including sales taxes.

Our system has proven itself to be unequalled in many areas, certainly more acceptable than that in the nearby states and particularly in Michigan and Illinois. Let us continue to be the most prosperous state in the Middle West and not try a Las Vegas on new type of taxation.

OFF THE RECORD — By Ed. Reed

"What's happened to the insomnia you had before the baby was born?"

Tuesday's Turn Of Events

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Forty-eight hours ago it was all Fred Herrington as the next mayor of Lincoln but that was speculation. Twenty-four hours later the hard facts were there on the record and it was Dean H. Petersen in the winner's circle. The election was remarkably similar to one of four years ago when a fellow named Bartlett E. Boyles, known as "Pat" and now a District Court judge, upset the popular theory and walked off with a majority of votes.

Petersen campaigned as the candidate of the people and cast his opponent in the role of a hand-picked, special interest nominee. The characterization has a note of truth to it but its real meaning is probably little understood. Actually, there is never a candidate for office who does not have a certain backing and seldom is a candidate deserving of defeat on the basis of who is or isn't in his corner. Petersen, however, was effective in winning over those voters who feel no affinity with any particular group in Lincoln, political, social or economic. And as Lincoln grows into a metropolitan city, the ability to attract these voters will become more and more important in future elections.

Independents Attracted

At the same time, Herrington's campaign was not marked by any kind of personal touch. Herrington is a very friendly, cooperative and understanding person but it did not get through to a lot of voters. Many of the voters undoubtedly thought they would have no voice at all in government if he were elected.

There is no question that Petersen left a lot of voters with the comforting feeling that they could walk up to him or into his office at any time and get whatever was bothering them off their chest. Actually, relatively few people ever really do this but they like to feel assured that they can if they want to and Petersen so assured them.

On a more factual basis, Herrington had been favored in some quarters because of greater experience in government. Petersen, on the other hand, had the best of things in business experience and had served in two public offices in the past. He is a native of Nebraska and devotes much more than the average or usual amount of time to Boy Scout work. His philosophy of government and his understanding of the new form of city government seem to be moderate. He is considered aggressive by some but this probably worked against rather than for him in the mayor's race. There were those who believed that Herrington was the more aggressive and would take a more direct role in municipal affairs.

This concept was helped along by Petersen who publicly viewed the new mayor's job as strictly an administrative one and who failed to take any stand on definite or specific issues such as street improvements, consolidation, power, etc. His idea has been that it is the job of the City Council to make decisions on these matters and the job of the mayor to see that these decisions are effectively carried out. A great many people would subscribe to this way of doing things. Basically, it is that kind of approach to state government that we have had in the office of governor a majority of the time. But there is a question as to whether it is enough, as to whether it might not leave a vacuum of leadership in which no progress is made.

With that kind of approach, the responsibility for providing initiative falls into the hands of the City Council. At that point, it becomes the job of seven people and all sorts of things begin to happen. It is sometimes very difficult for seven people to provide unified leadership.

If the mayor does not propose to the council programs of improvement and areas of action and take his case to the people for support, then the city may become static. Pope Didn't Lose Votes For Fanfani

WASHINGTON — Some people, even including a few Catholics, have been blaming Pope John for the increase of the communist vote in Italy. They claim that the Pope, because of his Easter encyclical urging that the world live in peace, has gone soft on communism.

This writer is a non-Catholic who initiated the Democracy-Letters-To-Italy campaign in 1948 which helped turn the tide of that year's election. From that background, I can report that there were four reasons for the communist vote increase, and none of them had anything to do with the Pope. They were:

1. The migration from the poverty-stricken South to the prosperous industrial north, where the Communist party is well organized.

2. The population increase, by which five per cent more Italians went to the polls. Since the Communist party in Italy has always been the biggest in the world outside Russia, it was bound to get a slice of these new voters.

3. The death of Enrico Mattei, head of the Italian oil combine, ENI, who in the past has always subsidized through advertising some of the moderate, liberal newspapers. Following his death, ENI made a deal with the Rockefeller family's Standard C of New Jersey, and its political activity stopped.

This left the communists with their own well subsidized press, while 90 per cent of the other newspapers are dependent on the anti-Fanfani advertising, especially the Association of Lombardy Industrialists. About 90 per cent of the press vigorously opposed Fanfani's center-left coalition.

4. Italian communists when in power in municipalities have done a good job.

Take the case of Guiseppe Dozza, the mayor of Bologna, who has been re-elected regularly ever since the war. I have no reason to praise Mayor Dozza, because when I went through Italy with the Friendship Train, he was the only Italian mayor who refused to come to the train to greet us. He said I had been critical of him for having stored a secret cache of arms to upset the government.

However, the Eisenhower administration, recognizing Mayor Dozza's standing in Italy, invited him to Washington, where in the Cosmos Club he made such a beguiling speech that Commissioner Robert McLaughlin, a Republican, paid tribute in reply to the No. 1 communist mayor of Italy and offered to arrange with Baltimore to "twin up" with communist-governed Bologna.

Bob McLaughlin was a conscientious, conservative commissioner of the District of Columbia, but with a passion for good city government. Communist Dozza had given Bologna good government.

Keen Insight Into Life Through Child's Eyes

NEW YORK—An amazing new drug has been concocted by science . . . a new chemical which has the power, it is said, to "liberate" man's mind. Sharpen it. Possibly even enlarge it.

This drug, lysergic acid diethylamide (LSD), is so powerful, according to philosopher Gerald Heard, that if a man takes one/10,000ths of a gram of it, he can see flowers and trees "as Van Gogh must have seen them," and hear a musical work as intensely as the composer heard it during its creation.

LSD is said to intensify the perceptions, throw off the mind's critical guards and censors, and cause him to exist with sharp awareness. Apparently it has remarkable potential as a source of higher wisdom and creativity for humans. Yet it is not a narcotic. It is difficult to imagine (without using the drug) that science has developed a chemical that can actually give a man the opportunity which man eternally has sought: to be keener, more perceptive, more creative than he ever was before.

To be able to pop a pellet into the mouth and suddenly enter another, wiser world—it must be Alice in Wonderland all over again.

The problem would be, of course, that when the effects of the wondrous, jabberwocky pill wore off and one returned to the narrow, somewhat jaded, by comparison drab world of unmedicated reality, the disillusion would be marked.

LSD could become a greater habit than narcotics or alcoholism. Our future geniuses might be addicts!

Until — and it may never happen — this wonder chemical becomes available, there is a much easier (though equally habit-forming) way to see life more keenly and appreciatively:

Latch on to a small child. See the world through his eyes.

I remember reading of an artist in Japan named Susuma Fuyuyama, who some years ago enrolled as a kindergarten student — at the age of 45. He wanted, he said, "to take up the child's sense in myself."

He may have been laughed out of every geisha house in Tokyo, but he was on the right track.

Remember when you were a child, the things you could do? You could tell the make of every car on the road in a flash, and be proud of yourself. You knew every wild flower by its real name or your special name for it, and you loved it. You were fascinated by all peoples, all colors, all ages, and appreciated them for what they were. You could make wild monsters out of cloud formations, and pets out of rodents.

Best of all, you could be completely enchanted by almost every moment of every day. You LIVED, when you were a child.

Sharing all this again with a child you know brings much of it, if not all of it, back. You care about little things again. And big problems are only little irritations. It's great.

When you get so tall that you can't see little wonderful happenings under your nose — relate to the happy people.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I have children, aged one and two. My daughter had impetigo when she was five months old, and now my son has it. I keep them as clean as I can. What can I do to get rid of this condition? —Mrs. C. M.

Dr. Molner

Impetigo is an infection of the skin, not only infectious (caused by germs) but contagious (passed from person to person).

The germ can be either a form of the streptococcus or staphylococcus. Either, once it starts, soon sets up infected pustules. It can, of course, be a dangerous infection as well as a messy, unpleasant one.

True, cleanliness is extremely important but that isn't the whole story. Despite all reasonable care, it is still possible for the infection to spread because you can't see the germs. They may be transmitted by a child touching another, or by use of another's handkerchief, toys, pencils or whatnot.

Today's case gives at least a hint that in this instance the disease may have been passed, not from child to child, but from adult to child.

Someone in or close to the household may be a carrier of the germs, more particularly the staphylococcus variety. This has been known to happen many times and is one of the threats against which well-run nurseries are constantly on guard.

These germs can be carried in the nose, cause no trouble to the carrier, yet become devilishly mean if they reach a person who possesses poor protection against them.

It sometimes is necessary to have laboratory cultures grown and examined from nose and throat swabbings of others in the family, especially the parents, and I think that is the logical starting point in this case.

Dear Dr. Molner: With anemia, can the person merely add iron to the daily diet or is liver also required? —Mrs. S. S.

It depends on the type of anemia. There are several. In some cases iron in tablet form is sufficient. In pernicious anemia, Vitamin B (or liver extract) is necessary.

Dear Dr. Molner: A book I read recommends apple cider vinegar in water to reduce high blood pressure. Is this really effective? —S. J.

No. Vinegar, whether from apples or other sources, never lowered anybody's blood pressure. The A.M.A. and other groups have done their best to point out the fallacies of this particular (and amazingly popular) book of nostrums and folk fables.

It isn't that the old "snake-oil" type remedies it lists are necessarily harmful, but when people start putting faith in certain nonsensical folk medicines, they stop looking for some of the really effective ones which DO now exist.

The outstanding examples, of course, are people who go to quacks who claim they can "cure" cancer, or become wedded to the idea that some charm or other will "cure" diabetes. The remedies may not harm them directly, but many die because they didn't seek scientific help until too late.

There are various treatments and medications which will reduce or control high blood pressure but none is as simple as cider or any other household remedy, and it is scientifically childish to pretend that all cases of high blood pressure are alike, because they aren't.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about the hazards of sprays to hold the hair in place? I have heard that they involve a certain amount of danger to the lungs, particularly those that advise on the label, "Do not inhale." —M. C.

This danger applies, as you suggest, to some sprays and not to others. If you but pay attention to the "do not inhale" labels, you will be taking adequate precautions.

The problem involved is that certain materials contained in some sprays can reach the lung tissues and adjacent lymph glands, and can produce a shadow on an X-ray.

In all candor, we must admit that much remains to be learned about this condition, but it appears to be reversible: that is, if use of the spray is stopped, the lungs clear up. Indeed, there may be no symptoms anyway, but I certainly am a believer in the philosophy of Dr. Frances Kelsey, who refused to approve distribution of thalidomide: if there's anything suspicious or even not explained, keep digging at it.

I have no evidence to impel me to scare anybody as to the use of hair sprays, but since an unusual condition does develop, it is no more than good sense for people to take reasonable precautions, and further study is warranted (and being carried on).

From the practical point of view, I merely suggest that you note the label on whatever spray you use. If there is a warning against inhaling, then be careful to aim the spray at the hair, not at the face, and inhale as little as possible.

Holding a handkerchief over mouth and nose could be an easy precaution, or you could use a simple gauze mask. Should there be further developments of significance on this, I'll write about them, although, because I have to follow a rather rigorous schedule with this column, if anything of urgent importance appears, you'll see it sooner in regular news columns.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

TV Commercials

Lake Worth, Fla.

The very next day after our enjoyment of your editorial, "Ultimate Achievement," on April 22, an early-morning television program showed excerpts from old movie films of Buster Keaton, with Keaton in person sitting by and commenting reminiscently. It was a refreshing departure from near "ultimate achievement" in sophisticated and all shades of television and screen ultra-modern entertainment, and a delightful return to "plain old average" of yesterday.

The television commercials could use with advantage some "plain old average," as well, for they have gone all-out and about reached the point of total satiety in ultimate achievement of blatant bombast, slick blarney, suave persuasion, eloquent eulogy, phony professional dictum, profuse demonstration or what-not.

To imitate some old-time down-to-earth advertising would sell the products just as well or better.

LB 737

Lincoln, Neb.

LB737 would allow the director of motor vehicles to appoint examiners to hold hearings under the implied consent law when drivers refuse to submit to a test to determine if they are under the influence of alcohol. This bill should never be passed as it would place judicial and prosecutive powers within the Motor Vehicle Department. This in effect would be a duplication of other court and prosecutive powers. It is not now nor was it ever intended that the Motor Vehicle Department should enter into such judgment of anyone.

Under the implied consent law, a person may be tested and considered legally drunk, but show no visible or reactionary evidence that he is. Because of this, there are some who refuse to submit to a body fluid test and are within their rights.

I certainly do not condone a drunken driver but cannot condone a test that can convict a man by the amount of alcohol in his body fluids when many can have twice the percentage allowed by law and show no effects from it.

LB737 would only add to the now confusing laws. Jurisdiction over drivers should be left with our present judiciary system which has the knowledge and legal means to handle it.

Wasted Energy

Lincoln, Neb.

What they do in a rocket blast-off is wasteful. They release the energy of billions and billions of electrons in exotic fuels chemically to get power, when one electron, properly controlled and accelerated electronically, would do the job. Or if not one, certainly billions of electrons fewer. In a controlled accelerated circular orbit they would ionize enough gas outside the device to create a lift.

Fifth Amendment

Beatrice, Neb.

In my opinion, our Fifth Amendment has been violated and this should be corrected. Our Constitution says that no person shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself. Every man must be held innocent until proved otherwise. The practice once was to torture accused persons for the purpose of extorting from them a confession of guilt, and we still have our modern-day counterpart for this custom. This should be corrected now.

It behooves every one of us to study our Constitution.

Tax Incentives

Lincoln, Neb.

Nebraskans will only be hijacking themselves if they decide to buy new and different types of taxation in lieu of existing systems that have proven their value through the years. These systems are being improved as rapidly as the desires for special preferential tax treatment will permit.

Our unique system of no taxes on wages or spending for necessities will continue to attract and induce tourists and industry to come to Nebraska. If we eliminate these tax incentives, then we step down to the same level of the adjoining states that are really suffering from "tax-itis," including sales taxes.

Our system has proven itself to be unequalled in many areas, certainly more acceptable than that in the nearby states and particularly in Michigan and Illinois. Let us continue to be the most prosperous state in the Middle West and not try a Las Vegas on new type of taxation.

Fewer Elders In Need Of Old Age Assistance

By ROBERT PETERSON

It's good to note that the economic condition of elders is gradually improving. Best evidence is the fact that in 1949 nearly one quarter, or 23%, of all those past 65 were receiving payments under Social Security's old age assistance program which aids those lacking sufficient funds for personal support.

But today only half this percentage, or 12% of those past 65, are receiving old-age assistance.

There's a current cartoon by Franklin Folger which shows two elderly women sitting in a doctor's office. One is saying to the other, "I just love this time of life. It's one ailment after another."

The cartoon is amusing and exaggerated but it touches a problem which may be more prevalent than we realize. In the absence of creative, purposeful activities many elders start looking for excitement in aches and pains. A twitch or sensation of discomfort may prove intensely gratifying for it opens the door to string of stimulating experiences. It offers a new focus of attention, titillates the imagination and serves as a dependable topic for contemplation and conversation. Then when it becomes magnified beyond all true proportion the individual has a splendid excuse to get dressed up and visit the doctor.

It's important, of course, to discuss legitimate symptoms with a physician as quickly as possible. But I suspect the vague aches and ills of many elders sitting in medical waiting rooms stem from simple boredom.

A note from a reader says, "I am retiring tomorrow from 47 years of work as a department store manager, and plan to estivate for the next few months."

Estivate? I've been dealing in words for 7 years but never encountered that one before. Webster informs me that it's a perfectly good word meaning the opposite of "hibernate." It derives from the Latin "aestas" and is defined as, "To pass the summer in a torpor."

Science seems determined to rob man of every opportunity to use his muscles. Last Yule my wife gifted me with an electronic door opener for our garage. Just press a button and the garage doors roll majestically open. It's a wonderful gadget but you feel a bit ashamed of yourself making Reddy Kilowatt do all the work.

It seemed I could always depend on exercising arm and shoulder muscles when brushing my teeth. But electric toothbrushes are all the rage these days and it probably won't be long until the subtle dictates of ads and word-of-mouth recommendations convince me that only a backwoodsman would fight tooth decay with a manually-operated toothbrush.

Even the mild exercise of ichthyological pursuits is threatened. An ad in a sports magazine informs me that the modern way to fish is to use a motorized reel. "Why wear yourself out reeling in your catch?" asks the ad. "With our reel you just press a button."

Resolution Proposes Cather Bust For Hall Of Fame

A resolution proposing that a bust of the late Nebraska author Willa Cather be entered in the Nebraska Hall of Fame in the State Capitol was introduced in the Legislature Wednesday.

The resolution, No. 36, was introduced by Sen. Kenneth L. Bowen, whose home town of Red Cloud was also the home town of Miss Cather.

The resolution noted that Miss Cather has been chosen to the Hall of Fame and the Hall of Fame Commission has commissioned Paul Swan to create a bust of her.

Suitable dedication ceremonies for the bust placement are called for in the resolution.

"In her writing about Nebraska scenes and Nebraska people, Miss Cather has most effectively represented the hardships, the courage, the determination and the heroic qualities of the settlers of Nebraska," the resolution said.

Under legislative rules, resolutions are held at least one day before being acted upon.

Ex-State Senator Visits Legislature

Earl J. Lee of Fremont, a state senator from 1943 through 1955, visited the Legislature Wednesday.

Invited by Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney to address the lawmaking body, Lee said "I hope you legislators have the wisdom of Solomon so that when you adjourn, everybosy will be happy with your work."

Commented Burney: "You know that won't happen."

City Improvement Program Is Backed

. . . BY PLANNING COMMISSION

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday recommended the preliminary 1963-68 capital improvement program of $24.6 million as in general conformance with the Comprehensive Plan.

The program estimates 1963-64 improvement needs as $4,590,100 with the remainder projected during the next 5 years.

However, the commission made several recommendations on the program to the reviewing committee headed by the mayor and to the City Council.

Main Points

Major recommendations were:

— for the closing of 45th over the Missouri Pacific tracks in contrast to the $75,000 projected for a new viaduct.

— no capital improvements be made on City Hall.

— reaffirmation of the Northeast Diagonal location with a 14th street by-pass to permit future closing of 14th, 16th and 17th through the University of Nebraska campus.

— that additional revenue, with a bond issue appearing most practical, be secured to step up Lincoln's major street improvement program.

— that the paving of A from 70th to Seacrest Field (approximately 77th) is desirable and joint city and county effort should be encouraged on implementing the project.

The commission commended the various departments for the programming of the more immediate capital improvements needs, but urged more realistic estimates of future needs and more comprehensive long-range planning.

Other Action

In other action, the commission approved the application of First National Bank as trustee for "local business" zoning on a lot at Winthrop Road and Sewell.

The property, adjoining the Rathbone Village Shopping Center, is proposed for a bank facility.

The commission recommended installation of school stop signs at Sewell and Winthrop Road for nearby Sheridan School, if the bank facility is constructed.

The commission unanimously postponed indefinitely proposed zoning code amendments requiring new minimum lot widths in single-family residential districts.

Proposed was a 10-foot increase in A-1 districts, now 60 feet minimum, and in A-2 districts, now 50 feet minimum.

The Lincoln Home Builders Association opposed the increasing, contending it was not needed and subdivision planning flexibility would be lost.

Other commission action:

—deferred Adolph Hoch request for 4-family dwelling zoning for a lot on 27th between E and C.

—approved the vacating of alley between 65th and 66th, Collax and Seward.

—approved special permit to Wendell Harding for a parking lot at 170 South Coiner Blvd. to be used in connection with a government leased office building.

—approved final plat of Galaxie Addition, 9 lots near 42nd and Way, and preliminary plat of Fiene Circle, a 5-lot plat south of Calvert between 35th and Loveland Drive.

—advised that the city has no jurisdiction over the proposed stock-car race track on the State Fairgrounds near 14th and Cornhusker Hwy. in replying to a complaining letter from the Northeast Lincoln Community Association.

Planners Study Violators' Permits For Special Use

Reported violations of the special use permits issued during the past 3 years were taken under study Wednesday by the City-County Planning Commission.

The commission said the building inspectors report would be reviewed for possible revocation of permits where imposed conditions have not been met by the property owners.

The report indicated requirements on most of the 72 special use permits issued are not being met, but listed these as in violation:

—Meadow Lane Swimming Pool parking lot at 1300 Meadow Dale, has curb cut but not paved, some shrubbery planted.

—Church parking lot at 1501 A, paved but not screened.

—Valentino's parking lot at 1415 No. 35th, no paving, screening or setback.

—Mowbray Buick Co., 400 No. 46th, parking lot not paved or screened.

—Willard F. Rahe junk yard at 7001 Burt, never complied, injunctive action has been requested.

—Earl Christianson and Hodgman-Splain Mortuary at 4040 A, main parking lot paved but a 50-foot strip has been rocked in area for which a special permit was denied.

—Dr. Earl Lampshire, 139 So. 28th, parking lot for clinic, has paved back yards of houses on each side of alley.

—King Dollar, parking lot at 450-56 No. 27th, not in compliance, but is in process of removing 3 houses to comply.

Cozad Plant Election 'Off'

By the Associated Press

The National Labor Relations Board confirmed Wednesday that a union representation election at Monroe Auto Equipment Co. in Cozad has been called off.

The United Auto Workers union is seeking to represent workers of the shock absorber plant at Cozad. The election had been scheduled for Friday.

In Kansas City, the office of NLRB Regional Director Hugh E. Sperry said "the atmosphere is not conducive to holding an election at this time."

Celebration Set

New York (AP)—The 50th anniversary of Actors Equity Association in May is being marked with a series of special events here and in Los Angeles, Toronto and Chicago.

Pair Charged As Gamblers Fail To Appear In Court

Omaha (AP) — Two men charged as common gamblers after recent raids by the Omaha vice squad failed to appear in Municipal Court and forfeited their bonds.

They were Bert R. Howard, 30, of Grand Island, and Howard W. Lansing, 32, of Omaha. Howard forfeited bonds of $300, and Lansing of $200.

They were among 10 charged with vagrancy after a raid April 10 at the Farnam Gift Shop. Howard was picked up again at the gift shop April 27, and both were arrested April 6 at another place.

John J. Salanitro, 31, of Omaha, arrested in the April 10 raid, was fined $50 and costs for vagrancy.

University Students Arrested In Ames Mansion Burglary

Three University of Nebraska architecture students were arrested Wednesday when police found in their possession furniture and fixtures stolen early Tuesday from the Ames mansion, 1720 So. 20th.

The students, ages 22, 23 and 24, told police they thought the mansion was to be torn down and "thought it would be all right if we salvaged some of the equipment."

Police traced the men through the license number of the car they used to haul away the stolen items. The number had been noted by a witness to the theft.

The students were released by the county attorney after they signed statements regarding the items stolen. They are to report back Thursday morning for final disposition of the case.

Police said all the items taken were recovered. They included 4 chandeliers, a large tapestry, a scroll, two large pieces of stained glass, a set of expensive drapes, and an elevator notification bell.

The value of the items was put at several thousand dollars.

The Ames mansion, built in 1893 by J. H. Ames, pioneer Lincoln lawyer, now stands vacant. It is owned by Jerome J. Milder of Omaha, who plans to build a nursing home on the site.

The U.S. Coast Guard in 1962 completed its 49th year of operating the International Ice Patrol. The patrol is aimed at reducing hazards of floating icebergs in the shipping lanes of the North Atlantic.

FOOT-HIGH JFK DOLL IN CHAIR TO GO ON SALE

Los Angeles (UPI) — A new Japanese-made doll — a foot-high likeness of President Kennedy sitting in a wooden rocking chair — goes on the market next month.

The spring-wound toy, which has a wardrobe ranging from a football uniform to a full-dress tuxedo, will sell for about $6.95.

When you wind it up, the JFK doll rocks and plays the tune "Happy Days Are Here Again."

City Improvement Program Is Backed

. . . BY PLANNING COMMISSION

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday recommended the preliminary 1963-68 capital improvement program of $24.6 million as in general conformance with the Comprehensive Plan.

The program estimates 1963-64 improvement needs as $4,590,100 with the remainder projected during the next 5 years.

However, the commission made several recommendations on the program to the reviewing committee headed by the mayor and to the City Council.

Main Points

Major recommendations were:

— for the closing of 45th over the Missouri Pacific tracks in contrast to the $75,000 projected for a new viaduct.

— no capital improvements be made on City Hall.

— reaffirmation of the Northeast Diagonal location with a 14th street by-pass to permit future closing of 14th, 16th and 17th through the University of Nebraska campus.

— that additional revenue, with a bond issue appearing most practical, be secured to step up Lincoln's major street improvement program.

— that the paving of A from 70th to Seacrest Field (approximately 77th) is desirable and joint city and county effort should be encouraged on implementing the project.

The commission commended the various departments for the programming, of the more immediate capital improvements needs, but urged more realistic estimates of future needs and more comprehensive long-range planning.

Other Action

In other action, the commission approved the application of First National Bank as trustee for "local business" zoning on a lot at Winthrop Road and Sewell.

The property, adjoining the Rathbone Village Shopping Center, is proposed for a bank facility.

The commission recommended installation of school stop signs at Sewell and Winthrop Road for nearby Sheridan School, if the bank facility is constructed.

The commission unanimously postponed indefinitely proposed zoning code amendments requiring new minimum lot widths in single-family residential districts.

Proposed was a 10-foot increase in A-1 districts, now 60 feet minimum, and in A-2 districts, now 50 feet minimum.

The Lincoln Home Builders Association opposed the increasing, contending it was not needed and subdivision planning flexibility would be lost.

Other commission action:

—deferred Adolph Hock request for 4-family dwelling zoning for a lot on 27th between B and C.

—approved the vacating of alley between 65th and 66th, Colfax and Seward.

—approved special permit to Wendell Harding for a parking lot at 170 South Cotner Blvd. to be used in connection with a government-leased office building.

—approved final plat of Galaxie Addition, 8 lots near 42nd and Way, and preliminary plat of Fiene Circle, a 5-lot plat south of Calvert between 35th and Loveland Drive.

—advised that the city has no jurisdiction over the proposed stock-car race track on the State Fairgrounds near 14th and Cornhusker Hwy. in replying to a complaining letter from the Northeast Lincoln Community Association.

PARTIES BLASTING RACE CRISIS

Washington (AP) —Representatives of both parties blasted racial violence in Birmingham, Ala. Wednesday as proof of a need for federal legislation as hearings opened on President Kennedy's civil rights program.

The bipartisan support raised the prospect that an effective Southern Democrat-Republican coalition that could block any civil rights legislation might not develop in the House this time. Strong opposition is anticipated in the Senate, however.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House judiciary subcommittee conducting the hearings, said Birmingham's use of firehoses and dogs on Negro demonstrators, including children, had damaged the reputation of the United States throughout the world.

'Depths of Despair'

Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., said the demonstrations portray "the depths of despair over the American failure to deliver on the American promise."

And Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, deplored the incidents but took a more optimistic view, saying: "But turmoil is a sign of birth, as well as decay."

Kennedy's bill — the first civil rights program he has proposed other than a constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax—would:

—Appoint temporary voting referees to pass quickly on qualifications of voters. Present procedures, frequently involving Negroes in the south, can lead to lengthy delays in registration.

Literate Standard

—Declare that anyone with a 6th grade education would be presumed to be literate for voting purposes—a blow aimed at literacy tests sometimes used to discourage Negro voter registration.

—Extend the Civil Rights Commission for 4 years. It is scheduled to expire at the end of the year.

Republicans on the Judiciary Committee are pushing a program of their own, including the administration proposals, but adding provisions to desegregate public schools and ban firms doing business with the federal government from discriminating against Negros.

Final Faculty Recital Slated At Concordia

Seward — The music department of Concordia Teachers College at Seward will present Elizabeth Reinboth and Carlos Messerli in the season's final faculty recital Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Weller Auditorium.

Messerli will introduce some of the keyboard instruments, specifically, the clavichord, harpsichord and piano in historical perspective. Miss Reinboth will perform a number of compositions at the organ.

PARTIES BLASTING RACE CRISIS

Washington (AP) —Representatives of both parties blasted racial violence in Birmingham, Ala. Wednesday as proof of a need for federal legislation as hearings opened on President Kennedy's civil rights program.

The bipartisan support raised the prospect that an effective Southern Democrat-Republican coalition that could block any civil rights legislation might not develop in the House this time. Strong opposition is anticipated in the Senate, however.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House judiciary subcommittee conducting the hearings, said Birmingham's use of firehoses and dogs on Negro demonstrators, including children, had damaged the reputation of the United States throughout the world.

'Depths of Despair'

Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., said the demonstrations portray "the depths of despair over the American failure to deliver on the American promise."

And Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, deplored the incidents but took a more optimistic view, saying: "But turmoil is a sign of birth, as well as decay."

Kennedy's bill — the first civil rights program he has proposed other than a constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax—would:

—Appoint temporary voting referees to pass quickly on qualifications of voters. Present procedures, frequently involving Negroes in the south, can lead to lengthy delays in registration.

Literate Standard

—Declare that anyone with a 6th grade education would be presumed to be literate for voting purposes—a blow aimed at literacy tests sometimes used to discourage Negro voter registration.

—Extend the Civil Rights Commission for 4 years. It is scheduled to expire at the end of the year.

Republicans on the Judiciary Committee are pushing a program of their own, including the administration proposals, but adding provisions to desegregate public schools and ban firms doing business with the federal government from discriminating against Negros.

Final Faculty Recital Slated At Concordia

Seward — The music department of Concordia Teachers College at Seward will present Elizabeth Reinboth and Carlos Messerli in the season's final faculty recital Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Weller Auditorium.

Messerli will introduce some of the keyboard instuments, specifically, the clavichord, harpsichord and piano in historical perspective. Miss Reinboth will perform a number of compositions at the organ.

Six School Redistricting Plans OKd

The State Committee for the Reorganization of School Districts approved 6 out of 20 petition proposals for school redistricting at a meeting Wednesday.

Nine petitions proposals were given qualified approval, and the remaining 5 were not approved.

In addition, the committee approved a Madison County committee plan for the Battle Creek area, but declined to approve a Dakota County committee plan for the Homer area.

The Madison County plan proposes the creation of a new Class III school district embracing the present Battle Creek district, 9 Class I districts and portions of 4 other districts. The plan includes most of the area now being served by the Battle Creek high school.

The Dakota County plan which failed to receive approval proposes the creation of a new Class II school district embracing the area now being served by the Homer, Emerson and South Sioux City-Dakota City high schools. The state committee recommended that the plan not be brought to an election.

The petition plans approved included:

Custer County—dissolve School District 40 and attach the area to District 31 (Sargent).

Dawson and Frontier counties—dissolve District 56, Frontier County, and attach to District 51 (Farnam).

Dundy County—dissolve District 5 and attach the area to District 16 (Benkelman) and 27 (Max).

Sherman County—dissolve District 47 and attach to District 1 (Loup City).

Thurston County—dissolve Districts 21, 29 and 39 and attach to District 33 (Walthill).

Thurston County—dissolve District 30 and attach to District 33 (Walthill).

Petition plans given qualified approval included:

Custer County—dissolve District 263 and attach the area to District 281.

Custer and Valley counties—dissolve District 97, Custer County, and attach the area to Districts 21 (Arcadia), 44 (Ansley) 5, 14 and 49.

Dodge County—dissolve District 13 and attach to District 27.

Holt County dissolve District 32 and attach to Districts 1 and 4.

Holt County—dissolve District 100 and attach to District 4.

Holt County—dissolve District 26 and attach to District 1.

Kearney and Harlan counties—dissolve District C-2 (Otagan) and attach the area to District 4-2 (Wilcox).

Perkins County—dissolve District 7 and attach the area to Districts 65 (Venango) and 37 (Grant).

Sheridan County—dissolve District 163 and attach to Districts 137 and 166.

Petition plans given non-approval included:

Burt County—dissolve District 12 and attach to District 39.

Dodge County—dissolve Districts 2, 34, 68, 70 and 78 and create a new district.

Sheridan County—dissolve District 40 and attach to District 26.

Stanton County—dissolve District 8 and attach to District 2.

Valley County—dissolve District 16 and attach to District 31.

Six School Redistricting Plans OKd

The State Committee for the Reorganization of School Districts approved 6 out of 20 petition proposals for school redistricting at a meeting Wednesday.

Nine petitions proposals were given qualified approval, and the remaining 5 were not approved.

In addition, the committee approved a Madison County committee plan for the Battle Creek area, but declined to approve a Dakota County committee plan for the Homer area.

The Madison County plan proposes the creation of a new Class III school district embracing the present Battle Creek district, 9 Class I districts and portions of 4 other districts. The plan includes most of the area now being served by the Battle Creek high school.

The Dakota County plan which failed to receive approval proposes the creation of a new Class II school district embracing the area now being served by the Homer, Emerson and South Sioux City-Dakota City high schools. The state committee recommended that the plan not be brought to an election.

The petition plans approved included:

Custer County—dissolve School District 40 and attach the area to District 84 (Sargent).

Dawson and Frontier counties—dissolve District 56, Frontier County, and attach to District 51 (Farnam).

Dundy County—dissolve District 5 and attach the area to District 16 (Benkelman) and 27 (Max).

Sherman County—dissolve District 47 and attach to District 1 (Loup City).

Thurston County—dissolve Districts 21, 29 and 39 and attach to District 13 (Walthill).

Thurston County—dissolve District 30 and attach to District 13 (Walthill).

Petition plans given qualified approval included:

Custer County—dissolve District 283 and attach the area to District 281.

Custer and Valley counties—dissolve District 91, Custer County, and attach the area to Districts 21 (Arcadia), 44 (Ansley) 5, 14 and 39.

Dodge County—dissolve District 13 and attach to District 27.

Holt County—dissolve District 32 and attach to Districts 4 and 3.

Holt County—dissolve District 100 and attach to District 4.

Holt County—dissolve District 26 and attach to District 3.

Kearney and Harlan counties—dissolve District C-2 (Razan) and attach the area to District 4-2 (Wilcox).

Perkins County—dissolve District 7 and attach the area to Districts 65 (Venango) and 33 (Grant).

Sheridan County—dissolve District 163 and attach to Districts 133 and 166.

Petition plans given non-approval included:

Burt County—dissolve District 12 and attach to District 19.

Dodge County—dissolve Districts 2, 34, 68, 73 and 78 and create a new district.

Sheridan County—dissolve District 40 and attach to District 26.

Stanton County—dissolve District 8 and attach to District 2.

Valley County—dissolve District 16 and attach to District 31.

The Old-Fashioned Picnic Goes Modern

Remember the picnics of years ago—with everyone bringing wonderful picnic foods? Let's have that kind of picnic again!

Old fashioned favorites are the foods most enjoyed. Cold roast chicken, a wonderfully flavored potato salad with bountiful relishes . . . small steaks to broil and buns to toast on a grill set up on the sand.

You'll need a dessert—Aunt Susan's famous for her Peach Dessert Cake; ask her to bring it. It can travel right in the pan it is baked in and is deliciously crisp and fruit-flavored.

And suggest to all who are coming on your picnic that they bring these favorite old-time foods. We've added special flavoring touches that will make them even better than in the days of long ago—and easier to carry.

HERB FLAVORED PICNIC ROAST CHICKEN

- 4-5 pound chicken
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup diced celery with leaves
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 3 cups soft stale bread crumbs
- 1 cup chopped cooked ham
- ¼ cup chopped parsley
- ¼ teaspoon each, thyme, rosemary, sage and tarragon

Rinse chicken, dry and lightly salt cavity. Melt butter in a large skillet, saute celery and onion until tender and just tinged with brown. Add the bread crumbs, ham, parsley and seasonings. Toss lightly and add broth made from giblets to moisten. Stuff chicken, lightly truss and place in the center of a large square of heavy duty Wrap. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle very lightly with additional herbs. Bring long ends of foil up over chicken, overlapping about 2 inches. Close opposite ends by turning up. Place wrapped chicken in a shallow pan and roast in a hot oven (425-450 degree F.), allowing 20 minutes to the pound. Open foil 20 minutes before done, baste with juices in foil and continue roasting until lightly browned. Cool chicken and rewrap in same foil for carrying to a picnic.

LITTLE STEAKS WITH SAUTEED PEPPERS AND ONIONS

Red and green sweet peppers
Butter or margarine
Clove of garlic
Onion slices
Small tender boneless steaks
Salt and pepper

Line the grill with foil, build fire and let it burn until briquets are all ignited. Remove seeds from peppers and slice. Melt butter in skillet, add garlic, peppers and onion slices. Saute until just tender. Season with salt and pepper and top with peppers. Serve with toasted buns or French bread.

OLD FASHIONED CREAMY POTATO SALAD

- 1 quart sliced cooked potatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ cup finely minced onion
- 1 cup peeled, diced and seeded cucumber
- 1 cup finely diced celery
- 2 tablespoons snipped dill

Boiled Salad Dressing

- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons mustard
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 2 eggs
- 1½ cups rich milk
- ½ cup vinegar

Combine first 6 ingredients and toss lightly. Prepare the dressing as follows: combine all ingredients except vinegar in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water until mixture thickens, stirring frequently. Add the vinegar slowly, strain and cool. Pour this dressing over potatoes, blend with a fork and chill the salad for several hours. For carrying to a picnic, spread a large piece of foil in a basket or plastic dish. Arrange greens on foil, add the chilled salad, garnish with radishes, scallions and cherry tomatoes.

PEACH DESSERT CAKE

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- grated rind of 1 lemon
- 1 egg
- ½ cup milk
- 9 peach halves, fresh or canned

Topping

- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 egg yolk
- 2 tablespoons cream

Sift first 4 ingredients together. Cut in butter with 2 knives or pastry blender. Add 1 teaspoon grated rind. Beat egg and milk together and add stirring just enough to blend. Turn into a greased 9-inch-square pan and spread out dough evenly. Arrange peaches on top. Rub the remqining lemon rind into the sugar with back of a spoon, add the flour and sprinkle over fruit and cake. Beat the egg yolk with the ice cream and dribble over ths surface. Cover the pan loosely with foil and bake in a hot oven (400 F.) for 15 minutes. Remove foil and bake 20 minutes longer or until brown. Serve warm or cold.

Cherry Torte

How could you possibly refuse dessert when there's Zwieback Cherry Torte on the menu.

ZWIEBACK CHERRY TORTE

- 1½ cups fine zwieback crumbs
- ¼ cup sugar
- ⅓ cup butter, or margarine
- 1 can (1 lb.) water packed tart pitted cherries.
- 3 eggs
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ cup dairy sour cream

Mix crumbs, sugar and melted butter thoroughly. Press around bottom and sides of a deep 9-inch pie pan or shallow baking dish. Put drained cherries in bottom of crumb crust. Beat eggs. Add sugar, salt and sour cream; mix well. Pour over cherries. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 40 minutes, until firm. Chill. One 9-inch torte.

How To Impress Your Guests

If you are looking for a recipe to impress your dinner guests, this is it — a European cake guaranteed to make a name for itself whenever it is served.

TYROLEAN CHOCOLATE GATEAU

- 1¼ cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 egg yolks
- ½ cup milk
- ⅓ cup corn oil
- 2 ounces unsweetened chocolate, melted
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla
- 2 egg whites
- ¾ cup dark corn syrup
- ⅓ cup heavy cream
- Grated chocolate

Grease one (9-inch) layer cake pan; line with waxed paper. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together into mixing bowl. Stir in brown sugar. Beat egg yolks, milk, corn oil, melted chocolate and vanilla together. Mix into dry ingredients, beating until blended. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form when beater is raised. Fold into cake batter. Turn into prepared cake pan. Bake in 375 F. (moderate) oven until cake tests done, 30 to 35 minutes. Let cool completely. Place cold cake in shallow dish. Prick. Combine corn syrup and flavoring. Pour over cake. Let stand overnight, turning once. Whip cream; use to decorate top of cake. Sprinkle top with grated chocolate.

A Bit Of Old Mexico At Home

The southwest has no corner on Mexican food. The rest of the United States is discovering how good it is and turning to meat-filled tortillas, topped with shredded western iceberg lettuce, for a lunch or dinner treat.

Frijoles, or refried beans, and grated cheese are also favorite fillings for the sandwiches. The contrast between the crisp lettuce and soft beans and cheese is delightful, both from taste and texture standpoint. And in case you're wondering what the difference between a taco and a tostado is — just this: For a taco, the tortilla is filled first with beans, meat and/or cheese, folded over and toothpicked together; then fried crisp in oil. For a tostado, the tortilla is fried first, then fillings are piled on. It's the open-face version of the taco.

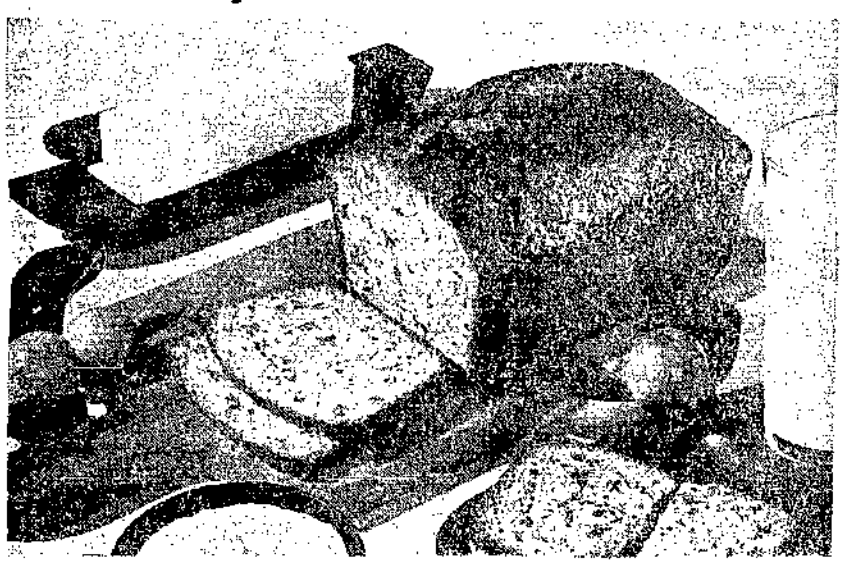

BEEF TOSTADOS WITH SHREDDED LETTUCE

(Makes 6 servings)

- 1 medium head western iceberg lettuce
- 12 tortillas, canned or frozen
- ½ cup salad oil
- 2 cans (1 pound each) kidney beans, drained
- ¾ teaspoon garlic salt
- Dash Tabasco
- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 pound ground beef
- 2 tablespoons butter or salad oil
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 1 medium green pepper, chopped
- 2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
- ¼ teaspoon crushed oregano
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup grated Cheddar cheese

Core lettuce; wash in cold water and drain well. Shred lettuce with sharp knife. Fry each tortilla in hot oil about 3 seconds and drain on paper towels. rain off all but 2 tablespoons oil and add beans, ½ teaspoon garlic salt and Tabasco. Cook and mash beans until thick paste is formed. Brown meat in butter, separating with fork. Stir in onion and green pepper; cook until tender. Stir in tomato sauce, oregano, remaining ¼ teaspoon garlic salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Simmer over low heat 5 minutes. Layer each tortilla with bean mixture, shredded lettuce and meat mixture. Serve with cheese.

Extra-Special For Sandwiches

What is so rare as a day in June? Well, maybe a day in May—A lazy day, that's what—a day for dreaming, for reading, a day for just relaxing under a shady tree. Because you'll be far too comfortable to go to the kitchen, keep lady-like nibbling foods right next to your chair.

The orange nut bread is perfectly suited to summer baking. Such breads are called "quick breads" because they're made with baking powder. This one is quick in other ways as well—quick to mix, quick to slice and quick to disappear in the form of dainty sandwiches. It also stores beautifully when chilled or frozen, ready for use at a moment's notice.

ORANGE NUT BREAD

- 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon soda
- 1 cup chopped pecans or walnuts
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ½ cup fresh orange juice
- ¾ cup evaporated milk
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted

Sift flour, sugar, salt, baking powder and soda together into a medium size mixing bowl. Stir in nuts. Mix beaten egg with orange rind, orange juice, evaporated milk and melted butter in small mixing bowl. Add liquid mixture all at once to dry ingredients. Stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Turn into well-buttered loaf pan (8½x4½x2¾ inches). Bake in a pre-heated moderate oven (350 F.) until done, 55 to 60 minutes. Remove from oven and let stand in pan for 10 minutes, then turn out onto wire rack to cool. When cold, wrap snugly in aluminum foil. Allow to ripen overnight in refrigerator before slicing. Serve with orange cheese whip. Makes 1 loaf.

ORANGE CHEESE WHIP

- 1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 tablespoon orange juice
- ¼ teaspoon grated orange rind

Blend all ingredients with a spoon until smooth. Chill until ready to serve. Makes ⅔ cup spread.

Fry each tortilla in hot oil about 3 seconds and drain on paper towels. rain off all but 2 tablespoons oil and add beans, ½ teaspoon garlic salt and Tabasco. Cook and mash beans until thick paste is formed. Brown meat in butter, separating with fork. Sitr in onion and green pepper; cook until tender. Stir in tomato sauce, oregano, remaining ¼ teaspoon garlic salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Simmer over low heat 5 minutes. Layer each tortilla with bean mixture, shredded lettuce and meat mixture. Serve with cheese.

Extra-Special For Sandwiches

What is so rare as a day in June? Well, maybe a day in May—A lazy day, that's what—a day for dreaming, for reading, a day for just relaxing under a shady tree. Because you'll be far too comfortable to go to the kitchen, keep lady-like nibbling foods right next to your chair.

The orange nut bread is perfectly suited to summer baking. Such breads are called "quick breads" because they're made with baking powder. This one is quick in other ways as well—quick to mix, quick to slice and quick to disappear in the form of dainty sandwiches. It also stores beautifully when chilled or frozen, ready for use at a moment's notice.

ORANGE NUT BREAD

- 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon soda
- 1 cup chopped pecans or walnuts
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ½ cup fresh orange juice
- ¾ cup evaporated milk
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted

Sift flour, sugar, salt, baking powder and soda together into a medium size mixing bowl. Stir in nuts. Mix beaten egg with orange rind, orange juice, evaporated milk and melted butter in small mixing bowl. Add liquid mixture all at once to dry ingredients. Stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Turn into well-buttered loaf pan (8½x4½x2¾ inches). Bake in a pre-heated moderate oven (350 F.) until done, 55 to 60 minutes. Remove from oven and let stand in pan for 10 minutes, then turn out onto wire rack to cool. When cold, wrap snugly in aluminum foil. Allow to ripen overnight in refrigerator before slicing. Serve with orange cheese whip. Makes 1 loaf.

ORANGE CHEESE WHIP

- 1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 tablespoon orange juice
- ¼ teaspoon grated orange rind

New Split For Teachers Colleges Funds OKd

The State Normal Board Wednesday decided on a formula which will give Kearney and Wayne a bigger share of the 1963-64 appropriation for state teachers colleges.

Chadron and Peru, the two smaller state teachers colleges, would get reduced percentage amounts under the scientific formula approved.

The vote was 5 2 in favor of the 17 factor formula devised by Dr Freeman Decker, Normal Board coordinator.

The formula will be followed regardless of the size of the appropriation made for the normal colleges.

The board now apportions the money to the colleges from the total appropriation, but there is a possibility the Legislature's Budget Committee may recommend the Legislature make individual appropriations directly to the colleges.

The current tax fund split gives Kearney 33 78%, Wayne 27 42%, Chadron 21% and Peru 17 82%.

Under the Decker formula Kearney would get 35 554%, Wayne 27 530%, Chadron 20 057% and Peru 16 851%.

Voting for the new formula were Carl Speits of Kearney, E K Yanney of Lodgepole, Dr Gordon Shupe of Wayne, Bernard Spencer of Nebraska City and Dr Floyd Miller of Lincoln, state education commissioner.

A D Majors of Omaha and Board President Henry Freed of Chadron both opposed the new percentages.

New Split For Teachers Colleges Funds OKd

The State Normal Board Wednesday decided on a formula which will give Kearney and Wayne a bigger share of the 1963-64 appropriation for state teachers colleges.

Chadron and Peru, the two smaller state teachers colleges, would get reduced percentage amounts under the scientific formula approved.

The vote was 5-2 in favor of the 17-factor formula devised by Dr. Freeman Decker, Normal Board coordinator.

The formula will be followed regardless of the size of the appropriation made for the normal colleges.

The board now apportions the money to the colleges from the total appropriation, but there is a possibility the Legislature's Budget Committee may recommend the Legislature make individual appropriations directly to the colleges.

The current tax fund split gives Kearney 33.76%, Wayne 27.42%, Chadron 21% and Peru 17.82%.

Under the Decker formula, Kearney would get 35.554%, Wayne 27.538%, Chadron 20.057% and Peru 16.851%.

Voting for the new formula were Carl Spelts of Kearney, E. K. Yanney of Lodgepole, Dr. Gordon Shupe of Wayne, Bernard Spencer of Nebraska City and Dr. Floyd Miller of Lincoln, state education commissioner.

A. D. Majors of Omaha and Board President Henry Freed of Chadron both opposed the new percentages.

Kennedy Remains Silent On Abrupt Ending Of Birmingham Race Truce

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy was silent on the abrupt ending of a truce in the Birmingham racial demonstrations Wednesday night after hailing what had looked like a compromise in the struggle.

Andrew T. Hatcher, acting White House press secretary, declined to comment on the announcement by Negro leaders in Birmingham that the truce had been called off.

The President was still in his office when the news came, shortly after 7 p.m. EDT, but Hatcher said he expected nothing would be said publicly on the subject during the night. Kennedy left for his living quarters shortly before 8.

No Indication

The press aide gave no indication of why Kennedy remained at his desk so late.

The chief executive was informed immediately when Birmingham Negroes said they considered the jailing of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. as "breaking of the faith."

King and the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy returned to jail after they were convicted in a Birmingham court of parading without a permit.

At his news conference 3 hours earlier Kennedy spoke in a hopeful tone of the 24-hour truce in exchange for white "steps . . . to meet the justifiable needs of the Negro community."

Developments

Without filling in details, he described the development worked out with the help of Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall, the President's man on the scene.

Kennedy's advisers reportedly are considering at least 6 ways of intervening in the Birmingham racial crisis.

This became known as the White House announced that "every avenue of executive authority is being explored with reference to racial difficulties in Birmingham."

Hatcher did not list the avenues of executive authority that he said Kennedy was exploring.

Intervention

But it was learned that the President's advisers had considered these ways of intervening:

1. The filing of a federal suit challenging the constitutionally of Birmingham's public segregation laws. This would be done by Negro leaders in cooperation with the justice Department and local Birmingham merchants. This plan, considered the most likely that the President will follow, might satisfy some of the discontent of the Negroes and would push the whole situation into the federal courts for the first time.

2. A dramatic visit to Birmingham by a high official of the government. In this way, the "good offices" of the President could be used by both sides to compromise their differences for a while.

3. The federalization of the Alabama National Guard. This would not necessarily mean the use of National Guard troops by the federal government, but it would keep these troops out of the hands of Alabama's staunch segregationist governor, George Wallace.

'Don't Know'

Hatcher, when asked if the President planned to federalize the guard, said: "I just don't know. I can't answer that question."

4. The seeking of a federal court injunction by the Justice Department barring the Birmingham police from interfering with the Negroes' demonstrations. This could be sought under the First Amendment to the Constitution, which guarantees the right of free speech and of peaceable assembly. This is considered an unlikely course because it would deprive Birmingham of some police powers that may be necessary to control huge demonstrations. It also might be difficult to argue that some of the Negro demonstrators, who have thrown rocks and bottles, were assembling peaceably.

5. A threat by the federal government to withhold certain federal funds from Alabama. This, too, is an unlikely alternative, because it would seem like no more than a punitive action against the state.

6. Intervention by the President under the civil rights laws passed by Congress in the post-Civil War Reconstruction period. This has been requested by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. One section of these laws makes it a crime for state or local officials to deprive citizens of their civil rights. The President, through use of troops or marshals, could arrest local police who violate this law. This course, although brought up in discussions, is considered extremely unlikely.

No Individual Meant In Hallam Statement

Floyd Steinmeyer of Hallam said Wednesday he did not mean to "point a finger" at any individual in statements concerning the spotting of what was believed to be the car of robbers who held up the Hallam bank last Friday.

Steinmeyer was quoted as having said he first thought nothing of the car because the son of Reed Carsten, bank employee, sometimes drove up and down the street at a fairly high rate of speed.

"I only meant that sometimes the young people do this; I didn't mean to implicate the Carsten boy," Steinmeyer said.

Jane Powell Gets Divorce Because Hubby Possessive

Santa Monica, Calif. (AP)—Actress Jane Powell divorced Pat Nerney Wednesday with testimony that he wouldn't leave her alone.

The 34-year-old blonde singer said of the 42-year-old stock broker:

"He was terribly possessive, suspicious of what I did and jealous of my career.

"He was constantly checking up on my activities. I always had to tell him where I was going. He would also ask the help (in their home) what phone calls I made while he was gone.

"It was all very embarrassing."

They were married in 1954 and have a daughter, Lindsay, 7.

OK Given To Plan Branch Oak Dam-Reservoir

Preparation of preliminary plans and cost estimates for the proposed 1,800-acre Branch Oak dam-reservoir has been given the go-ahead, Salt-Wahoo Watershed District directors were advised Wednesday.

Norman Gau, Omaha District project engineeer, said division headquarters has approved this major leap in planning for the yet unauthorized project.

The dam-reservoir, which would be located 4 miles northwest of Raymond on an estimated 3,000-acre site, is proposed as a cost-paring modification to Salt Creek channel improvements downstream from Lincoln.

Gau said plans and design memorandum will be submitted to Washington for authorization and allocation of construction funds.

Two Being Built

Gau also reported Dam 2 near Kramer and Dam 9 near Hickman are under construction with completion scheduled this year.

Construction bids for Dam 12 near Denton will be opened May 28 and plans for Dam 14 near Emerald are being reviewed by higher authorities, he said.

The board adopted a policy resolution for the elimination of authorized Upper Salt Creek channel cleaning and minor improvements between Roca and Lincoln and parts of other tributaries.

The board concurred with engineering reports that the improvements could not be economically justified and "might do more harm than good."

Hal Schroeder, Salt-Wahoo general manager, said half of the 27 Soil Conservation Service dams on the Upper Salt are completed and 3 more are scheduled for construction this year.

The board authorized approximately $35,000 for land acquisition and easements to provide sites for the 3 structures: Dam 23B with an 18-acre permanent reservoir about 6 miles north of Sprague; Dam 22A with a 28-acre pool south of Kramer, and a 45-acre dam approximately 4 miles southeast of Hickman.

On the 13th anniversary of the 1950 Salt Creek flood which took 8 lives and caused untold property damage, the board was told 124 floods have been recorded since 1861 and 29 drownings in the floods.

Irving K. Fox of the Ford Foundation's Resources For the Future said the Salt-Wahoo district "is a unique development" because of the integration of flood control, soil conservation, and recreational development programs and inter-agency cooperation.

Hal Schweder, Salt-Wahoo general manager, said half of the 27 Soil Conservation Service dams on the Upper Salt are completed and 3 more are scheduled for construction this year

The board authorized approximately $35,000 for land acquisition and easements to provide sites for the 3 structures Dam 23B with an 18 acre permanent reservoir about 6 miles north of Sprague, Dam 22A with a 28-acre pool south of Kramer, and a 45 acre dam approximately 4 miles southeast of Hickman

On the 13th anniversary of the 1950 Salt Creek flood which took 8 lives and caused untold property damage, the board was told 124 floods have been recorded since 1861 and 29 drownings in the floods

Irving K Fox of the Ford Foundation's Resources For the Future said the Salt-Wahoo district "is a unique development" because of the integration of flood control, soil conservation, and recreational development programs and inter agency cooperation

Intangible Property Amendment Bill Moved 4-1

After surviving a kill motion, LB692, sponsored by Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, was advanced 4-1 to the legislative floor by the Juciciary Committee.

The bill would put to voters a constitutional amendment permitting the Legislature to decide on what basis intangible property should be taxed.

Another bill advocating a constitutional amendment was axed 5-0. LB409, introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, would have exempted from intangible-property taxes those trusts which have as their purpose the funding of pensions, profit-sharing or other employe benefit plans.

The committee advanced to general file a bill redefining the word "accident" in the workmen's compensation law.

LB497, as amended, would not appreciably broaden the compensation law.

At the bill's public hearing, proponents agreed that redefinition was necessary because the original intent of the compensation act had been whittled away by several years of judicial decisions.

The committee also advanced LB427. The measure, introduced chiefly by Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion, would make it possible to nominate members of boards of education through a primary election as well as by convention and caucus.

Advanced also was LB488, providing conditions under which a nonresident alien may take property in Nebraska by succession or testamentary disposition.

The committee is still holding a pair of bills related to motor vehicle voilations.

PARK MANOR

Roll out the air conditioners and fill up the ice trays, it looks like spring has decided to assert itself! Temperatures are soaring, people are already complaining, and suburban residents seem bound and determined to keep in step with the weather by sporting soaring social schedules.

Park Manor youngsters had the chance to demonstrate their talents recently when 10 of them performed at a piano recital for their parents and immediate family members at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Joseph Krause.

Those pupils performing on Sunday afternoon were Jim Yates, Terry Sikyta, Sandy, Doug, Jim, and Pat Peter, Shelley Harris, Mary Lee Holdt, and Marsha and Linda Misle.

Proud parents attending the recital were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sikyta, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peter, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Holdt, and Mr. and Mrs. Abram Misle.

Following the youngsters' performances, Mrs. Krause and her pupils served refreshments.

A visitor in the neighborhood this week has been Mrs. Anne Miller, of Fall River, Wis., who has been a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Miller.

Mrs. Miller returned to Fall River on Wednesday evening after spending a week with her son, and his wife and their children, Billy, Barbara, Teddy, Karen, and David.

A birthday, incidentally, is fast approaching in the Miller household, for young Miss Barbara Miller will be celebrating her sixth anniversary on Tuesday. A party is planned for that afternoon, and several young neighbors and classmates will be helping Barbara celebrate the special occasion.

Presently enjoying the warm weather and hoping that it will continue during the weekend are Park Manor residents Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wagener who plan to spend Saturday and Sunday at a lakeside cabin at South Bend.

Mr. and Mrs. Wagener spent last weekend at the lake, but reported that the fishing "wasn't so good," so they'll be off to try their luck again this week.

If she had known that they were coming, she would have baked a cake, but it would have been wasted effort as Mrs. Gene Stoll could tell you. Mrs. Stall's surprise guests on Monday evening brought the cake and all the trimmings along when they came to celebrate her birthday.

Neighbors honoring the Monday evening celebrant with the surprise birthday coffee were Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barolw, and Mr. and Mrs. Justin Tallman.

And it seems that the neighborhood has at least four physical fitness enthusiasts these days, for we've had reports that grade school and junior high students are no longer the only bicycle riders in Park Manor.

The presumption is affirmed by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dean and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Devaney, who tell us that they each have their own bicycle now and are greatly enjoying their after-dinner rides each evening.

In Park Manor for a brief stay this week were Oakland, Calif. residents Mr. and Mrs. John Wagers, who were guests of Mr. Wagers' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hawley. The visitors, who stopped off en route to California from a trip abroad, thought it only proper and fitting that Lincoln should be in on the return trip, since they left from here for Europe last November—right after they had been the Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hawley.

KIMBALLCREST

A visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Wickham this week has been Mrs. Wickham's cousin, Mrs. Harry Johnson. Mrs. Johnson, who is an O'Neill resident, arrived in Lincoln last Saturday and returned to her home on Tuesday.

"Missing" from the neighborhood are former Kimballcrest residents Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Doll who, with their two-year-old son, David, recently have moved into a new home.

Their new address is 4451 So. 45th St.

Mothers' Club

An 11 o'clock brunch at the Lincoln Country Club will be held Thursday morning by the Sigma Chi Alliance. New officers will be elected at the meeting.

Club Dinner

Meeting for dinner on Thursday evening at the YWCA will be the members of the Lincoln Business and Professional Women's Club.

During the dinner, a program of music will be presented by Mrs. Ernest Wedgwood, followed by reports on the recent state convention of the Nebraska B, PW Federation at Beatrice.

NU Faculty Wives Entertain

Entertaining on Wednesday at their annual party honoring the wives of the University of Nebraska College of Medicine faculty were the members of the University's Faculty Wives Club, who were hostesses at a 11 o'clock brunch at the Nebraska Center.

Also special guests were Mrs. Frank Morrison, Mrs. Clifford Hardin, State Senator Fern Orme, and the wives of Nebraska state legislators.

From the left are Mrs. Don Thompson of McCook; Mrs. J. P. Tollman of Omaha, whose husband is dean of the College of Medicine; Mrs. Royce Knapp, new president of the Faculty Wives; Mrs. Frank Morrison; Mrs. Clifford Hardin; Mrs. Robert Ross, president of the Faculty Wives Newcomers; and Mrs. M. M. Musselman of Omaha, president of the Medical College Faculty Women.

New Board For Mrs. JayCees

New board members were introduced on Wednesday evening when the Mrs. JayCees, an organization for the wives of Junior Chamber of Commerce members, held their monthly meeting at the Security Mutual Bldg.

Later in the month, new officers of the organization will be selected from among the members of the board.

Why Grow Old?

Diet Day Again

Josephine Lowman

So many women remain just five to 19 pounds away from a truly lovely figure. This viewpoint is understandable since five to 10 pounds is not enough overweight to be extremely distressing.

However, even this much can make a woman feel uncomfortable in her clothes and deny her the pleasure of a sleek slim feeling. Also she should lose any overweight for best health and top energy.

As most of you know, I am bringing you my 9-Day Reducing Diet this week. If you wish to use one of the low calorie salad dressings instead of lemon juice on your salads, go ahead. This will add little to your daily calorie count.

Increase Pleasure

You might recall the value of herbs in seasoning when you are counting calories. Also, you can save calories and increase eating pleasure by serving broccoli with lemon juice and spinach with vinegar. The latter will be even tastier if served with wine tarragon vinegar.

Because many of you will want to do your shopping now, I will give you the menus for Friday and Saturday.

BREAKFAST
One egg
One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast
Black coffee
LUNCHEON
Fresh fruit salad
Two tablespoons cottage cheese
One glass skimmed milk
One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast
DINNER
Baked fish, medium portion
One-half cup cabbage lightly cooked
One-half cup spinach or greens
One glass skimmed milk
One Orange

Here are the menus for Saturday:

Many folks sit for an entire evening in front of a television set. Doctors have warned that this may actually be dangerous for anyone who has a tendency toward the formation of blood clots. It isn't good for anyone. Why not get up and take a brisk walk about the room every once in a while?

If you would like to have my 9-Day Reducing Diet which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of the Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Neb.

Sewing Hint: Many women complain that they frequently clip too far on seam allowances on curves or inside corners. If you have difficulty, try placing a pin directly on the stitching on curves or across the inside point. Your scissors will then hit the pin before you clip too far.

Q. Why do some instructions direct you to top-stitch the waistline seam of a dress? —Mrs. P. F.

A. This reinforces the seam and helps keep it from stretching if you haven't used ribbon on the inside. Also it gives your dress a smoother finish when worn without a belt.

Q. I would like to use cord inserted in shirring on some decorations at home. How is it done?—Mrs. P. J.

A. First, buy cable cord. Encase a strip of it in the fabric by folding the fabric over the cord. Baste the fabric closely over the cord. Using the cording foot machine attachment and a very long stitch, stitch together close to the cord. To get the shirring, draw up the thread and push the fabric back on the cord until it is as full as you wish.

Q. I'm making some lightweight summer dresses with button fronts for my little daughter. (They are of the shirtwaist type.) The fabric is light, but not sheer. After washing and wearing, the fabric underneath the buttons always tears. What can be done other than interfacing down the entire front?—Mrs. L. L. S.

A. Using a strong cotton or muslin, cut two strips 1 inch longer than the distance from the top to the bottom button, and one inch wider than the buttonholes. Baste to wrong side of fabric. Apply your facings, make the buttonholes and sew on the buttons. Then, remove the basting stitches. This should reinforce both button and buttonhole sides where there is so much stress and strain.

Q. I have never made a complete garment before and an very anxious to learn how to sew well. I have a beautiful piece of silk brocade and wonder if I'm able to make a simple dress out of it even though I'm not expert. —MRS. W. O.

A. No! Don't take the chance of ruining such expensive fabric. Before you tackle elegant materials that need special handling, practice making a few things in plain, medium-weight wools, linens or cottons that are easy to work with. Stick to plain colors. Avoid prints, plaids, checks, stripes and any fabrics with a pattern. If these come out well then you can make your brocade dress.

The bidding:

Opening lead — five of hearts.

Assume you are declarer and West leads a heart which you win with the queen. You don't see the East-West hands, of course, and the problem is how to play the hand so as to give yourself the best chance of making the contract.

Actually, there is a way of playing the hand to practically insure the contract against any distribution of the East-West cards, but yet it would be easy to make a mistake and go down.

A fairly normal reaction would be to lead the jack of diamonds and finesse. This would work out badly in the actual deal, because East would take the king and return a heart. West's hearts would thus become established, and when you later took a club finesse, you'd go down one.

A different way of playing the hand would be to enter dummy at trick two with a spade and take a club finesse. There is a good chance of being defeated on this line of play also, because West could take the king and return the ten of spades, permitting East to overtake with the jack and thus establish his long spades. East would later get in with the king of diamonds and run his spades to defeat the contract a trick.

The best way of playing the hand is to lead the jack of clubs at trick two. If the jack is refused, you then play the jack of diamonds and finesse. This guarantees at least nine tricks.

If the jack of clubs is won by the king, you are still on safe ground. Take the actual case. West wins with the king and returns a heart, which you duck. You win the next heart and now take the diamond finesse.

East wins, but since he has no heart to return, you make four notrump. Note that if East had a heart to lead, which would mean he started with four of them, you would still make three notrump, losing only two hearts, a club and a diamond.

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I work in a factory with many girls. One day last week one of the girls had what she called a "Charlie Horse" in the calf of her leg. Our foreman (a married man of about 55) said his wife got them all the time and he knew how to get rid of them. Well, this girl (she is also married) let the foreman massage her leg! That very evening all the other girls went home on time and the foreman asked this one girl with the "Charlie Horse" to stay. She got an hour's "overtime" pay. What do you think about that?

WORKING GIRL

DEAR WORKING GIRL: I would have to know more about the girl, the foreman, the "overtime"—and you!

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that women cannot bear to see a happy, moderately well-to-do bachelor enjoy his freedom without wanting to ruin everything for him by getting him married to a "lovely woman" (either themselves or a friend) who is looking for a lifetime of support, or a father for her noisy, spoiled brats?

I am 41 and perfectly contented to remain a bachelor for the rest of my life. And I know many other bachelors who feel the same way. I wish these women would leave us happy, hard-working bachelors alone once we have refused their advances on the subject of marriage. You probably won't publish this, but if you do, sign me—

J.

DEAR J.: The next time a woman tries to interest you in marriage (for herself or a friend), recite your little speech to her and that will be all, brother!

Why Grow Old?

Josephine Lowman

So many women remain just five to 19 pounds away from a truly lovely figure. This viewpoint is understandable since five to 10 pounds is not enough overweight to be extremely distressing.

However, even this much can make a woman feel uncomfortable in her clothes and deny her the pleasure of a sleek slim feeling. Also she should lose any overweight for best health and top energy.

As most of you know, I am bringing you my 9-Day Reducing Diet this week. If you wish to use one of the low calorie salad dressings instead of lemon juice on your salads, go ahead. This will add little to your daily calorie count.

Increase Pleasure

You might recall the value of herbs in seasoning when you are counting calories. Also, you can save calories and increase eating pleasure by serving broccoli with lemon juice and spinach with vinegar. The latter will be even tastier if served with wine tarragon vinegar.

Because many of you will want to do your shopping now, I will give you the menus for Friday and Saturday.

BREAKFAST
One egg
One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast
Black coffee
LUNCHEON
Fresh fruit salad
Two tablespoons cottage cheese
One glass skimmed milk
One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast
DINNER

Families Of Servicemen, Diplomats On Haiti Evacuated

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Families has been critical of the Uni- of American servicemen and diplomatic officials in Haiti were evacuated by air to the United States Wednesday as the U.S. Navy put on an apparent show of strength by sending ships and Marines into Gonave Bay, at Port au Prince.

The converted aircraft carrier Boxer led a squadron of Navy ships and 2,000 Marines to the very fringes of Haitian waters while two Pan American planes airlifted 178 American wives and children from the troubled island of Hispaniola.

Tension between the Haitian regime of President Francois Duvalier and the neighboring Dominican Republic prompted the U.S. government order for Americans to evacuate.

Some of the evacuees, convinced the trouble was temporary, said they would stay in the Miami area, hopeful of an early return to their husbands in Haiti. Most, however, planned to journey to homes of relatives at scattered points around the country.

The Americans had seen little of the violence reported in Haiti in recent week, stating they had followed orders and stayed close to home. One woman, however, was arrested when she refused to let a male soldier search her.

Another woman said her house had been broken into and personal belongings stolen. Most of the women had driven through roadblocks manned by Duvalier's dread secret police, the Ton Ton Macoute.

Mrs. Helen Sumrall, Williamsburg, Va., wife of a Marine sergeant, was held at a police station 2½ hours after she told a lieutenant who attempted to search her to "keep your dirty hands off me." She was told she was arrested because she had refused to let her car be searched.

House Broken Into

Mrs. Kenneth Gilliam of house was broken into Tuesday night while they slept.

"They even came into our bedroom and took his shoes from beside the bed. My purse and billfold were taken from a closet. They took the money and we found the purse and papers scattered around on the patio after we got up at 5:30 a.m.

"They had even taken the lights out of the patio, in case we woke up and tried to flip on the lights."

Early Wednesday morning the Americans gathered up the few belongings they would be able to take with them and drove to Bowen Field.

They were jammed elbow-to-elbow in the steamy hot and dark terminal building for about 3 hours until Haitian immigration officers processed their papers, flight tickets were made up and their plane was ready for boarding.

U.S. Ambassador Raymond L. Thurston was driven to the field to watch the evacuation.

Iowa Unit OKs Hiked Taxes Bill

Des Moines (AP) — A package $45.2 million tax increase and property tax relief bill, financed principally by a one per cent sales tax boost, passed the Iowa Senate 28-22 late Wednesday.

The measure, completed after 3 days of consideration, was returned to the House for action on Senate amendments.

The Senate voted to spend $44 million of the anticipated amount in additional revenue for school aid, agricultural land tax credits and property tax relief.

Would Add

An amendment to the revenue bill would add $10 million a year for agricultural land tax credits, $10 million for direct state aid to schools and divert $24 million into a property tax relief fund created by the measure. The amendment was adopted 37-13.

The last legislature appropriated $11.25 million annually for ag land credits and $39 million a year in school aid.

Money from the property tax relief fund would be distributed to counties to be credited against property tax bills. The amount credited would be baseed on assessed valuation.

Tax Increase

Primary sources of the revenue are a sales tax increase from two to 3%, netting $38 million a year; extending the sales tax to hotels and motels, $1.4 million; hiking the use tax from two to 3%, $4.3 million; and raising the corporation income tax from 3 to 4%, $1.6 million.

The bill would repeal all of the 6-mill monies and credits tax except one mill pledged to retire Korean War bonus bonds. To repace this revenue it would collect a 2% surtax, in addition to income tax, on income from dividends and interest.

Cops Spot Skeleton

Ceva, Italy (UPI) — Highway patrolmen stopped Giancarlo Costa, 21, when they spotted a human skeleton sitting upright on the rear seat of his car. He was released, however, when a local surgeon testified that the skeleton came from a medical laboratory. Costa, a university student from Genoa, said the skeleton was used by a local school and he was taking it to his university for fellow-students.

Des Moines (AP) — A package $45 2 million tax increase and property tax relief bill, financed principally by a one per cent sales tax boost, passed the Iowa Senate 28-22 late Wednesday

The measure, completed after 3 days of consideration, was returned to the House for action on Senate amendments

The Senate voted to spend $44 million of the anticipated amount in additional revenue for school aid, agricultural land tax credits and property tax relief

Would Add

An amendment to the revenue bill would add $10 million a year for agricultural land tax credits, $10 million for direct state aid to schools and divert $24 million into a property tax relief fund created by the measure The amendment was adopted 37-13

The last legislature appropriated $11 25 million annually for ag land credits and $39 million a year in school aid

Money from the property tax relief fund would be distributed to counties to be credited against property tax bills The amount credited would be based on assessed valuation

Tax Increase

Primary sources of the revenue are a sales tax increase from two to 3%, netting $38 million a year, extending the sales tax to hotels and motels, $1 4 million, hiking the use tax from two to 3%, $4 3 million, and raising the corporation income tax from 3 to 4%, $1 6 million

The bill would repeal all of the 6 mill monies and credits tax except one mill pledged to retire Korean War bonus bonds To repace this revenue it would collect a 2% surtax, in addition to income tax, on income from dividends and interest

Cops Spot Skeleton

Ceva, Italy (UPI) — Highway patrolmen stopped Giancarlo Costa 21, when they spotted a human skeleton sitting upright on the rear seat of his car He was released, however, when a local surgeon testified that the skeleton came from a medical laboratory Costa, a university student from Genoa, said the skeleton was used by a local school and he was taking it to his university for fellow students

OAS Chairman Fears Crisis In Haiti Might Get Worse

Washington (UPI) — The chairman of the Organization of American States (OAS) said Wednesday the Haitian crisis may worsen if the Duvalier regime does not permit political refugees to leave the country unhindered.

The full OAS council, meeting again in emergency session, at the same time issued a new appeal to Haiti and the Dominican Republic to refrain from any threat or use of force that may aggravate the 11-day-old crisis.

Asserting its priority in the tense situation, the council unanimously agreed to enlarge and broaden the powers of its 5-man fact-finding mission to try to keep the neighboring Caribbean island republics from drifting into war.

Late Wednesday, the OAS sent a newly strengthened truce team to New York City to appeal to Haiti not to drag its dispute with the Dominican Republic into the United Nations.

The team, led by OAS chairman Gonzales Facio of Costa Rica, left on its hastily organized mission aboard a commercial airline shuttle flight.

But they were too late to stop Haitian Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers, who already had presented his government's charges at a special session of the U.N. Security Council called at Haiti's request.

Costa Rican Ambassador Gonzalo Facio, the OAS chairman, said the government of Haitian President Francois Duvalier had not complied with a pledge it gave the original OAS mission last week to assure the safety of political refugees in asylum in the Dominican Embassy in Port Au Prince.

If Haiti does not act quickly to permit the refugees unhindered exit from the country, Facio said, the situation could get worse.

Facio also said Dominican President Juan Bosch had promised he would take no rash action while the OAS was seeking to resolve the crisis.

Morrison Flies To Fete Truman On Birthday

Nebraska Gov. Frank B. Morrison Wednesday flew to Kansas City, Mo., to attend a birthday luncheon for former President Harry S. Truman.

Both Morrison and Truman are Democrats.

Foster Will Try To Strike ETV Levy

Sen Clifton Foster of Bradshaw Wednesday revealed that he will attempt to amend statewide educational television (ETV) network legislation to strike its proposed special property-tax levy financing features.

Foster said he will propose the amendment at a special executive session of the Legislature's Education Committee scheduled Thursday at 1:15 p.m.

The committee amended a companion bill Wednesday to permit the proposed ETV commission to contract with telephone companies for leased interconnections.

Headed For Defeat

Pending when the legislative unit adjourned was a motion to further amend LB667 to bind the state to lease all transmission equipment in the future from telephone companies. That motion appeared headed for defeat.

The financing measure, LB666, will be considered Thursday.

Foster said his amendment would set up an ETV fund which would be financed "in a sum as appropriated by the Legislature."

This, he suggested, would be "consistent with the philosophy of the Budget Committee," whose members have criticized special levies.

Justify Expenditures

"It is my feeling that these (ETV) people should have to justify to the Budget Committee and the Legislature their expenditures just like anyone else," Foster said.

"I am certain that Senator Marvel would agree."

Marvel, chairman of the budget unit, is chief sponsor of LB666 and LB667.

Under Marvel's proposed plan, the ETV network would be financed by a special levy totaling .24 mill in 1963, .37 mill in 1964, .24 mill in 1965, and .13 mill thereafter as a continuing annual operating levy.

Foster said his earlier plan to finance the network by using a part of the school land money ran into constitutional objections.

Deny Equity

An attorney general's opinion, authored by Asst. Atty. Gen. Harold Mosher, states, "We are of the opinion that any legislation purporting to use any or all of the temporary school funds for ETV would be unconstitutional."

Mosher wrote that such use "would deny the common schools of this state . . . an equitable distribution of the income of the fund set apart for their support and maintenance."

Foster said he was "extremely disappointed" with the objection, since such financing "would, in my opinion, be acceptable to most people."

Foster said he will also propose to amend the ETV measures to abolish their connection with the state's 1967 centennial celebration.

7 Senators, Two Of Lincoln, Alter Their Votes On LB600

Seven senators, including two Lincoln lawmakers, changed positions Wednesday when the Legislature reconsidered and killed LB600.

Sens. Fern Hubbard Orme and Marvin E. Stromer, both of Lincoln, and Sen. George Fleming of Sidney switched from a Tuesday vote to revive the bill to a Wednesday vote not to revive.

Changing from an "aye" vote to no position were Sens. Eugene Mahoney and William Skarda, both of Omaha.

Switching from not voting to a "no" vote were Sens. Elvin Adamson of Nenzel and W. H. Hasebroock of West Point.

'Was Committed'

Senator Orme told The Star that her Tuesday vote was cast in line with a commitment she made to help revive LB600 if the vote was tight.

"I was simply keeping my word yesterday," she said.

Mrs. Orme noted that she had announced her opposition to enactment of the bill Tuesday, and was "following through" with that position in casting her Wednesday vote.

Stromer said he changed because he is "firmly convinced that LB600, in any form, would not have sufficient strength to become law."

Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney said he cast an "aye" vote for reconsideration, thus breaking a 21-21 deadlock, "because a legislative committee had killed the bill and the committees should be sustained."

Otherwise, he asked, "what is the use of having committee action?"

Has No Position

Burney said he has no position on the bill itself.

In the aftermath of the demise of LB600, Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City said he will attempt to amend LB220 — the power review board bill—to "make a stronger board with more authority."

Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington said he will now make no attempt to raise LB476, the 5-area power district reorganization proposal.

Vote on the motion to reconsider LB600:

For: Bahensky, Brandt, Craft, Fleming, Foster, Hasebroock, Kjar, Lysinger, McGinley, Moulton, Orme, Payne, Gottschalk, E. Rasmussen, R. Rasmussen, Russillo, Stalder, Stromer, Syas, Warner, Wylie.

Against: Adamson, Bowen, Bridenbaugh, Burbach, Carpenter, Claussen, Damrow, Danner, Erlewine, Forrester, Gerdes, Gerhart, Kremer, Mahoney, Marvel, Nelson, Reeves, Ruhnke, Skarda, Stryker, Thompson.

Not Voting: Klaver.

Vote on the motion to revive LB600:

Low Bids For 5 City Projects Are Seen At City Hall

Apparent low bids totalling $59,116.40 for 5 city projects —including arterial street relighting for West O—were opened Wednesday at City Hall.

City officials said recommendations on the bids would be made Monday to the City Council.

Commonwealth Electric Co. was apparent low bidder at $18,700 for the West O relighting project from the Salt Creek bridge west to the start of the U.S. 6 median.

The project was estimated at $20,000. Other bidders were ABC Electric, $22,100, and Mason Electric Co., $19,380.

Apparent low bids on other projects:

—N. L. Cole Construction Co., $10,912, for a 12-inch water main in Holdrege from 70th to Lancaster Lane, compared with Dobson Bros. Construction Co., $11,320, and H. R. Bookstrom Construction Co., $11,760.

—Cole, $21,427 for 12-inch main in Holdrege from 56th to 62nd, compared with Dobson Bros., $22,000, and Bookstrom, $22,312.

—Cole, $3,227.40 for a storm sewere between 50th and 52nd, J to L, compared with Bookstrom, $3,500, and Dobson, $3,610.

—ABC Electric, $4,850, for underground electric service to police garage and street lighting on 9th, compared with Commonwealth Electric, $5,490.

Low Bids For 5 City Projects Are Seen At City Hall

Apparent low bids totalling $59,116.40 for 5 city projects —including arterial street relighting for West O—were opened Wednesday at City Hall.

City officials said recommendations on the bids would be made Monday to the City Council.

Commonwealth Electric Co. was apparent low bidder at $18,700 for the West O relighting project from the Salt Creek bridge west to the start of the U.S. 6 median.

The project was estimated at $20,000. Other bidders were ABC Electric, $22,100, and Mason Electric Co., $19,380.

Apparent low bids on other projects:

—N. L. Cole Construction Co., $10,012, for a 12-inch water main in Holdrege from 70th to Lancaster Lane, compared with Dobson Bros. Construction Co., $11,329, and H. R. Bookstrom Construction Co., $11,760.

—Cole, $21,427 for 12-inch main in Holdrege from 56th to 62nd, compared with Dobson Bros., $22,000, and Bookstrom, $22,372.

—Cole, $3,227.40 for a storm sewere between 50th and 52nd, J to L, compared with Bookstrom, $3,500, and Dobson, $3,810.

—ABC Electric, $4,850, for underground electric service to police garage and street lighting on 9th, compared with Commonwealth Electric, $5,490.

Normal Board Tells Its Need For Funds

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Normal Board member Carl Spelts of Kearney told the Budget Committee Wednesday that the board was "about out of things to do" to carry out programs at the 4 teachers colleges unless an adequate budget is provided.

The total request in property - tax - supported general funds for the coming biennium is $9,324,000 to operate the 4 colleges, the Normal Board and the office of its executive coordinator.

This compares with $6,155,992 in general funds appropriated to the board for the current two-year period, and the new request amounts to a 51½% increase over the last allocation.

The board has requested cash fund appropriations totaling $3,889,124 for 1963-65, an increase of 23% over the $3,129,000 in cash funds appropriated for the current biennium.

Enrollment Tripled

Spelts told the committee that enrollment at the 4 colleges has tripled over the past 10 years, attributable in part to the fact that a greater percentage of high school students are now going on to college.

This factor, coupled with the population growth, indicates it is reasonable to assume that enrollments this fall will be up at least 10% over the current figures, he continued.

Approximately 5,500 full-time students are now enrolled at the colleges, he said, with 6,000 anticipated for next fall; 7,000 expected in the fall of 1964, and 9,000 estimated for the fall of 1965.

"Last biennium (1961-63) we weren't allocated enough money to carry out our program as we would have liked," Spelts said.

Explains Steps

"We experienced the increased enrollments which were predicted then. In fact we surpassed our predictions. The obvious question is, 'how did you get along,'" he continued, and then explained steps taken by the board.

—Increased tuition for resident students from $90 to $100 for students carrying 12 to 16 hours, with those carrying more than 16 hours charged a fee of $9 per hour for each hour over 16; increased non-resident tuition from $140 to $150, charging them $13.50 per hour for each hour carried over 16 hours.

—The board eliminated the junior and senior high schools from the campus schools at Chadron and Wayne.

—It eliminated the issuance of scholarships to each high school in the state, a practice of many years standing. It was replaced with a "very modest and generally unsatisfactory plan" of issuing scholarships only to those schools in which practice teaching students are permitted to work.

—All summer sessions have been placed on an hourly basis with a specific fee charged for each hour carried.

—It established a policy of making a greater charge for graduate work than for undergraduate work—"a practice not carried on by the University of Nebraska."

—Every effort has been made to eliminate small classes.

No Grants

Spelts said the 4 teachers colleges receive no grants or endowments of any kind, and that its programs are financed entirely with tax and cash funds.

Spelling out their needs for the next biennium, Spelts emphasized the need for salary increases for the faculty of the colleges.

Salaries in all 4 colleges are "far below the average for the Midwestern area," he said, adding that comparative studies with other states show the 4 colleges are "losing ground each year in an effort to be competitive."

He also cited the average teaching load of teachers college instructors of 15 hours, adding, "It doesn't take a Ph.D. to know that faculty members at other colleges and universities teach less hours and get more pay, and this simple fact throws our colleges into an uncompetitive situation when recruiting new staff."

Spelts said the Normal Board was interested in the quality of the 4 institutions, adding that the total program could be "so much more effective if we were allocated a realistic budget."

Try To Raise Carpenter Power Measure Fails

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff fell 4 votes short Wednesday in his effort to revive LB483, a public power reorganization bill.

The measure, sponsored by Carpenter, would combine the boards of directors of Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

It was killed by the Public Works Committee on a 5-2 vote.

Carpenter argued that the bill provides "the simplest, most direct and most easily understood method" of securing reorganization of Nebraska's electric generation and transmission agencies.

Another advantage of the proposal, he said, is that "it is the only reorganization plan which can be completely disengaged if it doesn't work."

Not Costly

It is a constitutional proposal, and it would not require costly refinancing of outstanding bonds, Carpenter pointed out.

If the bill was revived, he said, he would offer two additional amendments:

—to provide an effective date of July 1, 1964 so as to allow time for a court test of the measure.

—to require municipalities now served by the wholesale districts to purchase all of their power requirements from the new agency.

As for Consumers and the City of Lincoln, Carpenter suggested that the bill's provisions would allow a suitable solution of their competitive retail problem.

Lincoln, he said, could acquire CPPD's Lincoln distribution system by paying off its share of the bonds which will be retired in 1972.

25-year Contract

Then, Lincoln and Consumers could enter into a 25-year contract whereby the city would pledge to buy all its power requirements, except that which it is now generating, from CPPD, or the merged district.

Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City, whose LB600 was raised Tuesday with Carpenter's aid, supported the motion:

LB483, he said, would require "substantial amendments" if it were to be enacted. But, Stryker pointed out, "we cannot forestall our responsibilities" in solving wholesale power problems.

Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha opposed the motion, contending that it would "cause a lot of jockeying" on the floor between LB600 and LB483.

LB600 would merge the properties of CPPD's eastern system, the Nebraska Public Power System and the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative Inc.

Vote on the motion to revive:

For: Brandt, Burbach, Carpenter, Claussen, Danner, Erlewine, Forrester, Kjar, Kremer, Mahoney, Marvel, Nelson, Reeves, Ruhnke, Skarda, Stromer, Stryker, Syas.

Against: Adamson, Bahensky, Bowen, Bridenbaugh, Craft, Damrow, Foster, Gerdes, Gerhart, Hasebroock, McGinley, Moulton, Orme, Payne, Gottschalk, E. Rasmussen, R. Rasmussen, Russillo, Stalder, Thompson, Warner, Wylie.

Not Voting: Fleming, Klaver, Lysinger.

Party Convention Selection Of State Delegates Passed

Nebraska delegates-at-large to national political conventions will be chosen at state party conventions instead of being elected on primary election ballots each 4 years under terms of a bill passed 36-4 at the State Legislature Wednesday.

Also passed was a bill increasing the filing fees for public office.

The convention delegate bill, LB432, was introduced by Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln.

Originally, LB432 also provided for changing the state's primary election date from May to September, but Stromer concurred in dropping this provision to make it a bill solely dealing with delegates.

The state party convention at which delegates-at-large will be chosen must be held not later than June 1. Convention delegates chosen from congressional districts would continue to be elected on primary ballots.

The bill increasing filing fees, LB540, was introduced by Sens. Matt Wylie of Elgin, George Syas of Omaha and Stromer and approved 42-1.

At present, it costs $50 to file for U.S. Senator; $10 to file for state or congressional office, Supreme or District Court judgeships and power district directorships, and $5 for county and city offices.

Under LB540, the filing fee for most offices, including county offices, will be 1% of the annual salary for the position. In the case of power district directors, the fee remains at $10; for city offices, $5.

No filing fee is required for members of the State Board of Education under the bill.

Altogether, 4 bills were passed on final reading eWdnesday. The list (Emergency clause):

LB580 (Russillo, Mahoney, Skarda) — Authorizing airport authorities to issue limited obligation bonds in addition to general obligation bonds. (E) (42-1)

LB540 (Wylie, Syas, Stromer) — Increasing filing fees for candidates for public office but exempting candidates for State Board of Education from filing fees. (42-1)

LB432 (Stromer) — Providing that delegates to national party conventions shall be chosen at quadrennial party conventions. (36-4)

LB268 (Gerdes, Bowen, R. Rasmussen) —Creating a livestock auction market board and providing for regulation of livestock auction markets. (37-6)

Bill To Regulate Livestock Auction Markets Passed

A voluminous bill for the regulation of livestock auction markets in Nebraska was passed 37-6 on final reading in the State Legislature Wednesday.

The measure, LB268, replaces a 1961 act held to be unconstitutional.

Introducers of the so-called "Nebraska Livestock Auction Market Development Act" provided by LB268 were Sens. George C. Gerdes of Alliance, Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud and Ross H. Rasmussen of Hooper.

Under the act, which will take effect Aug. 1 if the governor signs the bill, livestock auction markets would require licenses.

Administration of the act would be under a new "Livestock Auction Market Board" consisting of the State Agriculture director, state veterinarian and a livestock auction market operator appointed by the governor.

The board would consider such factors as financial stability, needs for the service and adequacy of facilities before granting licenses to new or additional markets. Grounds for revocation of a license also are set out.

Reclamation Resolution Introduced

A resolution urging Congress to authorize construction of the Mid-State Reclamation Project in Nebraska as a unit of the Missouri River Basin Project was introduced in the Legislature Wednesday.

Sens. T. C. Reeves of Central City, Richard Lysinger of Ravenna and Don Thompson of McCook brought in the resolution, No. 37.

In line with Unicameral rules, action was deferred for at least one day.

The 550,000-acre project involving land in Buffalo, Hall and Merrick Counties is estimated to cost $81 million.

"There is now pending before the 88th Congress, Senate File 388 and House Roll 64, which provide for authorization of construction of the Mid-State Project by the secretary of interior under Federal Reclamation Law," the resolution noted.

Similar legislation has been introduced at several past congressional sessions.

The resolution memorializes Congress and the Interior Committees of the Senate and House to support and approve the proposals.

Copies of the resolution would go to the Senate and House, to Sen. Henry Jackson, chairman of the Senate Interior Committee; to Rep. Wayne Aspinall, chairman of the House Interior Committee, and to Nebraska members of the House and Senate.

Missouri Basin Restudy Sought

Washington (AP) — Sens. Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis, Nebraska Republicans, asked the Senate Public Works Committee to authorize a new comprehensive study of the Missouri River Basin by the Army Engineers.

Their request came in a letter to committee Chairman Pat McNamara, (D-Mich). Committee action is enough to authorize the study.

An aide to Hruska said the new survey would bring plans for basin projects up to date.

Try To Raise Carpenter Power Measure Fails

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff fell 4 votes short Wednesday in his effort to revive LB483, a public power reorganization bill.

The measure, sponsored by Carpenter, would combine the boards of directors of Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

It was killed by the Public Works Committee on a 5-2 vote.

Carpenter argued that the bill provides "the simplest, most direct and most easily understood method" of securing reorganization of Nebraska's electric generation and transmission agencies.

Another advantage of the proposal, he said, is that "it is the only reorganization plan which can be completely disengaged if it doesn't work."

Not Costly

It is a constitutional proposal, and it would not require costly refinancing of outstanding bonds, Carpenter pointed out.

If the bill was revived, he said, he would offer two additional amendments:

—to provide an effective date of July 1, 1964 so as to allow time for a court test of the measure.

—to require municipalities now served by the wholesale districts to purchase all of their power requirements from the new agency.

As for Consumers and the City of Lincoln, Carpenter suggested that the bill's provisions would allow a suitable solution of their competitive retail problem.

Lincoln, he said, could acquire CPPD's Lincoln distribution system by paying off its share of the bonds which will be retired in 1972.

25-year Contract

Then, Lincoln and Consumers could enter into a 25-year contract whereby the city would pledge to buy all its power requirements, except that which it is now generating, from CPPD, or the merged district.

Means Of Financing Kerr-Mills Bill Proposed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Two methods of financing the Kerr-Mills medical care bill were proposed to the Legislature Wednesday.

The measure, LB100, was amended in the form proposed by the Public Health Committee, then held for further consideration next Monday.

Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, chief sponsor of the bill, proposed that state costs of $1.8 million per biennium be met through a $2 increase in the state head tax.

But, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff announced that he will attempt to tie the measure to the state income tax bill by proposing financing through funds derived by an income tax.

Home Care

Lawmakers agreed on a voice vote to add home nursing care to medical assistance covered by the bill.

LB100, introduced by 12 senators, would enroll the state in the federal Kerr-Mills program providing medical aid for needy persons over 65. Some $2.2 million in federal funds would be provided to the state during a biennium to help pay costs of the plan.

Bowen said experience in other states indicates that the legislation would serve about 820 recipients per month at an average monthly cost of $200 per patient.

Adding $2 to the present $3.50 head tax would be "a real fair way to finance" the program, Bowen said.

Shared Costs

"Everyone is entitled to care. It is everyone's responsibility to share the costs. No one should kick."

The head tax applies to persons between the ages of 21 and 60, with a few exceptions.

Bowen promised to gather additional cost information requested by Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, chairman of the Budget Committee.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, who proposed the home nursing care amendment, said it would actually reduce costs of the program by substituting for some more expensive hospital care costs.

The bill, as amended, includes care by osteopaths, chiropodists, podiatrists and optometrists.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Tigers Send Lary To Minor Leagues

. . . WILL TOIL FOR KNOXVILLE

Detroit (AP) — Frank Lary, a 23-game winner just two years ago for the Detroit Tigers, was sent to the minors Wednesday to pitch his ailing arm back into shape.

The Tigers optioned the 32-year-old right hander to Knoxville of the Sally League and hoped to have him back soon.

"I think all he needs is work, to get a chance to pitch on a regular basis," said Manager Bob Scheffing. "He's got to go down there and just cut it loose."

Frank Lary

Lary suffered from tendonitis in his shoulder last season and won only two games. He pitched in just 3 games this season and had a 2-0 record with 5.72 earned run average. He bettered the 20-victory milestone twice in his 8 full seasons with Detroit.

"I'll do what I think is best for me," said Lary.

It took considerable persuasion by General Manager Jim Campbell to convince Lary to go to Knoxville. As a veteran with more than 8 years in the major leagues, Lary's consent was needed before the Tigers could option him. The other 9 American League teams also had to waive on him.

"I talked to him before and after Tuesday night's game," said Campbell. "The guy had to swallow his pride a little bit and I admired him for it."

Lary's greatest reputation was as a Yankee-killer. He beat the New York club 28 times after joining the Tigers late in 1954. Ironically, the Yankees were in town for a Wednesday night game when Lary headed back to the minors.

"I really think the guy will be back," said Scheffing. "I think his big problem has been finding his groove."

Lary, taking his salary estimated at $35,000 back to the minors with him, reported no pain at all in his shoulder this season.

Palmer's Pappy Offers Advice

. . . ARNIE MUST 'FORGET OUTSIDE INTERESTS'

New York (AP) — Arnold Palmer got some advice from his pappy Wednesday —"Forget those outside interests and buckle down to golf."

The counsel had an implied warning tacked on: "Or Jack Nicklaus will get you."

"There's nothing wrong with Arnie's golf—he just has too many darned irons in the fire," Milfred (Deac) Palmer said, in a telephone conversation from Latrobe, Pa.

"He's got to decide whether he wants to play golf or make television films with Bob Hope. With this boy Nicklaus coming along the way he is, Arnie can't do both.

"I think he's got all the money he needs. He ought to concentrate on his golf."

Deac Palmer is professional of the sporty 9-hole Latrobe Country Club course where Palmer, the recognized king of the tournament pros, learned and developed his game.

"Pap," as Arnold calls his father, has been the golf star's only teacher. When his game starts going sour, Arnold always returns home and has his father put him back on the beam.

This happened after the Masters in which Palmer's bid for a 4th title was thwarted by young Nicklaus, the imperturbable 22-year-old heavyweight who repeated the victory last week at Las Vegas. Now the game's two outstanding stars are at grips again in the Colonial Invitation at Fort Worth, Tex.

Wrong Stance

"At the Masters, Arnie was using too closed a stance and wasn't getting his distance," Papa Palmer said. 'We straightened him up some and turned him around more so he could get more whip in his drive. He was hitting the ball pretty well when he left.

"But Arnie's trouble is not his golf, it's all these outside interests. There's always a business deal that has to be completed or a television show that has to be made. Somebody's always on his back.

"Before, Arnie could do these things and win tournaments. He got by with it. But it's different now. Nicklaus is eager and wants to win. Also, he's young, strong as an ox and good. Nothing bothers him. He seems to get better when the pressure gets tougher.

"I don't think he's a better golfer than Arnie. In fact, I know he's not. But he just doesn't have as many distractions—not yet, anyhow."

Arnold Palmer, besides his golf, is director in a score of corporations and has business interests which reportedly gross him between $500,000 and $600,000 a year.

"I don't blame Arnie for wanting to make money," Deac Palmer said. "But how much does a guy need? And this is certain—to continue making money, you've got to continue winning tournaments."

WHITE SOX IN FIRST PLACE

San Francisco Keeps Moving

. . . TWINS HIT BASEMENT

By Associated Press

Held hitless for 6 innings by Ed Rakow, the Chicago White Sox erupted for 8 runs in the 7th inning, whipped Kansas City, 8-3, Wednesday night and took over the American League lead.

Al Kaline's two-run 9th inning homer gave Detroit a 7-6 victory over the New York Yankees, Baltimore belted Boston 10-4 and Washington defeated Cleveland 6-3 in 13 innings on Don Lock's grand slam homer.

The Los Angeles Angels dropped Minnesota into last place, beating the Twins, 4-3, on Ken Hunt's tie-breaking homer in the 8th inning.

Giants Roar

In the National League, first-place San Francisco walloped Milwaukee, 12-5, the Los Angeles Dodgers thumped St. Louis, 11-5, the Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh, 9-5, Cincinnati edged Houston, 3-2, and the New York Mets downed Philadelphia, 3-2.

The key hits in the White Sox uprising were a two-run double by Pete Ward and a 3-run double by J. C. Martin. Kaline's homer won it for the Tigers after the Yankees had moved ahead, 6-5, in the 7th inning on Tom Tresh's second homer of the night.

Brooks Robinson led a 17-hit Orioles attack with 3 singles and a double as Steve Barber coasted to his 6th victory and shoved the Red Sox out of first place.

Lock's grand slam capped a 5-run outburst that gave the Senators victory to Don Rudolph, who allowed only one hit for 12 innings and retired 25 Indians in order.

The Giants won their 8th in 9 games with a 7-run outburst in the 4th built on 5 hits and sloppy Milwaukee fielding. Willie Davis hit two homers and a triple and Jim Gilliam slammed a 3-run homer as the Dodgers overwhelmed the Cardinals.

The Cubs won their 4th straight when Nelson Mathews' homer started a 4-run 8th inning rally against the Pirates. Joe Nuxhall's 7-hit pitching and a two-run single by Johnny Edwards got the job done for the Reds against the Colts. Jay Hook limited the Phillies to 4 hits and set up the Mets' winning run with a 9th inning double.

PIMLICO ARRIVAL

Chateaugay, the surprise Kentucky Derby winner, arrives at Pimlico Wednesday for his next engagement in the $150,000-added Preakness on May 18. Groom Goldie Snell, leads the Darby Dan Farm colt off the van.

—JOHANSSON TO RETIRE—

Swede Thinks Incentive Gone

Stockholm (AP)—Ingemar Johansson, former world heavyweight boxing champion, says he's fed up with glory and through with boxing.

The handsome 29-year-old Swede, who knocked out Floyd Patterson in 1959 to win the heavyweight title, announced his retirement Wednesday.

"I have thought it over and there's nothing left that incites me to go on boxing," he told the newspaper Aftonbladet. "I like boxing, but I don't have to do it for money any more and I am fed up with glory."

In Geneva, however, Johansson told newsmen he had not yet made a final decision but thought his rating no longer was high enough to make it worth while to continue.

"I don't need to fight for fame any more," he said. "And on the money side I can't see any interesting partners."

Johansson's last fight was against Britain's Brian London April 21 in Stockholm. Ingemar won a narrow decision in the 12-round none-title bout but was knocked down in the final seconds and saved by the bell.

Afterward, the Swedish Boxing Association barred him from European rings for a month until his physical condition could be thoroughly examined and approved.

"We don't mean actually to bar him from the ring," the association said. "He still has a lot of guts, but he needs an examination just to make sure he's fit for another fight."

Johansson was chagrined at the action.

"Tell them to mind their own business," he said. "I rely on my own medical experts."

Ingemar, a member of Sweden's Olympic team in 1952, astounded boxing experts when he knocked out Patterson in the 3rd round of their title fight June 26, 1959 at New York's Polo Grounds.

His powerful right hand was dubbed "The Thunder of Thor."

Patterson became the first man in history to regain the heavyweight title by stopping Johansson in the 5th round of their return fight June 20, 1960. Patterson knocked out Johansson in the 6th round of their 3rd bout March 13, 1961 in Miami Beach, Fla.

Johansson's retirement is the second in 24 hours by a former champion.

Paul Pender, who for a period was recognized as middleweight champion in New York, Massachusetts and Europe, announced Tuesday that he has had enough. He said he was tired of contesting dual claims with Dick Tiger of Nigeria, the generally recognized 160-pound king.

London Wins Bout

Blackpool, England (AP) — Brian London, former heavyweight champion of England, scored an 8-round decision over Don Warner of Philadelphia Wednesday night.

—BAFFICO STILL SIDELINED—

Michka Slated For Top Duty

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Ron Michka, two-year letterman who has seen only limited action in spring football drills because of baseball, is likely to be in the thick of things most of the night Saturday when the Huskers wind up spring drills with an intrasquad game.

Jim Baffico, who had been the center on the No. 1 unit until injured Sunday, was still sidelined Wednesday with a knee injury and is a doubtful starter in Saturday night's All-Sports Day game.

This throws the bulk of the centering duties on Michka for the top Red unit.

Others who were injured Sunday and will miss Saturday's contest are halfback John Sebastian, center John Bishop and tackle Dennis Carlson.

The Red squad includes 12 lettermen while the Whites have 7 lettermen.

REDS

Center—Jim Baffico, Ron Michka, Allen Thorn, Don Strossnider.
Right Guard—Bob Brown, Richard Coleman, Dale Braddy, James Osberg.
Quarterback—Dennis Claridge, Dave Lebsack, Henry Woods.
Fullback—Gene Young, John Vujevich, Paul Camastro.

Center—Lyle Sittler, Walter Barnes, Steve Schaefer.
Right Guard—Duncan Drum, Don McDermott, John Abel.
Right End—Chuck Doepke, Tony Jeter, Bob Harms.
Fullback—Bruce Smith, Joe McNulty, Bill Johnson.

Press Box Seat

Coach Devaney will view the game from the press box while his aides handle the sideline coaching chores.

Piloting the Reds will be Mike Corgan, Cletus Fischer, Dallas Dyer and Tom Osborne. George Kelly, John Melton, Jim Huge and Larry Donovan will skipper the White units.

Assistant coaches Jim Ross and Carl Selmer will be on the road Saturday scouting two of next year's opponents.

New Uniforms

The Husker's new road uniforms will get their first showing in Saturday night's game with the White team wearing the new uniforms of scarlet pants and white jerseys.

The Reds will be attired in the familiar home combination of red jerseys and white pants.

Tickets On Sale

Tickets for Saturday's All-Sports Day fare may be purchased for $2 at the NU Coliseum ticket office as well as at the First National Bank, Latsch Brothers, National Bank of Commerce and Gerry's Sport Shop downtown.

Band On Hand

The finale to spring practice will have all the trimmings and color of a regular Saturday contest with the Cornhusker Marching Band putting in its appearance.

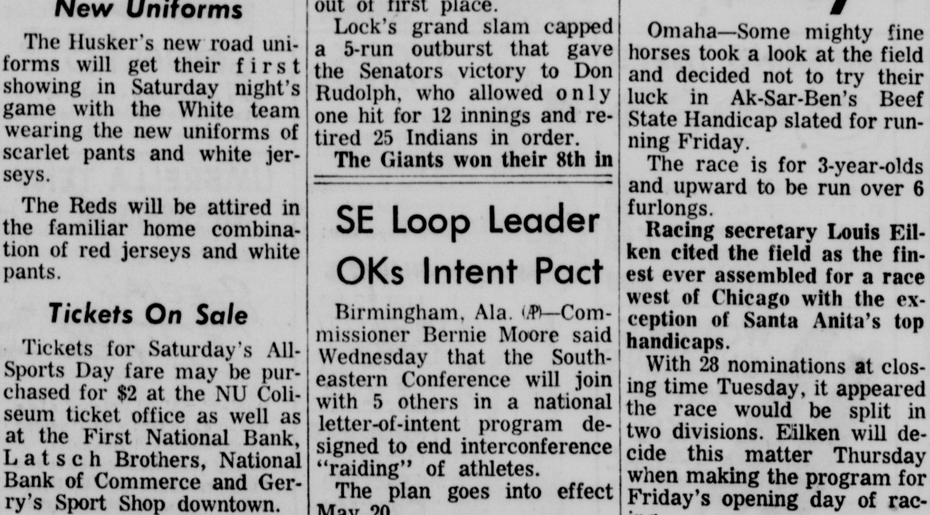

SE Loop Leader OKs Intent Pact

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)—Commissioner Bernie Moore said Wednesday that the Southeastern Conference will join with 5 others in a national letter-of-intent program designed to end interconference "raiding" of athletes.

The plan goes into effect May 20.

Other participating conferences are the Atlantic Coast, Big 8, Big 10, Missouri Valley and Southwest.

Also included in the voluntary hookup are independents Penn State, Syracuse, Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

BACK IN UNIFORM

Gene Green, the reluctant Cleveland Indian pinch hitter who jumped the team Sunday, suits up for Wednesday night's game against the Senators. The smiling bystander is manager Birdie Tebbetts who announced that Green understands he is still a pinch hitter for the Indians. Green's penalty was one day's pay and plane fare from Los Angeles.

—BEEF STATE DASH FRIDAY—

Fancy Field For Handicap

Omaha—Some mighty fine horses took a look at the field and decided not to try their luck in Ak-Sar-Ben's Beef State Handicap slated for running Friday.

The race is for 3-year-olds and upward to be run over 6 furlongs.

Racing secretary Louis Eilken cited the field as the finest ever assembled for a race west of Chicago with the exception of Santa Anita's top handicaps.

With 28 nominations at closing time Tuesday, it appeared the race would be split in two divisions. Eilken will decide this matter Thursday when making the program for Friday's opening day of racing.

Nebraska's M. H. Van Berg of Columbus nominated 4 horses for the opening handicap headed by the nationally known Bouncer. Other Van Berg nominees include Rose's Gem, Hot Cargo and Big Hill Road.

Some of the other top entries include:

Gay Revoke — Owned by W. H. (Hal) Bishop and winner of over $60,000 in purse money during 1962 including the $15,000 Ak Handicap.

Little Melody — Winner of the $15,000 Gold Cup Handicap at Ak-Sar-Ben last year.

Tondi — One of Nebraska's most popular sprinters from the J. P. Hanson stable in North Platte. Hanson and his trainer Glenn Bamford have also nominated Creole and North Platte.

Lee Town — Pace setter in the early part of the 1962 Kentucky Derby and winner of over $30,000 on the year.

Rob Roy 3rd — Two-time winner at Hialeah.

Try It — Holds mile and ⅛ record at Ak-Sar-Ben.

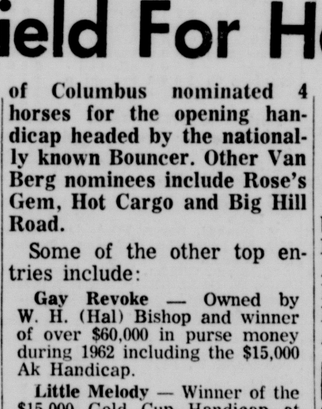

Wedded Unigus — Recently set track record at Turf Paradise in Phoenix.

Predetermined — Double winner early this year at Oaklawn Park in New Orleans.

Rounding out the field will be Mattisse, Mutuality, Toby Beldine, Marron, Challenge All, Mighty Mine, The Biscuit, Indian Sole, Summer Rain, Father Jerry, Royal Jet, Amada and Dixie Hill.

Foreign Winner

Chicle II became the first foreign-bred ever to win the Gulfstream Park Handicap. He won the race in 1950.

Tigers Send Lary To Minor Leagues

. . . WILL TOIL FOR KNOXVILLE

Detroit (AP) — Frank Lary, a 23 game winner just two years ago for the Detroit Tigers, was sent to the minors Wednesday to pitch his ailing arm back into shape

The Tigers optioned the 32 year-old right hander to Knoxville of the Sally League and hoped to have him back soon

"I think all he needs is work, to get a chance to pitch on a regular basis,' said Manager Bob Scheffing "He's got to go down there and just cut it loose"

Frank Lary

Lary suffered from tendonitis in his shoulder last season and won only two games He pitched in just 3 games this season and had a 2 0 record with 5 72 earned run average He bettered the 20 victory milestone twice in his 8 full seasons with Detroit

"I'll do what I think is best for me," said Lary

It took considerable persuasion by General Manager Jim Campbell to convince Lary to go to Knoxville As a veteran with more than 8 years in the major leagues, Lary's consent was needed before the Tigers could option him The other 9 American League teams also had to waive on him

"I talked to him before and after Tuesday night s game,' said Campbell "The guy had to swallow his pride a little bit and I admired him for it"

Lary's greatest reputation was as a Yankee killer He beat the New York club 20 times after joining the Tigers late in 1954 Ironically, the Yankees were in town for a Wednesday night game when Lary headed back to the minors

"I really think the guy will be back," said Scheffing "I think his big problem has been finding his groove"

Lary, taking his salary estimated at $35,000 back to the minors with him, reported no pain at all in his shoulder this season

Palmer's Pappy Offers Advice

. . . ARNIE MUST 'FORGET OUTSIDE INTERESTS'

New York (AP) — Arnold Palmer got some advice from his pappy Wednesday — 'Forget those outside interests and buckle down to golf"

The counsel had an implied warning tacked on "Or Jack Nicklaus will get you"

"There's nothing wrong with Arnie's golf—he just has too many damned irons in the fire," Milfred (Deac) Palmer said, in a telephone conversation from Latrobe, Pa

"He's got to decide whether he wants to play golf or make television films with Bob Hope With this boy Nicklaus coming along the way he is, Arnie can't do both

'I think he's got all the money he needs He ought to concentrate on his golf"

Deac Palmer is professional of the sporty 9 hole Latrobe Country Club course where Palmer, the recognized king of the tournament pros, learned and developed his game

"Pap," as Arnold calls his father, has been the golf star's only teacher When his game starts going sour, Arnold always returns home and has his father put him back on the beam

This happened after the Masters in which Palmer's bid for a 4th title was thwarted by young Nicklaus, the imperturbable 22-year-old heavyweight who repeated the victory last week at Las Vegas Now the game's two outstanding stars are at grips again in the Colonial Invitation at Fort Worth, Tex

Wrong Stance

"At the Masters, Arnie was using too closed a stance and wasn't getting his d stance," Papa Palmer said 'We straightened him up some and turned him around more so he could get more whip in his drive He was hitting the ball pretty well when he left

"But Arnie's trouble is not his golf, it's all these outside interests 'There's always a business deal that has to be completed or a television show that has to be made Somebody's always on his back

'Before, Arnie could do these things and win tournaments He got by with it But it s different now Nicklaus is eager and wants to win Also, he's young, strong as an ox and good Nothing bothers him He seems to get better when the pressure gets tougher

'I don't think he's a better golfer than Arnie In fact I know he's not But he just doesn't have as many distractions—not yet, anyhow"

Arnold Palmer, besides his golf, is director in a score of corporations and has business interests which reportedly gross him between $500,000 and $600,000 a year"

'I don t blame Arnie for wanting to make money," Deac Palmer said 'But how much does a guy need? And this is certain—to continue making money you've got to continue winning tournaments'

San Francisco Keeps Moving

. . . TWINS HIT BASEMENT

By Associated Press

Held hitless for 6 innings by Ed Rakow the Chicago White Sox erupted for 8 runs in the 7th inning whipped Kansas City, 8 3 Wednesday night and took over the American League lead

Al Kaline's two-run 9th inning homer gave Detroit a 7 6 victory over the New York Yankees, Baltimore belted Boston 10 4 and Washington defeated Cleveland 6 3 in 13 innings on Don Lock's grand slam homer

The Los Angeles Angels dropped Minnesota into last place beating the Twins, 4 3, on Ken Hunt's tie-breaking homer in the 8th inning

Giants Roar

In the National League, first-place San Francisco walloped Milwaukee, 12 5, the Los Angeles Dodgers thumped St Louis 11 5 the Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh, 9 5, Cincinnati edged Houston, 3 2, and the New York Mets downed Philadelphia, 3 2

The key hits in the White Sox uprising were a two run double by Pete Ward and a 3 run double by J C Martin Kaline's homer won it for the Tigers after the Yankees had moved ahead, 6 5, in the 7th inning on Tom Tresh's second homer of the night

Brooks Robinson led a 17-hit Orioles attack with 3 singles and a double as Steve Barber coasted to his 6th victory and shoved the Red Sox out of first place

Lock's grand slam capped a 5 run outburst that gave the Senators victory to Don Rudolph who allowed only one hit for 12 innings and retired 25 Indians in order

The Giants won their 8th in 9 games with a 7 run outburst in the 4th built on 5 hits and sloppy Milwaukee fielding Willie Davis hit two homers and a triple and Jim Gilliam slammed a 3 run homer as the Dodgers overwhelmed the Cardinals

The Cubs won their 4th straight when Nelson Mathews' homer started a 4 run 8th inning rally against the Pirates Joe Nuxhall's 7-hit pitching and a two run single by Johnny Edwards got the job done for the Reds against the Colts Jay Hook limited the Phillies to 4 hits and set up the Mets' winning run with a 9th inning double

—JOHANSSON TO RETIRE—

Swede Thinks Incentive Gone

Stockholm (AP)- Ingemar Johansson, former world heavyweight boxing champion, says he's fed up with glory and through with boxing

The handsome 29 year old Swede, who knocked out Floyd Patterson in 1959 to win the heavyweight title, announced his retirement Wednesday

'I have thought it over and there's nothing left that incites me to go on boxing," he told the newspaper Aftonbladet I like boxing, but I don t have to do it for money any more and I am fed up with glory"

In Geneva, however Johansson told newsmen he had not yet made a final decision but thought his rating no longer was high enough to make it worth while to continue

"I don't need to fight for fame any more," he said "And on the money side I can't see any interesting partners"

Johansson s last fight was against Britain's Brian London April 21 in Stockholm Ingemar won a narrow decision in the 12-round none title bout but was knocked and saved by the bell down in the final seconds

Afterward, the Swedish Boxing Association barred him from European rings for a month until his physical condition could be thoroughly examined and approved

"We don't mean actually to bar him from the ring," the association said "He still has a lot of guts, but he needs an examination just to make sure he's fit for another fight"

Johansson was chagrined at the action

Tell them to mind their own business," he said "I rely on my own medical experts"

Ingemar, a member of Sweden's Olympic team in 1952 astounded boxing experts when he knocked out Patterson in the 3rd round of their title fight June 26, 1959 at New York's Polo Grounds

His powerful right hand was dubbed "The Thunder of Thor"

Patterson became the first man in history to regain the heavyweight title by stopping Johansson in the 5th round of their return fight June 20, 1960 Patterson knocked out Johansson in the 6th round of their 3rd bout March 13, 1961 in Miami Beach, Fla

Johansson's retirement is the second in 24 hours by a former champion

Paul Pender, who for a period was recognized as middleweight champion in New York Massachusetts and Europe announced Tuesday that he has had enough He said he was tired of contesting dual claims with Dick Tiger of Nigeria, the generally recognized 160 pound king

Michka Slated For Top Duty

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Ron Michka, two year letterman who has seen only limited action in spring football drills because of baseball, is likely to be in the thick of things most of the night Saturday when the Huskers wind up spring drills with an intrasquad game

Jim Baffico, who had been the center on the No 1 unit until injured Sunday, was still sidelined Wednesday with a knee injury and is a doubtful starter in Saturday night's All Sports Day game

This throws the bulk of the centering duties on Michka for the top Red unit

Others who were injured Sunday and will miss Saturday's contest are halfback John Sebastian, center John Bishop and tackle Dennis Carlson

The Red squad includes 12 lettermen while the Whites have 7 lettermen

—BEEF STATE DASH FRIDAY—

Fancy Field For Handicap

Omaha—Some mighty fine horses took a look at the field and decided not to try their luck in Ak-Sar-Ben's Beef State Handicap slated for running Friday

The race is for 3 year olds and upward to be run over 6 furlongs

Racing secretary Louis Eilken called the field as the finest ever assembled for a race west of Chicago with the exception of Santa Anita's top handicaps

With 28 nominations at closing time Tuesday, it appeared the race would be split in two divisions Eilken will decide this matter Thursday when making the program for Friday's opening day of racing

Nebraska's M H Van Berg of Columbus nominated 4 horses for the opening handicap headed by the nationally known Bouncer Other Van Berg nominees include Rose's Gem, Hot Cargo and Big Hill Road

Some of the other top entries include

Gay Revoke — Owned by W H (Hal) Bishop and winner of over $60 000 in purse money during 1962 including the $15 000 Ak Handicap

Little Melody — Winner of the $15 000 Gold Cup Handicap at Ak Sar Ben last year

Tonda — One of Nebraska's most popular sprinters from the J P Hanson stable in North Platte Hanson and his trainer Glenn Bamford have also nominated Creole and North Platte

Lee Town — Pace setter in the early part of the 1962 Kentucky Derby and winner of over $30,000 on the year

Rob Roy 3rd — Two time winner at Hialeah

Try It — Holds mile and ⅛ record at Ak Sar Ben

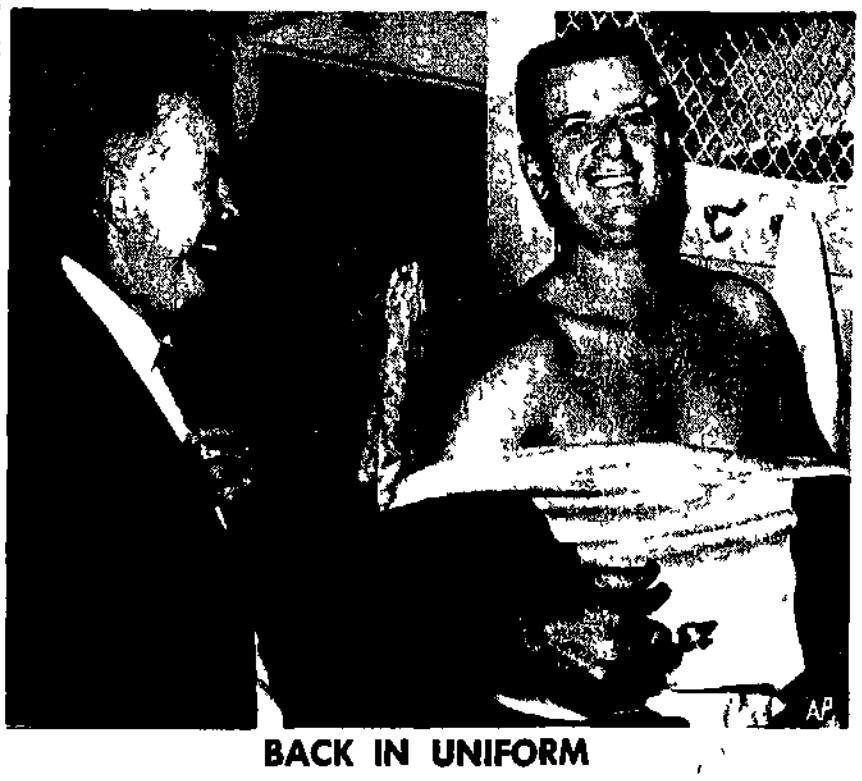

Wedded Origns — Recently set track record at Turf Paradise in Phoenix

Predetermined — Double winner early this year at Oaklawn Park in New Orleans

Rounding out the field will be Mattisse, Mutuality, Toby Beldine, Marron, Challenge All, Mighty Mine, The Biscuit, Indian Sole, Summer Rain, Father Jerry Royal Jet, Amada and Dixie Hill

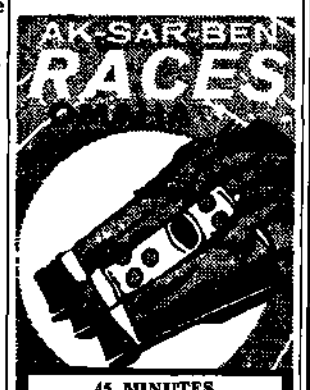

Foreign Winner

Chicle II became the first foreign-bred ever to win the Gulfstream Park Handicap He won the race in 1950

Wesleyan Divides Pair With Vikings

Blair — Nebraska Wesleyan's baseball team remained above the .500 mark for the year by splitting a doubleheader with Dana Tuesday.

Galen Roumpf and Mel Hawbecker supplied the power in the opener as the Plainsmen took a 5-3 decision. Dana's Bryan Rich set NWU down on 2 hits in the second game and his teammates notched their 4th win of the year, 4-2.

Hawbecker pushed the Plainsmen to 1-0 lead with a home run in first inning of the first contest but Dana came back with 3 ground ball singles in the bottom of the inning to knot the count.

NWU iced the win with a 3-run outburst in the 4th. Roumpf's triple drove in two of the scores and the Wesleyan center fielder then crossed the plate on a passed ball.

Four Dana runs — none earned — in the first two innings decided the outcome of the nightcap. Two singles, an error and Sterling Nelson's double gave the Vikings all the runs they needed in the first inning of play.

Hawbecker produced the lone extra base blow for NWU in the game, a 6th-inning triple that brought across a run, and was then called out at the plate trying to stretch the hit into a 4-bagger.

Jerry Rieher captured the win for Wesleyan in the first game; Charlie Morrison was tagged with the loss in the finale. Both hurlers went the route.

The Plainsmen, now 5-4, for the year visit Seward for a twin bill with Concordia Friday. Dana's record stands at 4-10.

Knights Bow To LNE, 9-7

Lincoln Northeast staged a slugging fest in the 5th inning to turn a 7-3 deficit into a 9-7 victory over Lincoln Southeast Wednesday.

Gregg Kemist sparked the 6-run scoring drive in the 5th frame with a two-run homer. Doubles by Les Tyrrell and Bob Scott were also important factors in the inning which proved fatal to the Knights.

Jerry Motz gave up only two hits in 4⅓ innings to earn his 3rd win against no losses for the season.

The Rocket win, on the basis of win-loss records, clinches a Northeast tie for the city baseball title.

KU Quarterback Gives Up Football

Lawrence, Kan. (AP)—Brian Palmer, senior quarterback from Winnipeg, Canada, has quit the Kansas football squad, because he felt "he was never going to get to play here."

Palmer completed 13 of 22 passes for 203 yards and two touchdowns as a reserve last season. In the final minutes of the closing game with traditional rival Missouri, he passed Kansas into position for a field goal which tied the game 3-3.

Palmer said Tuesday he became discouraged last Saturday when he ran only 12 plays in a game condition scrimmage. He was one of two quarterbacks on the white team which lost 42-0.

California Cage Star Picks NU

Nate Branch, 6-4, of Palo Alto, Calif., co-player of the year in the South Peninsula Athletic League, has signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Nebraska, basketball coach Joe Cipriano has announced.

Playing for Ravenswood High School, Branch was a two-year ALL SPAL choice and tallied 1,003 during his prep career.

As a senior Branch hit 49 per cent of his field goal attempts in racking up 422 points for a 19.7 average. He also set a league rebounding record with 425 during the 1962-63 season.

Wesleyan Divides Pair With Vikings

Blair — Nebraska Wesleyan's baseball team remained above the 500 mark for the year by splitting a doubleheader with Dana Tuesday

Galen Roumpf and Mel Hawbecker supplied the power in the opener as the Plainsmen took a 5 3 decision Dana's Bryan Rieh set NWU down on 2 hits in the second game and his teammates notched their 4th win of the year, 1-2

Hawbecker pushed the Plainsmen to 10 lead with a home run in first inning of the first contest but Dana came back with 3 ground ball singles in the bottom of the inning to knot the count

NWU iced the win with a 3-run outburst in the 4th Roumpf's triple drove in two of the scores and the Wesleyan center fielder then crossed the plate on a passed ball

Four Dana runs — none earned — in the first two innings decided the outcome of the nightcap Two singles an error and Sterling Nelson's double gave the Vikings all the runs they needed in the first inning of play

Hawbecker produced the lone extra base blow for NWU in the game, a 6th-inning triple that brought across a run, and was then called out at the plate trying to stretch the hit into a 4-bagger

Jerry Riehel captured the win for Wesleyan in the first game, Charlie Morrison was tagged with the loss in the finale Both hurlers went the route

The Plainsmen, now 5-4, for the year visit Seward for a twin bill with Concordia Friday Dana's record stands at 4-10

KU Quarterback Gives Up Football

Lawrence, Kan (AP)—Brian Palmer, senior quarterback from Winnipeg, Canada, has quit the Kansas football squad, because he felt "he was never going to get to play here"

Palmer completed 13 of 22 passes for 203 yards and two touchdowns as a reserve last season In the final minutes of the closing game with traditional rival Missouri, he passed Kansas into position for a field goal which tied the game 3 3

Palmer said Tuesday he became discouraged last Saturday when he ran only 12 plays in a game condition scrimmage He was one of two quarterbacks on the white team which lost 42 0

California Cage Star Picks NU

Nate Branch, 6 4, of Palo Alto, Calif , co-player of the year in the South Peninsula Athletic League has signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Nebraska basketball coach Joe Cipriano has announced

Playing for Ravenswood High School Branch was a two-year ALL SPAL choice and tallied 1,003 during his prep career

As a senior Branch hit 49 per cent of his field goal attempts in racking up 422 points for a 19 7 average He also set a league rebounding record with 425 during the 1962 63 season

Missouri Provides Baseball Challenge

. . . INVADES NU FRIDAY

The University of Nebraska baseball team will meet the number one rated collegiate diamond crew in the country this weekend. The Huskers face the Missouri Tigers, tops in the Big 8 and in the country, in a doubleheader Friday and a single All Sports Day game Saturday at the NU diamond. The Friday twinbill will start at 1 p.m. and the Saturday tilt at 11 a.m.

Tiger pilot Hi Simmons' 9 has won 14 and lost 3 this year and leads the Big 8 with a 12-2 conference record. Nebraska is currently in 6th place in the loop standings with a 5-9 league mark and a 8-12 overall record.

NU Coach Tony Sharpe said, "We will have to get our best fielding, pitching and hitting to get a win or two in this series. We can't give them very many runs and expect to beat them."

Sharpe plans to start the following lineup against the Tigers Friday, providing Mizzou starts its two righthanded pitching aces — Larry Bohanon and Rich Peterson. The NU batting order will be: Don Schindel (.231), cf; Ernie Bonistall (.171) 3b; Ron Douglas (.222), 2b; Dave May (.375), 1b; Tom Ernst (.196), rf; Larry Bornschlegl (.273), c; Ron Michka (.175), lf; Dale Anderson (.209), ss.

Ron Havekost (1-4) and Wall (3-2) will hurl for the Huskers Friday with Keith Sieck (3-1) slated for duty Saturday. If the Tigers start southpaw Jack Stroud in the Saturday contest, Sharpe plans to insert either John Faiman (.286) or Wally Duff (.258) in the NU lineup in place of Michka.

Missouri's strong points area a deep pitching staff, including Bohanon, Peterson, Stroud and Keith Weber, and power hitting led by the Sevcik twins, John and Jim. Last year, the Tigers swept a 3-game set from Nebraska.

After 20 games, May is the only Husker regular hitting above .300. The NU first sacker is batting .375 and leads the team in total bases with 21. Don Schindel had 4-for-10 last weekend to raise his average to .231 after a slow start this year. Sieck and Wall top the pitchers with three wins apiece.

Major Leagues Back Midwest College Loop

St. Louis (AP)—Baseball commissioner Ford Frick announced a major league grant of $50,000 Wednesday that would set up in the Midwest a pilot league for college players from 13 states as a stepping stone to the majors.

To be known as the Central Illinois Collegiate League, it could be the forerunner of similar organizations throughout the United States. It will comprise teams from Illinois cities of Springfield, Peoria, Champaign, Galesburg, Bloomington and Lincoln.

College players eligible to play in the 50-game summer schedule, effective June 15, are those from Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

Bob Stewart of St. Louis University, who planned the organization with Cleveland Indians scout Walter Shannon, said each major league team would be asked to contribute $2,500 toward the $50,000 cost of establishing the league. He said about 6 or 7 teams had already agreed to put up their share of the cost.

Governing body will be known as the National Collegiate Baseball Foundation, headed by Frick.

The league will operate as an intermediary between professional and college baseball and will work within the rules of the major leagues and the National Collegiate Athletic Association. It has employed coaches from colleges and universities in the 6 cities comprising the league.

Stewart said the players would not be paid for playing baseball, and that only their expenses for weekend trips would be paid.

Cubs' Ranew Benched By Broken Jaw

Chicago (AP) — Catcher Merritt Ranew, who had been wielding the hottest bat in the Chicago Cubs winning streak, suffered a fractured left jaw bone Wednesday when hit by a ball in pre-game warmups.

Ranew was taken to Wesley Memorial Hospital where X-rays were taken. A specialist was called in for treatment. It was not known how long Ranew will be out of action.

He was accidentally hit on the left jaw by a ball thrown by Steve Boros. Ranew suffered mouth lacerations April 18 in pre-game drills at Los Angeles also when hit by a Boros throw.

Ranew, who came to the Cubs from Houston in a trade for Danny Murphy, had collected 9 hits in his last 14 times at bat for a .642 average and had knocked in at least one run in each of the last 4 games.

He broke into the starting lineup when Dick Bertell was sidelined with a hand injury. Jim Schaffer was the catcher today against Pittsburgh.

Nicklaus Picked In Colonial; Big 3 Fast Becoming 'Big Me'

Fort Worth, Tex. (AP)—Golf's Big 3—rapidly becoming the Big One, Jack Nicklaus—lead a field of 66 crack shots into the opening round of the $60,000 Colonial National Invitation Tournament Thursday.

Harried by threat of withdrawals and forced to make concessions to placate the players, Colonial emerged with its finest field yet when the storm clouds had floated away.

Even Don January, the player who wasn't invited and precipitated the trouble; Doug Ford, who led a withdrawal movement, and Jack Fleck, who said he wouldn't care if he never was invited back, are ready to go after the $12,000 first money.

Jack Backed

Nicklaus, the big Ohio collegian who became golf's No. 1 player in just two years, will be favored to win his 4th tournament of 1963 and add to an already bulging bank account that includes $52,715 as his earnings on the links. He is the leading money winner by more than $20,000.

Arnold Palmer, the defending Colonial champion, and Gary Player, the other two members of the fading Big 3, will be trying to climb back to that status. Palmer is nearest. He has won two tournaments in which he had Nicklaus and Player to contend with while Nicklaus has won 3. Player has won only one and then Nicklaus and Palmer didn't play.

The field that goes out over the par 35-35—70, 7,021-yard Colonial Country Club Course. will have 9 of the 10 top money-winners of the year. The only absentee is Billy Casper, No. 5, who had to withdraw because of a sore hand.

Nicklaus won the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas in easy fashion Sunday.

Tony Lema is another well-regarded entry. He is the second leading money-winner with $32,496. Palmer is 3rd and Player 4th.

Palmer had 281 for 72 holes last year when he won the tournament. This is one over par. Observers figure it will take about the same score to win it this time.

Missouri Provides Baseball Challenge

. . . INVADES NU FRIDAY

The University of Nebraska baseball team will meet the number one rated collegiate diamond crew in the country this weekend. The Huskers face the Missouri Tigers, tops in the Big 8 and in the country, in a doubleheader Friday and a single All Sports Day game Saturday at the NU diamond. The Friday twinbill will start at 1 p.m. and the Saturday tilt at 11 a.m.

Tiger pilot Ill Simmons' 9 has won 14 and lost 3 this year and leads the Big 8 with a 12-2 conference record. Nebraska is currently in 6th place in the loop standings with a 5-9 league mark and a 8-12 overall record.

NU Coach Tony Sharpe said, "We will have to get our best fielding, pitching and hitting to get a win or two in this series. We can't give them very many runs and expect to beat them."

Sharpe plans to start the following lineup against the Tigers Friday, providing Mizzou starts its two righthanded pitching aces — Larry Bohanon and Rich Peterson. The NU batting order will be: Don Schindel (.231), cf; Ernie Bonistall (.171) 3b; Ron Douglas (.222), 2b; Dave May (.375), 1b; Tom Ernst (.196), rf; Larry Bornschlegl (.273), c; Ron Michka (.175), lf; Dale Anderson (.209), ss.

Ron Havekost (1-4) and Wall (3-2) will hurl for the Huskers Friday with Keith Sieck (3-1) slated for duty Saturday. If the Tigers start southpaw Jack Stroud in the Saturday contest, Sharpe plans to insert either John Faiman (.286) or Wally Duff (.258) in the NU lineup in place of Michka.

Missouri's strong points aren a deep pitching staff, including Bohanon, Peterson, Stroud and Keith Weber, and power hitting led by the Sevcik twins, John and Jim. Last year, the Tigers swept a 3-game set from Nebraska.

After 20 games, May is the only Husker regular hitting above .300. The NU first sacker is batting .375 and leads the team in total bases with 21. Don Schindel had 4-for-10 last weekend to raise his average to .231 after a slow start this year. Sieck and Wall top the pitchers with three wins apiece.

Another Young Girl Strangled In Boston

Cambridge, Mass (AP) — A young music teacher was found strangled Wednesday night in her apartment just off Harvard Square, confronting police of the Boston Metropolitan area with the 9th unsolved such slaying in the last 11 months.

The latest victim was identified tentatively as Beverly F. Samans, 26.

Police said the girl was from Beckely, W.Va. She had been studying music in Boston and doing volunteer work in hospitals, sometimes singing for patients.

Tied With Others

The hospital connection tied in with other stranglings. Some of the earlier victims either had worked in hospitals or had been under treatment there.

She had been strangled by a stocking. Her hands were bound behind her back by another stocking. There were puncture wounds in her body.

Police said it appeared she had been raped.

They were unable to find anyone who had seen her since Sunday night.

They went to the 4-story brick apartment after receiving a telephone call from an Oliver Chamberlain, a fellow teacher and acquaintance. They found her in her first floor apartment.

Viewed Body

Dr. Peter A. Delmonico, Middlesex County medical examiner viewed the body.

There have been 8 other unsolved stranglings of women in the Boston metropolitan area in the past 11 months.

Police departments have pooled their information and Massachusetts has posted rewards of $5,000 in each case in efforts to solve the slayings.

Investigators are not convinced one person is responsible for all the attacks.

Girl's Arm Broken When Auto Rolls Off Interstate 80

A 16-year-old girl was admitted to Bryan Memorial Hospital Wednesday night with a broken arm, bruises and lacerations suffered when the car in which she was riding was struck from behind about 4 miles east of Waverly, on Interstate 80.

Roberta Jane Stroh, of 4815 Cornhusker Hwy., was a passenger in a vehicle driven by Timothy J. Kenaston, 18, of 1601 No. 57th.

The Kenaston car was struck by an auto driven by Ray R. Martin Jr., 30, of 4529 Judson, according to the Safety Patrol.

After the impact, the Kenaston car left the highway and rolled down an embankment into a drainage ditch, the patrol said.

The girl was thrown from the vehicle and pinned underneath until a passing motorist lifted the car off her, investigating trooper Vernon O'Neal reported.

The Kenaston auto was completely demolished.

'ETV Network Doesn't Need Any Restudy'

A spokesman for the Nebraska State Committee on Educatonal Television disagreed Wednesday with Omaha School Supt. Paul Miller's statement that a restudy of the proposed state ETV network is needed.

Jack McBride, co-chairman of the state committee, said Wednesday the network was thoroughly examined in a 15-month survey, upon the mandate of the 1961 Legislature and under the direction of an 18-member governor-appointed committee.

"The survey was thorough, comprehensive, and it kept at all times the educational needs of the state in mind, including those of Omaha," McBride stressed.

"Being the most populous, the city of Omaha was prominent in the thinking of the consultants. In fact, the first stage of the network development involves bringing ETV to the metropolitan area of Omaha, including interconnection with the existing studios at the University of Omaha. Omaha would be, along with the University of Nebraska, one of two points in the early phases of the network to originate broadcasts.

"Omaha would also get every bit as much service as any other portion of the state. Miller's opposition implies that Omaha should get more."

The development of Omaha ETV Channel 16 as suggested by Supt. Miller is an addition to the state network and therefore would duplicate the network's coverage and increase the cost of ETV to Nebraska, McBride said.

Frontier Airlines Traffic Up 51 Pct. Over A Year Ago

By The Associated Press

Frontier Airlines said Wednesday its total passenger traffic in 11 Nebraska cities was up 51 in April over the same month a year ago.

Increases by cities included Lincoln 2,317 passengers, up 67%; Omaha 1,902 boardings, up 59%; Scottsbluff, 836 passengers, 36%; Grand Island, 545 passengers, up 11%.

North Platte, 534 passengers, 29% increase; Hastings, 227 passengers boarded, up 29%; Kearney 158 passengers, an 8% increase; Alliance, 152 passengers, more than 100%; Chadron, 151 passengers, more than 100%. Sidney board 142 and McCook 133.

Civil Air Patrol Cadet Given Highest Award

Civil Air Patrol Cadet James Nitz, a student at Lincoln Southeast High School, Wednesday was presented the Certificate of Proficiency at a special ceremony during a regular CAP meeting.

The award, granted by the national CAP headquarters, will enable him to compete in the annual International Air Cadet Exchange program and special summer programs conducted by the Civil Air Patrol and United States Air Force.

The certificate signifies the satisfactory completion of the CAP Aerospace education program and is the highest training award conferred upon members.

Store Clerk Said Selling Wood Alcohol

New York (AP)—Five more derelicts died Wednesday in a wave of wood alcohol poisonings and a 65-year-old hardware store clerk was charged with homicide.

At least 10, and probably 30 deaths—most of the victims homeless Bowery bums—have been definitely blamed on wood alcohol and nearly a score of others are under treatment at Bellevue Hospital.

Late Wednesday Asst. Dist. Atty. Ernest H. Hammer ordered the homicide booking of the clerk, David Feit, and accused Feit of selling "denatured alcohol which caused the deaths of two persons."

The sales, Hammer said, were made last Sunday, when the East Side Hardware Store remained open after closing on Saturday, the Jewish Sabbath. Liquor stores are closed on Sunday.

Hammer said the alcohol was clearly labelled "specially denatured solvent" and had a skull and crossbones pictured on the back of each can.

Some poisoning cases have also turned up in skid row area of Brooklyn but most were around the Bowery and victims crowded Bellevue.

Senate OKs Bill Carrying Postal Funds

Washington (AP)—The Senate passed Wednesday night a $6,069,466,250 money bill carrying extra funds its sponsors said would prevent any cuts in postal service in the coming year.

The bill — first appropriations measure for fiscal 1964 considered by the Senate this session — includes funds for the Post Office Department, Treasury, White House and several executive agencies.

The Senate allowed $72,440,250 more than the House voted. But its total was $77,375,750 under President Kennedy' budget requests for the various agencies.

Republicans made an effort to chop $115 million off the total by holding Treasury spending to levels of the current financial year. This was beaten 60 to 23.

The Senate restoration of House cuts included $55,250,000 for the Post Office Department from a House reduction of $92 million.

Of this, $50 million was put into the agency's vital operations fund out of a $69-million slash.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., floor manager for the bill, said he was confident this would mean that no service cuts would be needed in the year starting July 1.

Paradox Of Kidneys

St. Louis (UPI)—In some ways a diseased kidney seems to get better as it gets worse. According to Dr. Neal S. Bricker of the Washington University School of Medicine here, as the disease spreads, destroying more of the kidney, its still intact portions function more efficiently to remove wastes and maintain the chemical balance essential to life.

Another Young Girl Strangled In Boston

Cambridge, Mass (AP) — A young music teacher was found strangled Wednesday night in her apartment just off Harvard Square, confronting police of the Boston Metropolitan area with the 9th unsolved such slaying in the last 11 months.

The latest victim was identified tentatively as Beverly F. Sumans, 26.

Police said the girl was from Beckely, W.Va. She had been studying music in Boston and doing volunteer work in hospitals, sometimes singing for patients.

Tied With Others

The hospital connection tied in with other stranglings. Some of the earlier victims either had worked in hospitals or had been under treatment there.

She had been strangled by a stocking. Her hands were bound behind her back by another stocking. There were puncture wounds in her body.

Police said it appeared she had been raped.

They were unable to find anyone who had seen her since Sunday night.

They went to the 4-story brick apartment after receiving a telephone call from an Oliver Chamberlain, a fellow teacher and acquaintance. They found her in her first floor apartment.

Viewed Body

Dr. Peter A. Delmonico, Middlesex County medical examiner viewed the body.

There have been 8 other unsolved stranglings of women in the Boston metropolitan area in the past 11 months.

Police departments have pooled their information and Massachusetts has posted rewards of $5,000 in each case in efforts to solve the slayings.

Investigators are not convinced one person is responsible for all the attacks.

Girl's Arm Broken When Auto Rolls Off Interstate 80

A 16-year-old girl was admitted to Bryan Memorial Hospital Wednesday night with a broken arm, bruises and lacerations suffered when the car in which she was riding was struck from behind about 4 miles east of Waverly, on Interstate 80.

Roberta Jane Stroh, of 4615 Cornhusker Hwy., was a passenger in a vehicle driven by Timothy J. Kenaston, 18, of 1601 No. 57th.

The Kenaston car was struck by an auto driven by Ray R. Martin Jr., 30, of 4529 Judson, according to the Safety Patrol.

After the impact, the Kenaston car left the highway and rolled down an embankment into a drainage ditch, the patrol said.

The girl was thrown from the vehicle and pinned underneath until a passing motorist lifted the car off her, investigating trooper Vernon O'Neal reported.

The Kenaston auto was completely demolished.

'ETV Network Doesn't Need Any Restudy'

A spokesman for the Nebraska State Committee on Educational Television disagreed Wednesday with Omaha School Supt. Paul Miller's statement that a restudy of the proposed state ETV network is needed.

Jack McBride, co-chairman of the state committee, said Wednesday the network was thoroughly examined in a 15-month survey, upon the mandate of the 1961 Legislature and under the direction of an 18-member governor-appointed committee.

"The survey was thorough, comprehensive, and it kept at all times the educational needs of the state in mind, including those of Omaha," McBride stressed.

"Being the most populous, the city of Omaha was prominent in the thinking of the consultants. In fact, the first stage of the network development involves bringing ETV to the metropolitan area of Omaha, including interconnection with the existing studios at the University of Omaha. Omaha would be, along with the University of Nebraska, one of two points in the early phases of the network to originate broadcasts.

"Omaha would also get every bit as much service as any other portion of the state."

The development of Omaha ETV Channel 18 as suggested by Supt. Miller is an addition to the state network and therefore would duplicate the network's coverage and increase the cost of ETV to Nebraska, McBride said.

Frontier Airlines Traffic Up 51 Pct. Over A Year Ago

By The Associated Press

Frontier Airlines said Wednesday its total passenger traffic in 11 Nebraska cities was up 51 in April over the same month a year ago.

Increases by cities included Lincoln 2,317 passengers, up 67%; Omaha 1,902 boardings, up 59%; Scottsbluff, 836 passengers, 36%; Grand Island, 545 passengers, up 11%.

North Platte, 534 passengers, 29% increase; Hastings, 227 passengers boarded, up 29%; Kearney 158 passengers, an 8% increase; Alliance, 152 passengers, more than 100%; Chadron, 151 passengers, more than 100%. Sidney board 142 and McCook 133.

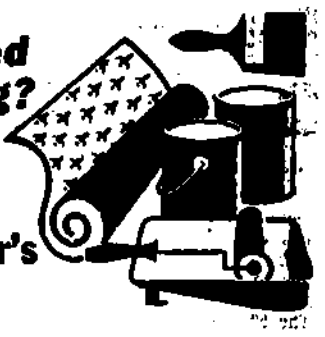

Civil Air Patrol Cadet Given Highest Award

Civil Air Patrol Cadet James Nitz, a student at Lincoln Southeast High School, Wednesday was presented the Certificate of Proficiency at a special ceremony during a regular CAP meeting.

The award, granted by the national CAP headquarters, will enable him to compete in the annual International Air Cadet Exchange program and special summer programs conducted by the Civil Air Patrol and United States Air Force.

The certificate signifies the satisfactory completion of the CAP Aerospace education program and is the highest training award conferred upon members.

Store Clerk Said Selling Wood Alcohol

New York (AP)—Five more derelicts died Wednesday in a wave of wood alcohol poisonings and a 65-year-old hardware store clerk was charged with homicide.

At least 10, and probably 30 deaths—most of the victims homeless Bowery bums—have been definitely blamed on wood alcohol and nearly a score of others are under treatment at Bellevue Hospital.

Late Wednesday Asst. Dist. Atty. Ernest H. Hammer ordered the homicide booking of the clerk, David Feit, and accused Feit of selling "denatured alcohol which caused the deaths of two persons."

The sales, Hammer said, were made last Sunday, when the East Side Hardware Store remained open after closing on Saturday, the Jewish Sabbath. Liquor stores are closed on Sunday.

Hammer said the alcohol was clearly labelled "specially denatured solvent" and had a skull and crossbones pictured on the back of each can.

Some poisoning cases have also turned up in skid row area of Brooklyn but most were around the Bowery and victims crowded Bellevue.

Senate OKs Bill Carrying Postal Funds

Washington (AP)—The Senate passed Wednesday night a $6,069,466,250 money bill carrying extra funds its sponsors said would prevent any cuts in postal service in the coming year.

The bill — first appropriations measure for fiscal 1964 considered by the Senate this session — includes funds for the Post Office Department, Treasury, White House and several executive agencies.

The Senate allowed $72,440,250 more than the House voted. But its total was $77,375,750 under President Kennedy' budget requests for the various agencies.

Republicans made an effort to chop $115 million off the total by holding Treasury spending to levels of the current financial year. This was beaten 60 to 23.

The Senate restoration of House cuts included $55,250,000 for the Post Office Department from a House reduction of $92 million.

Of this, $50 million was put into the agency's vital operations fund out of a $69-million slash.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., floor manager for the bill, said he was confident this would mean that no service cuts would be needed in the year starting July 1.

Paradox Of Kidneys

St. Louis (UPI)—In some ways a diseased kidney seems to get better as it gets worse. According to Dr. Neal S. Bricker of the Washington University School of Medicine here, as the disease spreads, destroying more of the kidney, its still intact portions function more efficiently to remove wastes and maintain the chemical balance essential to life.

Petersen Set For Quick Start On Job

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Dean H. Petersen, who takes office May 20 as Lincoln's first full-time mayor, plans to get a running start on his new job.

The 59-year-old businessman said Wednesday he will begin getting more familiar with the present city government and "may sit in on the City Council meeting next Monday."

"I also want to visit with the city directors and other administrative heads as much as possible when I get back from a short business trip," he added.

Wants Good Start

Petersen said he wants the full-time mayor charter change to "get off to a good start."

"Because of the newly-imposed separation of executive and legislative functions," the mayor-elect said, "there will be some matters that will need sorting out."

"New precedents that may be set will be important and will require the best thinking of all of us. Some areas of governmental change will be a new experience for the older hands as well as myself."

He said he believes the city directors and other administrative heads are doing a good job for Lincoln.

"I am looking forward to working also with the City Council," he added. "I think the voters have selected a fine group of council members."

Petersen anticipated he would be "several months at least getting my feet on the ground" in the new job, but said he then plans to "begin tackling the major issues that I outlined to the voters."

Of special interest, he said, is getting a new city-county building for Lincoln and acquiring locally more agriculture-related industries.

Petersen led his opponent, Fred A. Herrington, all the way down to the final 11,224 to 10,368 count, winning by an unofficial 856-vote majority.

Petersen said he stressed the theme in his campaign that his opponent was supported by "a small, influential group" because "I sincerely believed this and this was one of the reasons I finally decided to run in the primary."

While the Herrington and Petersen margin was 9,268 to 4,255 in the primary, Petersen credited his election to "a lot of hard work by many people—too many to single out any one."

"After the primary, we streamlined our campaign and received help from all sections of Lincoln and all classes of people," he added.

Night and Day

"Mr. Petersen went night and day in meeting as many people as possible while his volunteer workers were putting out every effort to get his name before the public," one Petersen campaign associate said.

"Anyone who volunteered to help was immediately put to work," she said. "It was a 100% effort right up until the time the polls closed Tuesday night."

Daring Doe Flits Through City—Can't Be Captured

A full-grown female deer escaped a police-Game Commission dragnet Wednesday.

Police first received information on the doe about 8:30 a.m. and two motorcycle officers were detailed to the area of 48th and O.

Officer James Horan said a woman motorist drove up and in a trembling voice told him, "It just went north at 48th and O."

Horan rushed to that location, but the fugitive was not there.

Sgt. William Jernigan said he saw the doe at about 55th and J.

"I was about a quarter of a block away when I saw her," said the sergeant. "Then she saw me. That was it. She was gone like a flash of lightning.

"When she saw me, she took off over people's lawns, flower beds, fences and shrubbery. First she was going south, then she was going east, then she was going north. The last time I saw her was about ½ a block north of 56th and L.

"We think she holed up in the fields in the area of O and Vine, 44th to 56th," said Horane.

Conservation officers also were looking for the doe. They were armed with a tranquilizing gun.

A Game Commission officer said there was no immediate danger from the doe.

"A deer will usually not jump through windows or destroy property of that sort unless it is being chased and is afraid," the officer said. "If these deer are left alone, they will usually filter out of the area."

Conservation officers also were looking for the doe. They were armed with a tranquilizing gun.

A Game Commission officer said there was no immediate danger from the doe.

"A deer will usually not jump through windows or destroy property of that sort unless it is being chased and is afraid," the officer said. "If these deer are left alone, they will usually filter out of the area."

Courtroom Drama Tells Birmingham Story

. . . SHOWS NEGRO SIDE, WHITE SIDE, HEART-BREAKING HUMAN SIDE

(EDITOR'S NOTE(Relman Morin, who has covered the civil rights campaign from its beginning, has won two Pulitzer Prizes as an Associated Press reporter—one for reporting the Little Rock integration crisis. Wednesday he visited a juvenile judge's office in Birmingham and the places where Negro children demonstrators are held, getting the human side of the city's racial troubles).

By RELMAN MORIN

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)—Here, in a juvenile court judge's office, is the whole story of Birmingham today, the Negro side, the white side, the heart-breaking human side.

Judge Talbot Ellis sits behind his desk. He has crisp gray hair, a clean cut profile. He speaks in a low, kindly voice.

On the other side of the desk is a 15-year-old Negro youth, Grosbeck Preer Parham. He is big for his age. He was arrested 5 days ago for participating in the demonstrations which have been wracking the city.

A small carved sign in the desk bears the motto, "Prayer Changes Everything."

Boy's Mother

Behind Judge Talbot is the boy's mother, Mrs. Aileen Parham. She is tall, nice-looking with an intelligent expression. She has come to the juvenile court, where children under 16 are being held, to get her son released.

This is the dialogue between the 3—

Judge: "Grosbeck, I'm going to let you go. Your mother must have been mighty worried when she couldn't find you. Why did you tell the officer you were 17? That's why they put you in jail instead of bringing you here."

Boy: "I said I was 15."

Judge: "Well, anyway, I'm letting you go. By the way, you have an unusual first name. Where did you get it?"

Mother: "That's Dr. Walsh's first name. My husband named him 'Grosbeck.'" (It develops later that Dr. Grosbeck Walsh, chief of medical services at Lloyd Noland Hospital here, took the boy's father into his home and helped him get an education. The elder Parham is now a druggist.

'Not Answer'

Judge: "Now, Grosbeck, you know violence in the streets is not the answer to this. Just the other day, Attorney-General Kennedy said this problem 'won't be solved in the streets.' And I often think of what one of the founding fathers said, 'There is no freedom without restraint. Now, I want you to go home and go back to school. Will you do that?"

No answer. The boy stares at judge, unblinking, through his spectacles. His jaw juts upward.

Judge: "Are you mad at me, son?"

Boy: "Can I say something?"

Judge: "Anything you like."

Boy: Well, you can say that about freedom because you've got your freedom. The Constitution says we're all equal but Negroes aren't equal."

Judge: "But you people have made great gains and they still are. It takes time."

Boy: "We've been waiting over 100 years."

Legal Talks

The judge tells him about attending legal conferences, working there with Negro judges and attorneys.

Judge: "Now, we were all equal there, not because the Constitution says so, but because we are equal in our profession."

Mother: "May I say something? I don't approve of street violence either. But after a civil rights meeting we did try to get in touch with city officials and they wouldn't see us. And I know this judge—these younger people are not going to take what we took. I have another son in Oberlin (College, Ohio) and he'll never want to come back here."

Tells Experiences

She describes her experiences as a shopper in downtown Birmingham and continues—

"If I'm going to spend my money in the stores, I think I should have the right to sit down and eat a sandwich in them."

A juvenile court official reminds her that sit-down facilities were provided Negroes, some years ago, "but they had to be discontinued because your people literally destroyed them."

Mother: "I say if our people don't act intelligently—if they're not clean—then don't allow them in. But that should be so for white people too. If they're not intelligent and are dirty, they should be thrown out. They all should—white or colored."

'Fine Man'

Judge: "Mrs. Parham, what do you think of Booker T. Washington?"

Mother: "I think he was a fine man. But his day is past. The younger people won't take what we did."

Boy: "Does Birmingham have a health board? Are they concerned about what happens to Negroes in jail?"

The judge nods affirmatively.

Boy: "We were picked up at 2:30 and we didn't get anything to eat all day. The next morning we wouldn't have gotten anything either if we hadn't gotten together and beat on the bars and yelled."

Asked Question

Juvenile court officer: "Would your mother have had food for over 100 people if they had all come at once to your home?"

Boy: "Maybe not. But you should have seen the slop they fed us. It wasn't fit for a human being to eat."

Judge: "Well, I expect we could talk all day about these things. I want you to go now and I still hope you'll go back to school."

Mother: "Thank you, judge."

Boy (under his breath): "Thanks for nothing."

Now you go through the quarters where the children are being detained. Pretty little Brenda Pettis, 15, is being released. Her parents had come for her.

How did she become involved in the disturbances? She giggles. "I just ran after the other kids," she says.

In another office, probation officers Harry Long and Darcus Haslip—both Negroes—are releasing John Arthur Bell. John is 11.

He is small even for his age, but grinning broadly. Does he want to get out? "Sure do," he says, grinning even more happily. "Yes, sir. Sure do want to get out."

'Just Ran After'

Long asks him how he came to be in the streets during the troubles. His mother answers. She says she sent him to her sister's home. When he didn't return at night, she telephoned her sister. No John there. Again, "I just ran after the other kids."

But it is difficult to know about these answers.

Negroes here speak of "the movement" or "the organization."

Back in Judge Ellis's office. He says, unhappily, he is getting angry letters from Los Angeles and other cities around the country.

Some days ago, he says, he told a reporter he was setting bail for the Negro children at $500 to $750.

"I thought that would deter the kids," he says. "It didn't. So I must have been wrong."

He philosophizes for a moment about the racial problem and says:

"One thing I can say, and I'm proud of it—when I sit on that bench in the court room, I'm color blind."

'Try To Keep Space Accidents Low'

Washington (AP)—A government man-to-the-moon planner said Wednesday one of the main objectives is to "maximize the number of missions per fatality."

This is government talk for keeping the ratio of accidents as low as possible.

"It sounds a little gory," Dr. Joseph F. Shea told a House space subcommittee. He is in charge of systems engineering, or technical advance planning, for the Manned Space Flight Office.

He said he meant a balance must be struck between the success of the planned mission and the safety factor.

"You could have a very, very safe mission, with all abort systems working, but you might never get off the pad," he said. "Then you would have a 100% safety record."

Rep. James Fulton, D-Pa., commented that this seemed to him a negative way of looking at it.

"People don't sell automobiles on the basis of the number of casualties per year," Fulton said. "I think you should have as high a safety factor as you can . . ."

Abort Systems

Dr. Brainerd Holmes, director of the Manned Space Flight Office, said Fulton was right, "but we must address ourselves to the possibility of failure and have abort systems just in case."

An example of an abort system is the escape tower on top of the Mercury orbit rockets, by which the astronaut can shoot himself free of the rocket if something goes wrong during launching.

Shea said the basic ground rule the planners are working with is that "no single failure of any element will cause us to have to abort the mission."

Conversely, the second part of the rule is "no single failure will cause the failure of an abort system, so the astronaut can always get back."

Systems Engineering

Shea described the kind of extremely detailed planning involved as systems engineering. Holmes added "if foresight were as good as hindsight, we would certainly be much better off if systems engineering on the moon flight had been started two years earlier."

Holmes also said no single dollar in the space effort is better spent than on systems engineering. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is asking $26.5 million for this purpose for the coming year.

After describing the kind of things his organization must think of and prepare for in advance for the Apollo moon project, Shea said someone had said that "we would pile up sufficient paper to get to the moon before Apollo did."

Fulton commented, "The way money is being spent, $1,000 bills piled up would reach the moon before Apollo." He said the estimated $20-billion total cost of putting a man on the moon, if converted into $1,000 bills, would make a stack 26 miles high.

Immigrants High

Bonn, Germany (UPI) — The West Germany Statistical Office reported that 401,000 of the 810,000 Germans who emigrated since the end of World War II went to the United States. Canada was the second most popular, with 239,000 Germans migrating there.

Plagued Day And Night with Bladder Discomfort?

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills act 3 ways for speedy relief. 1—They have a soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. For convenience, buy the large size. Get Doan's Pills today!

Blame Riots On Federal Blundering

Jackson, Miss. (AP) — State officials blamed national politics and federal blunders Wednesday for the University of Mississippi desegregation riots. The Justice Department called the accusations erroneous and biased.

The state charges came in a report by the General Legislative Investigating Committee, which said federal errors and Kennedy political ambitions led to the violence.

The committee, which questioned 90 witnesses in its 7-month investigation, linked federal efforts to enroll Negro James H. Meredith last fall with an approaching national election and the effect of the action on political pressure groups.

Attract Crowd

Federal marshals, the committee said in its 45-page report, were displayed to attract a crowd, which began rioting when the marshals fired tear gas shots as state highway patrolmen moved demonstrators away from the marshals.

The report also charged the President illegally took control of National Guard units to back a court order, removing from the state its only means of keeping the situation under control.

In Washington, the Justice Department retorted in a statement that the report was "Characterized by bias, factual errors and misstatements."

Governor Arranged

The department said the presence of the marshals was arranged by Gov. Ross Barnett, who approved their number.

Gov. Barnett, at a news conference Wednesday, agreed that he knew marshals were en route to the university. He declined to say whether he had approved the move.

The governor is under charge of contempt of court for the part he played in trying to block the admission of Meredith to the university.

The Justice Department also said the state committee charge of political motive "does not make much sense."

Dr. Reinhardt Is Named To Police Hall Of Fame

Dr. James M. Reinhardt, University of Nebraska criminologist, has been elected to the national Police Hall of Fame—the highest honor given to law enforcement authorities.

His selection marks the first time that an educator in the field of police science has been named to the Hall of Fame for distinguished service.

Dr. Reinhardt, who will retire this year after 32 years on the university faculty, will receive the 1963 citation and medal at the annual Hall of Fame Banquet May 15 at Miami Beach, Fla.

The banquet will be part of the biennial convention of the National Police Officers Association of America and a feature of Police Memorial Day, proclaimed as May 15 by President Kennedy.

DR. JAMES M. REINHARDT

The Association said it selected Dr. Reinhardt as its 1963 recipient "because of his 40 years of service to the field of law enforcement and his contributions both in practical and theoretical areas of police science."

An internationally known criminologist, Dr. Reinhardt has authored 9 books, including "Murderous Trial of Charles Starkweather," and "The Psychology of Strange Killers." He is now preparing a study of teen-age violence and schizophrenia among adult offenders.

Since 1945, he has appeared regularly as lecturer at the FBI's Academy courses in Washington, D.C.

In announcing his selection, the Association said it "desired to emphasize the fact that law enforcement work has become a profession for which a great deal of preliminary training on a college level is needed.

"Dr. Reinhardt and other criminologists are the forerunners of a new era of police responsibility and training in the war against crime. It is from the studies of these men and women in police science that we will obtain a greater understanding of the criminal mind and actions, and so discover new methods to prevent crime in the future."

The citation, along with Dr. Reinhardt's picture, will appear in the National Police Hall of Fame building at Venice, Fla.

First Hand Report On Haiti By NY Times Newsman Set

University of Nebraska students will get a chance Friday to hear first hand on the recent quarrel between Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

Tad Szulc, New York Times newsman, will come directly to Lincoln from the Caribbean Island of Hispaniola, where he is covering the war-threatening developments, to speak Friday at 3 p.m. in Love Library auditorium.

His topic will be "Latin America and the U.S.A.," which will include an up-to-date report on the Haiti situation. The public is invited to attend.

Szulc cancelled a scheduled address Thursday evening before the Nebraska professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, a journalism society, because of his need to remain on the island as many days as possible.

Szulc telegraphed Prof. Roberto Esquenazi-Mayo this week that he still plans to be in Lincoln Friday unless "an extreme emergency" develops.

He served as chief South American correspondent for The Times since 1955. In 1961, he was named diplomatic correspondent for the newspaper in Washington. Recently, he returned to Haiti to cover the developing story there.

Smith Recipient Of Cement Grant

Gordon R. Smith of Imperial, who is scheduled to graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree in civil engineering in June, has been selected as recipient of the Ideal Cement Fellowship at the University of Nebraska.

He will receive a stipend of $1,800 plus $264 for tuition and fees, which he will use toward a Master's degree with a major in civil engineering next school year.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, the 25-year-old scholar is married and lives in Lindoln at 2526 A Street. A graduate of Chase County High School at Imperial, he ranks in the upper 3% of his senior class at the university.

During the past two summers, he worked as a draftsman at Behlen Manufacturing Company at Columbus.

He is president of student chapter of American Society of Civil Engineers, past treasurer of Sigma Tau, and member of American Society for Testing Materials and Sigma Xi.

He attended Graceland College at Lamoni, Ia., before transferring to the University of Nebraska.

Soshnik Says Student Cost Report Wrong

A report from the president of the Associated Industries of Nebraska that $2,822 in state tax money is the annual cost per student at the University of Nebraska is "a gross error," Dr. Joseph Soshnik, vice chancellor for business and finance at the university, said Wednesday.

The true figures for student instruction costs during the last complete academic year 1961-'62, including money from state taxes, tuition, federal and all other sources, Dr. Soshnik said, are as follows:

Freshman-Sophomore Level, $484.96.
Junior-Senior Level, $979.79.
Graduate Students, $1,516.15.
Average cost for medical, nursing, dentistry, law, and pharmacy students and medical technicianans, $2,335.61.

"These are the true per student costs and they are reported in the total financial record which we have submitted to the Legislature and upon which the university stands," Dr. Soshnik said.

The Associated Industries President, George W. Mechling of Lincoln, gave his report to a meeting of the Beatrice Chamber of Commerce where he supported the controversial budget film endorsed by the State Chamber of Commerce.

'Small Explosion' Occurs In Titan I Site In California

Beale Air Force Base, Calif. (AP) — A "small explosion" in a Titan I launcher near this air base was announced by the Air Force.

Nobody was hurt and the silo launch site was not damaged, said the announcement, which lacked details.

The site is in the Sutter Buttes area 20 miles northwest of Yuba City.

The Air Force did not say what caused the explosion.

The Grecian sun shines bright on Conrad Hilton's marble palace in Athens this morning.

The new Athens Hilton is more or less centered between Parliament, the Royal Palace, the Olympic Stadium, the Acropolis, the American Embassy and the Temple of Zeus. It has a few features of each.

This is the second major European hotel opened by the Hilton people within a week.

They will open 10 more this year, have 17 others under construction and 8 on top of that under construction or contract.

Hilton is chairman of the board, president and operator of 50 hotels worth $287 millions.

In other words, he was not behind the door when the brains were passed out—(as grandma used to say).

Hilton has it made.

According to the paper slipped under my door, Conrad Hilton is now 75. He was born Christmas Day in San Antonio, New Mexico.

He rides these transatlantic crossings, cuts ribbons, makes speeches.

He hold conferences, dresses for the big dinner, takes on interviews.

And then, so help me, he opens the grand ball.

That takes the stamina of a linebacker. I don't do half that much and these international hotel fiestas put circles under my eyes the color of a Greek olive.

The Athens Hilton opened with a grand ball to which the Greek owners had invited a whole lot more people than you can get in a ballroom.

Hilton does not put money into hotels—or very, very little. He runs them.)

In Athens, the Hilton was built by the money of the Ionian and Popular Bank of Greece; in London, it was a syndicate headed by Charles Clore, the J.P. Morgan of England.

The ownership invited nearly everybody—looked like all the depositors.

There was nothing to do but push the tables closer together. And the waiters had to leap from one of the other like Eliza outrunning the bloodhounds across the ice cakes.

"Stay, traveler" was the inscription on Roman inns. Hilton says: "Don't go until we make a new reservation."

This referral system keeps the traveler following the Hilton chain all around the world.

There are 26 Hilton hotels running in the U.S. New ones building in New York, Portland, Oregon, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Washington, D.C., Worcester, Massachusetts and Honolulu.

In foreign parts, Hilton construction is going on in Rotterdam, Rome, Tokyo, Tel Aviv, Guadalajara, Tunis, Rabat, Montreal, Hong Kong and Mayaguez.

Others are going up in Dublin, Addis Ababa, Manila, Caracas, Curacao, Cyprus and Paris.

Amid all this furor of finance and rivet guns, Hilton wings around the world like a satellite.

His gray hair is always in place. He is tanned, about 6 feet, 4, I should judge. Arrow straight.

It is a little dancing school thing they learned when they were kids in New Mexico. Hilton does it quite nimbly.

Steel Plant Urged

Auckland, New Zealand — Construction of an integrated iron and steel plant costing about $39,000,000 has been recommended for the Auckland area. Geologists have found enough iron-sand concentrate nearby to produce more than 80,000,000 tons of steel.

Stock Market Rally Strong

New York (AP)—After two weeks of irregularity, the stock market rallied vigorously Wednesday, bringing the averages close to their 1963 peaks.

Volume rose more than a million shares above the previous day's total, reaching 5.16 million shares compared with 4.15 million Tuesday. It was the biggest turnover since April 24 when 5.91 million shares changed hands.

Motors, steels, aluminums and other industrials paced the advance.

General Motors advanced 2⅛ to 73¼, the highest price it has ever reached. Chrysler recovered 2⅝. U.S. Steel rose 1⅝. Gains exceeding a point were made also by Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Inland Steel.

All 15 of the most active stocks were gainers.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 5.99 to 718.54, nearing its 1963 closing top of 721.09.

Of 1,333 issues traded, 717 advanced and 353 declined. Highs for the year totaled 111 and lows 12.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.3 to 270.8, with industrials up 3.1, rails up 1.0, and utilities off .6.

American Photocopy was most-active stock for the second straight day, rising ¾ to 12⅜ on 134,400 shares.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange advanced.

Corporate bonds and U.S. government bonds were steady to a shade weaker.

'Haiti Defending Blacks'

. . . DOMINICAN POKED IN U.N. DISCUSSION

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI) —Haiti charged Wednesday that the Dominican Republic is attempting to destroy "the only black republic in North America."

"We know we are defending the cause of the black peoples who also are working to show their faces to the peoples of the world," Haitian Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers told the Security Council.

The council plunged into debate on the Haitian-Dominican Republic crisis with no attempt being made to obtain a postponement to give the Organization of American States (OAS) time to act.

But the council adjourned until Thursday afternoon after hearing an exchange of charges between Haitian and Dominican representatives.

Assassin

Chalmers was interrupted in his opening statement by shouts in French from the public gallery of "assassin!" and "down with Duvalier!" About 10 student-aged demonstrators were ushered from the gallery by U.N. guards.

The United States said Tuesday that it believed the crisis should be dealt with by the OAS and pointed out that the U.N. charter enjoins members to seek settlement of disputes in regional organizations before referring them to the security council.

Preliminary consultations, however, apparently confirmed a voting line-up that would have blocked the 7-vote majority necessary for a council postponement. Russia, Morocco, Ghana, Brazil and Venezuela were understood to favor a hearing here for Haiti without awaiting OAS action.

No postponement move was offered as Council President Roger Seydoux of France convened the meeting, declared the agenda adopted, and invited Chalmers and Dominican Ambassador Guaroa Velazquez to participate in the debate without a vote.

Haiti's action in bringing the issue here without awaiting OAS action caused speculation that President Francois Duvalier was bidding for support of the Soviet Bloc and the African countries.

Chalmers, who opened the debate, said that peace in the Caribbean "recently has been safeguarded only through the understanding of the United States and the Soviet Union and by their wish to avoid a thermonuclear war."

Long-Term Dreams

Now, he said, "the government of the Dominican Republic is trying to put into effect its long-term dreams, violating certain principles of inter-American law."

Chalmers charged Dominican President Juan Bosch with "sabre rattling," speaking openly of aggression, massing troops on the frontier only 30 minutes from Port au Prince, issuing a 24-hour ultimatum and sending warplanes over Haitian territory.

"It is the very honor of a small people that now is being destroyed," the Haitian said. "An attempt is being made to destroy the only black republic in North America . . . we know we are defending the cause of the black peoples who also are working to show their faces to the peoples of the world."

Refuge

Chalmers charged that the Dominican Republic had given refuge to Haitian exiles and, in disregard of treaty obligations, permitted them to agitate against Haiti.

Velasquez denied the Haitian charges and immediately asked that the council suspend its debate and leave the issue in "the hands of the OAS so that that organization can continue to deal with the situation and recommend means to restore good relations."

The Dominican accused the Duvalier government of repeated lies and said "what is true is that there are incessant efforts and crimes in Haiti against the Dominican homeland."

Already Upset

He said it was a lie to call Bosch's declarations incitements to disorder and charged that public order in Haiti already had been "upset by Duvalier's acts."

Velazquez said both countries, as member of the OAS, submitted their cases to the inter-American organization which sent out a fact-finding group.

"The Duvalier government broke its promises as soon as the OAS mission left Haiti," he said.

Pastor Who Wed Rocky Faces Action

White Plains, N.Y. (AP)—The Presbyterian minister who married Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mrs. Margaretta F. Murphy faces disciplinary action at a meeting of the Hudson River Presbytery May 24.

The action involves the Rev. Marshall L. Smith of the Union Church of Pocantico Hills. It centers around a Presbyterian Church rule that approval of the Presbytery is required for a minister to officiate at the marriage of a person divorced less than a year.

Rockefeller was divorced 14 months ago and his new wife was divorced April 1.

The Rev. Joseph P. Bishop, of Rye, N.Y., moderator of the Presbytery, announced the intended disciplinary action against the Rev. Mr. Smith. He said the Rev. Mr. Smith had not consulted the Presbytery before performing the ceremony last Saturday.

LEAKY HOSES HAMPER FIREMEN

Leaking hose lines hamper Philadelphia, Pa., firemen fighting a 3-alarm fire in the ruins of a midcity store that had been wrecked by a 6-alarm fire a week ago. The fire Wednesday erupted in a discount store near 9th and Chestnut streets while workmen were tearing down damaged sections of a metal fire escape. Sparks from a acetylene torch set off Wednesday's fire and the tank exploded. No one was hurt but the firemen were kept busy.

'Viet Nam Mustn't Side In Sino-Soviet Dispute'

Tokyo (UPI) — Communist North Viet Nam must not take sides in the Sino-Soviet ideological dispute because it needs aid from both Russia and China.

That, in essence, is what Premier Pham Van Dong told the North Vietnamese National Assembly at its recently-concluded session in Hanoi.

He did not put it quite so directly, but the meaning of his remarks could hardly be missed.

Air Accounts

For the past several days, Hanoi radio has broadcast lengthy accounts of speeches made and resolutions adopted at the assembly session. The broadcasts were monitored in Tokyo.

Reporting on North Viet Nam's foreign policy, the premier told the assembly the economic progress the country has made is "thanks to (the) cooperation and mutual assistance" of Russia, China and other Communist Bloc countries.

"We must further strengthen the cooperation and mutual assistance between our country and the Soviet Union, China and the other socialist countries in the fields of economy, science and techniques," Pham said.

'Strengthen'

"The more the cooperation and mutual assistance between our country and the other socialist countries broaden and strengthen," the premier added, "the further our cause advances . . .

"Our people always realize clearly that all the successes of their revolutionary cause, in the past as well as in the future, cannot be separated from the sympathy, support and assistance given by the Soviet Union, China and the other socialist countries in the noble spirit of proletarian internationalism."

The Vietnamese people, Pham said, "always feel a sincere and profound gratitude for this disinterested and priceless sympathy, support and assistance."

7 Astronauts Buy $100,000 Life Policies

Washington (AP) — The 7 original U.S. astronauts took out individual $100,000 life insurance policies Wednesday — and the premiums are reportedly less than for some steeplejacks.

The policies cover the lives of the astronauts "anywhere in space or on the earth."

The announcement was made by C. Leo DeOrsey, legal adviser for the spacemen, and John A. Hill, president of the Aetna Life Insurance Co. which issued the policies.

The policies are the first individual plans issued to anyone in space travel.

Applications for the second group of astronaut candidates, 9 men selected to follow into the Project Gemini program, are being processed by the company, the announcement said.

While the company would not specify what the premiums are, spokesmen said they are similar to rates for other unusual jobs. They include surcharges normally made for military jet pilots and an undisclosed added charge for space travel.

The premium, the announcement said, is greater than that for a jet test pilot working on prototype aircraft. But at the same time, it is less than the cost to men in more dangerous types of steeplejack work.

Surgery Can Silence Dogs

New Haven, Conn. (UPI)—What's a dog without a bark?

Still a dog, according to Dr. Leon V. Whitney, clinical instructor in pathology at the Yale School of Medicine.

Surgical "debarking of dogs," as he sees it, is neither cruel nor inhumane.

In a report in "Medical Tribune," a publication for doctors, the veterinarian argues that debarking a dog —removing vocal cords while the animal is anesthetized— is far more humane than shutting it up in a kennel to howl all night.

"The dog," he said, "apparently suffers little pain even when it tries to bark after regaining consciousness."

He concludes that the reaction which expresses itself in barking is not the desire to make noise, but a reflex exhibited regardless of the noise it produces.

"Making the effort gives the dog all the satisfaction it needs or wants," Dr. Whitney added.

LITTLE GIRL, SIX, WAITING ON BUS KILLED BY CAR

Stanley, Wis. (UPI)—A 6-year-old girl, anxious to board a school bus for her trip to school, was killed Wednesday when she ran out on a highway near her home and was struck by an oncoming car.

Authorities said Ruth Marie Zajack, rural Thorp, was waiting for the bus with her brother and two other children along Wisconsin 73 at about 8 a.m.

The bus was seen some distance away and Ruth Marie started to run across the road, where the bus would stop. Her brother saw the car coming and yelled. Ruth Marie stopped and was hit by the car.

The driver of the car, Steve Plecko, 47, Lublin, was not held. Lublin told authorities the little girl dashed in front of his car and he couldn't stop.

White Policeman Shot By Negro

Birmingham, Ala. (UPI) — A white policeman suffered a flesh wound in the arm late Wednesday when a Negro fired from a passing car.

Authorities said it was believed the Negro was driving a stolen automobile.

The wounded policeman, J. B. Morrison, was rushed to West End Hospital, where a spokesman said his condition was not serious.

Officials said the incident apparently had nothing to do with the city's racial crisis.

The shooting occured on the fringes of the Negro section.

Bill To Raise Debt Okayed By House Unit

Washington (AP)—The House Rules committee approved Wednesday a bill to provide another series of increases in the national debt ceiling to extend to Aug. 31.

The committee's action cleared the controversial measure for a House fight expected next week, adminstration leaders having tentatively abandoned plans for a showdown this week.

The bill would raise the present $305 billion ceiling to $307 billion through June 30 and to $309 billion through Aug. 31. Another rise is likely by then.

The committee approved the administration - backed measure by voice vote after both Democrats and Republicans criticized President Kennedy's fiscal policies and complained of continued spending.

"This is not a solution to the problem," said Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va. "It's a shinplaster of a sort."

Smith predicted that more increases would be needed later unless "somebody is brought up with a pretty sharp jerk."

"We can't keep on spending borrowed money," he added.

Treasury officials said the increase is necessary and had asked a higher figure.

2,000 Expected At Baptist Meet

Omaha (UPI)—Some 2,000 delegates from all parts of the nation are expected to attend the 5-day annual conference of the general association regular Baptist churches which opens here Monday.

It is the first time the conference has been held at Omaha. Programs for the 32nd annual meeting will be held at the Music Hall of the Civic Auditorium.

Pope John Has Temporary Relapse Of His Fall Illness

Vatican City (AP) — A Rome newspaper said Pope John XXIII suffered an alarming but temporary relapse Tuesday from his serious illness of last fall. The 81-year-old pontiff said nothing about it in conducting a general audience for 10,000 persons Wednesday.

Persons at the audience said Pope John did not look well, but spoke at length and seemed cheerful.

Without explanation, the Vatican newspaper L' Osservatore Romano said Pope John will not make trips later this month to the Monte Cassino Abbey and the Pompei shrine.

Vatican sources had said last weekend that the pontiff would go to Monte Cassino, 78 miles southeast of Rome, on May 23 for the consecration of an altar.

They said he might continue on south of Naples to the shrine to Mary at Pompeii.

The Vatican never announced such a papal trip L'Osservatore noted that such reports have circulated and said:

"We are authorized to declare that no trip by the Holy Father is foreseen."

The independent Il Tempo was the source of the report of the Pope's relapse. It said there was alarm in the Vatican, but his condition improved Tuesday night and "no longer causes any fear."

Space Meal To Use Idea Of Chinese

Pittsburgh (UPI) — Space officials have borrowed an idea from the Chinese that will enable astronauts orbiting for a day or more to eat solid, more appetizing food.

Beatrice Finkelstein, nutritionist in charge of feeding America's astronauts, said today's space menu calls for candy, cookies and fudge. Meat and potatoes are still in the planning stage.

"The bite-sized pieces of food will be wrapped in an edible coating," Miss Finkelstein said. "It would be like eating a candy bar, wrapper and all.

"The Chinese use it all the time. They use edible rice paper to cover their foods, especially candy. The bite-sized chunks will be coated with a very thin synthetic material called methocel. These chunks will be squeezed out of a tube. The water from meat would dissolve the plastic-like coating."

Miss Finkelstein is looking forward to the time when astronauts will be able to sit down at the table with knife and fork—inside an orbiting space craft.

"We are planning nutrition programs 5, 6 and 8 years in advance," she said. "This is in terms of orbiting laboratories which will stay aloft for several months."

Turner Resigns Post At Doane

Crete — William Turner, director of publicity at Doane College for the past two years, has resigned effective July 1.

Turner said he plans to remain in Crete to operate a free-lance office of his own.

The publicity director came to Doane from the University of Hawaii where he was debate coach and assistant professor of speech. Prior to that he directed the public relations affairs and the speech and radio programs at Adams State College in Colorado.

Mount Erupts

Jakarta, Indonesia (UPI)—The 12,060-foot Mt. Semeru, highest mountain in Java, erupted last weekend and rivers of lava are flowing down its southeast slopes, according to delayed reports reaching here. There were no other details available. A volcanic eruption on Bali last March killed hundreds of persons.

'Haiti Defending Blacks'

. . . DOMINICAN POKED IN U.N. DISCUSSION

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI) —Haiti charged Wednesday that the Dominican Republic is attempting to destroy "the only black republic in North America."

"We know we are defending the cause of the black peoples who also are working to show their faces to the peoples of the world," Haitian Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers told the Security Council.

The council plunged into debate on the Haitian-Dominican Republic crisis with no attempt being made to obtain a postponement to give the Organization of American States (OAS) time to act.

But the council adjourned until Thursday afternoon after hearing an exchange of charges between Haitian and Dominican representatives.

Assassin

Chalmers was interrupted in his opening statement by shouts in French from the public gallery of "assassin!" and "down with Duvalier!" About 10 student-aged demonstrators were ushered from the gallery by U.N. guards.

The United States said Tuesday that it believed the crisis should be dealt with by the OAS and pointed out that the U.N. charter enjoins members to seek settlement of disputes in regional organizations before referring them to the security council.

Preliminary consultations, however, apparently confirmed a voting line-up that would have blocked the 7-vote majority necessary for a council postponement. Russia, Morocco, Ghana, Brazil and Venezuela were understood to favor a hearing here for Haiti without awaiting OAS action.

No postponement move was offered as Council President Roger Seydoux of France convened the meeting, declared the agenda adopted, and invited Chalmers and Dominican Ambassador Guaroa Velazquez to participate in the debate without a vote.

Haiti's action in bringing the issue here without awaiting OAS action caused speculation that President Francois Duvalier was bidding for support of the Soviet Bloc and the African countries.

Chalmers, who opened the debate, said that peace in the Caribbean "recently has been safeguarded only through the understanding of the United States and the Soviet Union and by their wish to avoid a thermonuclear war."

Long-Term Dreams

Now, he said, "the government of the Dominican Republic is trying to put into effect its long-term dreams, violating certain principles of inter-American law."

Chalmers charged Dominican President Juan Bosch with "sabre rattling," speaking openly of aggression, massing troops on the frontier only 30 minutes from Port au Prince, issuing a 24-hour ultimatum and sending warplanes over Haitian territory.

"It is the very honor of a small people that now is being destroyed," the Haitian said. "An attempt is being made to destroy the only black republic in North America . . . we know we are defending the cause of the black peoples who also are working to show their faces to the peoples of the world."

Refuge

Chalmers charged that the Dominican Republic had given refuge to Haitian exiles and, in disregard of treaty obligations, permitted them to agitate against Haiti.

Velasquez denied the Haitian charges and immediately asked that the council suspend its debate and leave the issue in "the hands of the OAS so that that organization can continue to deal with the situation and recommend means to restore good relations."

The Dominican accused the Duvalier government of repeated lies and said "what is true is that there are incessant efforts and crimes in Haiti against the Dominican homeland."

Already Upset

He said it was a lie to call Bosch's declarations incitements to disorder and charged that public order in Haiti already had been "upset by Duvalier's acts."

Velazquez said both countries, as member of the OAS, submitted their cases to the inter-American organization which sent out a fact-finding group.

"The Duvalier government broke its promises as soon as the OAS mission left Haiti," he said.

Pastor Who Wed Rocky Faces Action

White Plains, N.Y. (AP)—The Presbyterian minister who married Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mrs. Margaretta F. Murphy faces disciplinary action at a meeting of the Hudson River Presbytery May 24.

The action involves the Rev. Marshall L. Smith of the Union Church of Pocantico Hills. It centers around a Presbyterian Church rule that approval of the Presbytery is required for a minister to officiate at the marriage of a person divorced less than a year.

Rockefeller was divorced 14 months ago and his new wife was divorced April 1.

The Rev. Joseph P. Bishop, of Rye, N.Y., moderator of the Presbytery, announced the intended disciplinary action against the Rev. Mr. Smith. He said the Rev. Mr. Smith had not consulted the Presbytery before performing the ceremony last Saturday.

LEAKY HOSES HAMPER FIREMEN

Leaking hose lines hamper Philadelphia, Pa., firemen fighting a 3-alarm fire in the ruins of a midcity store that had been wrecked by a 6-alarm fire a week ago. The fire Wednesday erupted in a discount store near 9th and Chestnut streets while workmen were tearing down damaged sections of a metal fire escape. Sparks from a acetylene torch set off Wednesday's fire and the tank exploded. No one was hurt but the firemen were kept busy.

'Viet Nam Mustn't Side In Sino-Soviet Dispute'

Tokyo (UPI) — Communist North Viet Nam must not take sides in the Sino-Soviet ideological dispute because it needs aid from both Russia and China.

That, in essence, is what Premier Pham Van Dong told the North Vietnamese National Assembly at its recently-concluded session in Hanoi.

He did not put it quite so directly, but the meaning of his remarks could hardly be missed.

Air Accounts

For the past several days, Hanoi radio has broadcast lengthy accounts of speeches made and resolutions adopted at the assembly session. The broadcasts were monitored in Tokyo.

Reporting on North Viet Nam's foreign policy, the premier told the assembly the economic progress the country has made is "thanks to (the) cooperation and mutual assistance" of Russia, China and other Communist Bloc countries.

"We must further strengthen the cooperation and mutual assistance between our country and the Soviet Union, China and the other socialist countries in the fields of economy, science and techniques," Pham said.

'Strengthen'

"The more the cooperation and mutual assistance between our country and the other socialist countries broaden and strengthen," the premier added, "the further our cause advances . . .

"Our people always realize clearly that all the successes of their revolutionary cause, in the past as well as in the future, cannot be separated from the sympathy, support and assistance given by the Soviet Union, China and the other socialist countries in the noble spirit of proletarian internationalism."

The Vietnamese people, Pham said, "always feel a sincere and profound gratitude for this disinterested and priceless sympathy, support and assistance."

7 Astronauts Buy $100,000 Life Policies

Washington (AP) — The 7 original U.S. astronauts took out individual $100,000 life insurance policies Wednesday — and the premiums are reportedly less than for some steeplejacks.

The policies cover the lives of the astronauts "anywhere in space or on the earth."

The announcement was made by C. Leo DeOrsey, legal adviser for the spacemen, and John A. Hill, president of the Aetna Life Insurance Co. which issued the policies.

The policies are the first individual plans issued to anyone in space travel.

Applications for the second group of astronaut candidates, 9 men selected to follow into the Project Gemini program, are being processed by the company, the announcement said.

While the company would not specify what the premiums are, spokesmen said they are similar to rates for other unusual jobs. They include surcharges normally made for military jet pilots and an undisclosed added charge for space travel.

The premium, the announcement said, is greater than that for a jet test pilot working on prototype aircraft. But at the same time, it is less than the cost to men in more dangerous types of steeplejack work.

LITTLE GIRL, SIX, WAITING ON BUS KILLED BY CAR

Stanley, Wis. (UPI)—A 6-year-old girl, anxious to board a school bus for her trip to school, was killed Wednesday when she ran out on a highway near her home and was struck by an oncoming car.

Authorities said Ruth Marie Zajack, rural Thorp, was waiting for the bus with her brother and two other children along Wisconsin 73 at about 8 a.m.

The bus was seen some distance away and Ruth Marie started to run across the road, where the bus would stop. Her brother saw the car coming and yelled. Ruth Marie stopped and was hit by the car.

The driver of the car, Steve Plecko, 47, Lublin, was not held. Lublin told authorities the little girl dashed in front of his car and he couldn't stop.

Surgery Can Silence Dogs

New Haven, Conn. (UPI)—What's a dog without a bark?

Still a dog, according to Dr. Leon V. Whitney, clinical instructor in pathology at the Yale School of Medicine.

Surgical "debarking of dogs," as he sees it, is neither cruel nor inhumane.

In a report in "Medical Tribune," a publication for doctors, the veterinarian argues that debarking a dog —removing vocal cords while the animal is anesthetized— is far more humane than shutting it up in a kennel to howl all night.

"The dog," he said, "apparently suffers little pain even when it tries to bark after regaining consciousness."

He concludes that the reaction which expresses itself in barking is not the desire to make noise, but a reflex exhibited regardless of the noise it produces.

"Making the effort gives the dog all the satisfaction it needs or wants," Dr. Whitney added.

White Policeman Shot By Negro

Birmingham, Ala. (UPI) — A white policeman suffered a flesh wound in the arm late Wednesday when a Negro fired from a passing car.

Authorities said it was believed the Negro was driving a stolen automobile.

The wounded policeman, J. B. Morrison, was rushed to West End Hospital, where a spokesman said his condition was not serious.

Officials said the incident apparently had nothing to do with the city's racial crisis.

The shooting occured on the fringes of the Negro section.

Bill To Raise Debt Okayed By House Unit

Washington (AP)—The House Rules committee approved Wednesday a bill to provide another series of increases in the national debt ceiling to extend to Aug. 31.

The committee's action cleared the controversial measure for a House fight expected next week, administration leaders having tentatively abandoned plans for a showdown this week.

The bill would raise the present $305 billion ceiling to $307 billion through June 30 and to $309 billion through Aug. 31. Another rise is likely by then.

The committee approved the administration - backed measure by voice vote after both Democrats and Republicans criticized President Kennedy's fiscal policies and complained of continued spending.

"This is not a solution to the problem," said Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va. "It's a shinplaster of a sort."

Smith predicted that more increases would be needed later unless "somebody is brought up with a pretty sharp jerk."

"We can't keep on spending borrowed money," he added.

Treasury officials said the increase is necessary and had asked a higher figure.

2,000 Expected At Baptist Meet

Omaha (UPI)—Some 2,000 delegates from all parts of the nation are expected to attend the 5-day annual conference of the general association regular Baptist churches which opens here Monday.

It is the first time the conference has been held at Omaha. Programs for the 32nd annual meeting will be held at the Music Hall of the Civic Auditorium.

Pope John Has Temporary Relapse Of His Fall Illness

Vatican City (AP) — A Rome newspaper said Pope John XXIII suffered an alarming but temporary relapse Tuesday from his serious illness of last fall. The 81-year-old pontiff said nothing about it in conducting a general audience for 10,000 persons Wednesday.

Persons at the audience said Pope John did not look well, but spoke at length and seemed cheerful.

Without explanation, the Vatican newspaper L' Osservatore Romano said Pope John will not make trips later this month to the Monte Cassino Abbey and the Pompeii shrine.

Vatican sources had said last weekend that the pontiff would go to Monte Cassino, 76 miles southeast of Rome, on May 23 for the consecration of an altar.

They said he might continue on south of Naples to the shrine to Mary at Pompeii.

The Vatican never announced such a papal trip L'Osservatore noted that such reports have circulated and said:

"We are authorized to declare that no trip by the Holy Father is foreseen."

The independent Il Tempo was the source of the report of the Pope's relapse. It said there was alarm in the Vatican, but his condition improved Tuesday night and "no longer causes any fear."

Space Meal To Use Idea Of Chinese

Pittsburgh (UPI) — Space officials have borrowed an idea from the Chinese that will enable astronauts orbiting for a day or more to eat solid, more appetizing food.

Beatrice Finkelstein, nutritionist in charge of feeding America's astronauts, said today's space menu calls for candy, cookies and fudge. Meat and potatoes are still in the planning stage.

"The bite-sized pieces of food will be wrapped in an edible coating," Miss Finkelstein said. "It would be like eating a candy bar, wrapper and all.

"The Chinese use it all the time. They use edible rice paper to cover their foods, especially candy. The bite-sized chunks will be coated with a very thin synthetic material called methocel. These chunks will be squeezed out of a tube. The water from meat would dissolve the plastic-like coating."

Miss Finkelstein is looking forward to the time when astronauts will be able to sit down at the table with knife and fork—inside an orbiting space craft.

"We are planning nutrition programs 5, 6 and 8 years in advance," she said. "This is in terms of orbiting laboratories which will stay aloft for several months."

Turner Resigns Post At Doane

Crete — William Turner, director of publicity at Doane College for the past two years, has resigned effective July 1.

Turner said he plans to remain in Crete to operate a free-lance office of his own.

The publicity director came to Doane from the University of Hawaii where he was debate coach and assistant professor of speech. Prior to that he directed the public relations affairs and the speech and radio programs at Adams State College in Colorado.

Mount Erupts

Jakarta, Indonesia (UPI)— The 12,060-foot Mt. Semeru, highest mountain in Java, erupted last weekend and rivers of lava are flowing down its southeast slopes, according to delayed reports reaching here. There were no other details available. A volcanic eruption on Bali last March killed hundreds of persons.
